WRANGELL TRIP DARK

Noice Describes Death Isle

Somber and Forbidding Coast Depresses Relief Expedition

Approach Through Twilight of Long Arctic Night is Graphically Told

[The following message is the exclusive personal story of Harold Noice, commander of the Wrangell Island relief expedition, who returned to Nome, Alaska, August 31, after his dash into the Arctic to rescue four white men and one Eskimo woman, marooned there since September, 1921.]

The party was landed on Wrangell Island under instructions from Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the polar explorer, for the purpose of claiming it for the British King on behalf of Canada. A relief ship was to have visited the island the following year, but owing to heavy ice was unable to reach the waiting marooners, and they were forced to spend another year of exile. No word had been heard from them or of them since they landed in 1921. Grave fears had been expressed regarding their safety. Harold Noice, though young, already a veteran of the Arctic, was chosen this year to lead the rescue expedition with instructions to get through without fail. The first installment of his enthralling story follows:

Commander of the Wrangell Island Relief Expedition
[Copyright, 1923, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NOME (Alaska) Sept. 2.—"Wrangell Island or bust!" was our slogan when we left Point Hope Island on the 9th of August and headed northwest into the Arctic Ocean. Would we get through? What would we find on that forlorn Arctic island? Would we find the little party alive and still waiting patiently for the succor which had been so painfully long in coming? Or would we find nothing but the remains of the gallant band?

Crawford and Galle I had never known, but in Toronto I had met Crawford's parents and little sister, a fine, courageous family, waiting bravely for word of their brilliant and promising son and brother.

Maurer was also known to me.

REMEMBER THIS
BY H. M. STANSIFER

Because some people know a great deal about one thing they too often assume they know it all about everything.

FOR EARTHQUAKE VICTIMS

The earthquake and its attendant horrors in Japan form one of the major disasters of history. The loss of life and property is literally incalculable. Millions of persons are homeless. They will shortly be starving as well unless swift aid reaches them. The grim specter of pestilence, born of thousands of unburied bodies and of lack of water and sanitary facilities, stalks in the Land of the Cherry Blossom.

Never was there a better opportunity for the warm heart and the open hands of America to serve the cause of humanity. In starting the local fund for Japanese relief with $1000, The Times expresses the hope and belief that Southern California, as always, will contribute generously to meet a real emergency. The Times will receive, acknowledge by publication and forward funds given for the purpose. Checks should be made payable to The Times Japanese Fund and sent to The Times, Los Angeles, Cal.

In order to get the quickest possible action, only money should be given here at present. This will be used to buy food, clothing and supplies at the nearest practicable points. In this way relief will become almost instantly effective. Money can be cabled but food and clothing cannot.

The fund to date is as follows:

The Los Angeles Times	$1000.00
Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Wright	200.00
S. W. Packard, 1455 N. Marengo avenue, Pasadena	100.00

NAVAL SHIPS TO RUSH AID

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—A wireless message received tonight by the Navy Department from Admiral Anderson, in command of the Asiatic Fleet, said the destroyer tender Black Hawk, now en route from Port Arthur to Chefoo, China, would be loaded with 1,000,000 pounds of rice and 500,000 pounds of beans and other nonperishable food and rushed to the relief of earthquake sufferers in Japan.

No information was contained in the message as to when the Black Hawk would reach the stricken area. It was presumed here that she would take supplies aboard at Chefoo. Earlier in the day, Admiral Anderson had reported the Black Hawk was accompanying his flagship, the cruiser Huron, to that port.

The Army has at Manila 500,000 rations (a ration being a day's food supply for one soldier) available for transportation to Japan, it was said, and medical supplies sufficient to care for 50,000 troops for three months. In addition, there are cots and blankets for 20,000 men, which can be spared and 400 large tents.

Two vessels are now at Manila, the Meigs, a freighter of 11,000 tons, the Merritt, a 28,000-ton ship with accommodations for 500 passengers. It was estimated here that, once loaded with supplies, it would take the transports six or seven days to reach Yokohama.

It is believed here the ships can be made ready for the voyage in a day's time. Instructions provided for a sufficient force of enlisted men to accompany the supplies to insure prompt and efficient distribution to sufferers in the earthquake zone.

BAY CITY MAYOR AIDS IN RELIEF OF JAPANESE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Mayor James Rolph met with a number of prominent Japanese residents here today to plan the part that the city shall take in the relief of the Japanese disaster area. The Mayor said that he would appoint a committee within the next few days to handle such plans.

DEATH ESTIMATE NOW 200,000; OSHIMA ISLAND IS SUBMERGED

Food Riots Break Out in Tokio; Not a Building Left Standing in Yokohama; Flames Still Lick at Wounds of Stricken Cities

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

OSAKA, Sept. 4.—Almost the whole of Tokio and Yokohama have been destroyed by earthquake, followed by fire, and the loss of life now is estimated at from 120,000 to 200,000 or more. Two hundred thousand buildings have been burned down in the two cities. Water mains have been broken and food supplies destroyed by the fire so that the people are near starvation and suffering much from thirst. It is reported, but not confirmed, that the section of Tokio where most of its foreign population resided is not greatly damaged.

Martial law has been proclaimed and no one is allowed to enter the stricken districts at the capital, although thousands whose friends or relatives resided there have gathered about the city seeking entrance that they may at least find the bodies of their loved ones.

Military and naval forces have been gathered at the Imperial Villa at Nikko for use in controlling the situation and other forces are on duty in Tokio itself.

WILDEST RUMORS

The air is filled with wildest rumors including one that the new Premier, Count Yamamoto, was assassinated within a few hours after formation of his Cabinet. There is no confirmation of this, however.

The reason for the rapid spread of the fire which took such an awful toll in Tokio came to light today when it was learned that the pipes conveying gas for lighting and heating purposes throughout the city were broken by the earthquake, which shook and twisted the ground almost unbelievably. The escaping gas promptly caught fire in dozens of places, each outburst a torch that set alight dwellings on all sides of it.

INFERNO OF TORCHES

Thus the whole lower section of Tokio was kindled at once into an inferno of flaming gas torches from the breaks in the mains, blazing wooden dwellings, and glowing metal beams and girders from the newer and more modern structures, heated by the flames.

The air was filled with the dust of the broken buildings which had tumbled from the force of the earthquake when these fires broke out, bringing death to end the sufferings of many pinned beneath the wreckage and stopping the efforts of uninjured persons to rescue their less fortunate fellows. A high wind whipped the flames rapidly from burning regions to others at a distance.

In the face of such a conflagration fire fighters could make but little headway. The same disaster that broke the gas pipes had broken the water mains and there was nothing wherewith to fight the flames' advance.

EXPLOSIVES CHECK FIRE

The fire, controlled more than twenty-four hours after it broke out, eventually was checked through the use of explosives, soldiers blowing up hundreds of the lightly constructed Japanese houses with bombs to form a barren space in the path of the flames.

Disorder reigns throughout Tokio and Yokohama. The streets, where not covered with the debris of fire and earthquake, are crowded with refugees. There is no shelter to be had, and, if there were, many of them would continue to sleep in the streets as fear of further earthquakes is widely expressed. Thousands of other refugees have gathered in Tokio's four great parks—Ueno, Hibiya, Shiba and Asakusa—and others in open spaces near the city.

To these people such food as the government relief organization has been able to obtain is being distributed, as are also allowances of water.

PRINCE REGENT ESCAPES

No serious damage was done to the Imperial Palace by the fire. The Prince Regent removed immediately to the Akasaka Palace when the flames broke out.

Loss of life among foreign residents of the two stricken cities and among tourists is expected to be less than it might have been had the earthquake come at a different season. Most of them had gone to summer resorts, such as Nikko and Karuizawa.

No great damage has been reported from Karuizawa; reports from Nikko are yet indefinite. Many foreigners also hastened

TELLEGEN DENIES HE WILL WED

"Babe" Ambler Gets Cold Shoulder on Return to America From Abroad

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—That the course of love and divorce does not run smooth is the conclusion of Lorna Ambler, Australian actress, who, after waiting for two years for Lou Tellegen to be free to marry her, returned to this country four weeks ago to be greeted by a coolness which threatens to bring about breach-of-promise proceedings.

While Miss Ambler, named by Geraldine Farrar in her suit for divorce, reaffirmed today her announcement that she was engaged to the actor, he asserted that he was engaged to no one, "would not think of marrying, and that, so far as he was concerned, Miss Ambler was free to pack up and go back to Australia." To make sure there was no mistake in the matter, Tellegen added that she should be deported.

Of the engagement, he said, "I deny everything."

For an hour this afternoon the actress told of a past with Tellegen—her "Jack," as Miss Ambler calls him. She told that her life with Tellegen—to whom she was known as "Babe"—had been one of "longing and begging" for him to obtain a divorce. She told how Tellegen sent her to England when the diva started proceedings because he feared she might be "deported" and she told that he wrote her to have "courage" and that they would soon be together again.

Miss Ambler said she languished ten months abroad waiting for the divorce, and then after the interlocutory decree was granted to Geraldine Farrar his ardor cooled.

RACING CAR HOPS FENCE; FOUR HURT

San Luis Obispo Track Scene of Serious Crash; Children May Die

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Sept. 3.—Three children were probably fatally hurt and many others were severely injured at the speedway here this afternoon, when a Duesenberg racing car driven by Louis Wilson of Los Angeles catapulted over the fence in the second heat of a fifteen-mile race and crashed into a crowd of spectators.

This is the third fatal accident during the past year at the Exposition Park bowl here, the other two having occurred on July 4.

Wilson is in a local hospital, suffering from numerous cuts and bruises, but will recover. The three who are expected to die are Eileen Brazil, 5 years of age; Frank Soto, who has a fractured skull, and Henry Marganola, with a fractured skull and internal injuries.

The giant car is a total wreck. Wilson lost control on a turn, and the machine turned a series of somersaults before it plunged through the fence and into the crowd.

Many others were hurt when the panic-stricken holiday-makers trampled each other in their efforts to get out of the way of the hurtling car.

Says Republican Convention Will Meet in Chicago

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Frederick W. Upham, treasurer of the National Republican Committee, returning today on the Leviathan from a trip abroad, said there was no question but what Chicago would be the scene of the 1924 Republican convention. A majority of the members of the committee had expressed themselves in favor of Chicago, he said. San Francisco, which Mr. Upham said, "had a powerful bid" for the convention, "wouldn't have a chance," he declared, "unless President Coolidge expressed a desire to have the session held elsewhere than at Chicago."

WRITER SCORES ITALIANS FOR BOMBARDING CORFU

Declares Admiral Fired on Fort He Knew Contained Refugees; Plea for Delay Denied

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Sept. 3.—In a dispatch from its correspondent at Corfu, the Daily Mail tomorrow will print the first comprehensive account received here of the Italian bombardment and seizure of the island. The killed and wounded total 65. The dispatch follows:

CORFU, Sept. 2.—Friday morning the Italian airship F-6 (the Fortanini) passed over the island heralding the arrival at 4 p.m. of an Italian naval squadron composed of dreadnaught cruisers, five cruisers and about twenty smaller warships, including submarines.

The Italian admiral sent an officer ashore about 4:20 o'clock with an ultimatum to the prefect, summoning him to surrender unconditionally by 5 p.m. and a notice to the consular officers of the different powers that they should gather their subjects at a given place with their respective flags over them. THREATEN TO GET OUT OF LEAGUE

Small Nations Say They Will Quit Unless Covenant is Enforced Against Italy

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Sept. 4: 2:40 a.m.—The government press confirms late dispatches from Geneva to the effect that the small nations, including the Little Entente, threaten to leave the League in a body if the covenant is not enforced against Italy. The Matin reiterates that the attitude of France remains the same—the conference of ambassadors must settle the question.

The French conviction of the futility of the League when confronted with a crisis of primary importance, like the present Italian-Greek situation, is clearly outlined in the officially inspired Temps.

"When France wanted the League of Nations to be provided with an effective force she was checkmated," says the Temps, referring to Georges Clemenceau's attempts to strengthen Article X by giving the League an army.

Article X has been amputated regularly by "so-called pacifists," the semiofficial newspaper adds. Thus, "the League has been given no arms at all, and its moral authority has been permitted to fall to ruin. In this way they want to guarantee the League a long life."

The Temps points out that if the League succeeds it will only be because England and France agree to make it do so, and if it fails it will be even a more lamentable exhibition of Geneva's futility.

The Temps concluded by recommending that the whole affair be handed over to the conference of ambassadors.

FEAR FELT FOR ANGELENOS

Several Missionaries From Southland Believed to Have Perished in Japan Disaster

Fears that Rev. and Mrs. Willis C. Lamott, missionaries from Los Angeles to Tokio, have shared the fate of thousands of others in that stricken city were expressed yesterday by Rev. S. R. MacLennan, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood.

Mr. and Mrs. Lamott have been at Tokio for the last four years, teaching at the theological seminary, Meiji Gakuin. They carried on their work under the auspices of the Presbyterian Mission Board of America, and were supported by the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood.

ANOTHER FEARED FOR

Another probable victim of the disaster is Miss Theodora Macomber of Franklin Circle, Hollywood, who was also a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood, and who left Los Angeles recently to teach in a mission school in Korea. Miss Macomber was supposed to have landed at Yokohama a day before the earthquake.

That many other Presbyterian missionaries from California to Japan were probably killed by the temblor, tidal wave or fire, is the opinion expressed yesterday by Mrs. Marshal C. Hayes of Pasadena, president of the California Women's Foreign Missionary Society. Among those who may have been victims of the disaster are Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Chapman of Southern California, who were sent to Tokio by the Presbyterian Board of Missions in 1921.

Mrs. Hayes recently received a letter from Mrs. T. M. MacNair, who said that she and her assistant, Miss Annie B. West, intended to sail from Tokio last August. Whether the two missionaries were en route to America at the time of the earthquake is not known. Mrs. MacNair, who formerly liven at Baltimore, had been a missionary to Tokio for nearly forty years, and she and Miss West had arranged to visit Pasadena before returning to their home in the East.

HOPE SEEN FOR PEACE

Greece, Italy May Negotiate

Believed That Diplomats Will Settle Murder Tangle

Mussolini Refuses to Let the League Interfere in Imbroglio

BY HENRY WALES
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Antonio Salandra, Italian representative on the League of Nations today privately notified M. Hanotaux and the other conferees at the Council of the League that Premier Mussolini refuses to permit the League to interfere in the Greek imbroglio.

But through the efforts of the French Ambassador at Rome and the French Minister at Athens, Quai d'Orsay is confident that the Italian and Greek governments through direct negotiations will settle the dispute over the assassination of the Italian officers and the resultant seizure of Corfu.

It is learned authoritatively that there are strong chances that the two powers directly concerned will patch up their differences through additional concessions leaving the dispute in the points to be decided by the Council of Ambassadors.

CURZON'S FIRST ACT
BY JOHN STEELE
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Lord Curzon's first act in taking over the Foreign Office was to send detailed, categorical instructions to Lord Robert Cecil, British representative on the League of Nations Council, to back a League solution of the Italian-Greek crisis by all means in his power. This is the British policy as far as it is developed and it is hoped that in spite of Italy's refusal to admit the League to intervene it will be successful.

Much depends on the attitude of France. If France and Great Britain together back a League solution it is felt that Italy must yield. So far as I gather, Premier Poincare has not committed himself, but there are strong hopes that France will join hands with Great Britain to smother the threatened conflagration on the Mediterranean.

DANGEROUS POSSIBILITIES

There are dangerous possibilities, however, in another quarter which have not been noticed in the excitement over the more sensational seizure of Corfu. A few days ago Italy landed a dozen soldiers at Tangier on the plea that there had been rioting there recently and resident Italians were not safe. Tangier is a bone of contention now between France and Great Britain, the latter wishing it internationalized and France wishing it given under control of a native sheik who is under French influence.

The importance of Tangier is that it neutralizes Gibraltar in British hands on the other side of the straits, and it is believed in some quarters that Premier Mussolini is preparing to put a claim for Italian interests in the control of the entrance to the Mediterranean. By the possession of Corfu he has supreme control of the Adriatic, which is, for the time at least, an Italian lake, and he may be aiming to control the much greater Mediterranean Sea.

BRITISH ATTITUDE

It is semiofficially stated today that there is not the slightest truth in a report published in Rome that Great Britain has agreed to back Greece. No such agreement exists and it is pointed out that Great Britain is one power which still has not recognized the new Greek government, although both France and Italy have recognized it.

Nothing is known here of the fate of the embassies and legations at Tokio, though it is rumored that the British, American and French embassies have been destroyed. Nor is anything definitely known as to the numerous consulates at Yokohama, but it is supposed all were destroyed by the tidal waves and fire which followed the earthquake.

A terrible tragedy was enacted in and around the Ueno Railway Station at Tokio Saturday afternoon. Thousands of refugees, unable to find shelter inside the great station building, were massed in Ueno Park, while inside, it is estimated, eight thousand were gathered.

An outbreak of fire from a break in a gas main near-by threw the entire mass into a panic which became worse when the fire attacked the station buildings themselves.

No estimate of the casualties which ensued has been made, but those viewing the place said these were staggering in number. Bodies are piled helter-skelter around the station, men, women and children mingled indiscriminately as they fell and were trampled in the mad rush to escape from the fire.

MANY DROWNED

The tidal wave which followed the earth shocks raced up the Sumida River, destroying houses on both sides and drowned many residents of Tokio.

The wave also severely damaged property on the peninsulas of Izu and Sagami and neighboring districts. Many of the noted summer resorts near Tokio suffered heavy damage and some were destroyed.

Though virtually all railways on the island of Hondo (principal island of Japan) were damaged heavily, the Tokaido line, running from Tokio to Kobe, suffered worst. On this line the rails were bent and twisted by the writhings of the earth under the temblor's stresses, bridges were twisted from their anchorages, some station buildings caught fire and were burned down, and some trains, both freight and passenger, were thrown from the rails and wrecked.

Casualties in the region traversed by this road, it is feared, will be heavy.

SLOW TO RECOVER

The recovery of railway traffic will require at least a month, it is believed.

The Yokosuka naval base was destroyed; in part, by the earthquake, in part by the tidal wave which followed. There was heavy damage to shipping anchored there and it is rumored that some of the war vessels' magazines exploded, wrecking them, but this is not confirmed.

The lighthouses all along this part of the coast, the entrance to Tokio Bay, were thrown down and night travel in the bay, therefore, is hazardous in the extreme. Whether the lighthouses were wrecked by the temblor or the tidal wave is unknown.

FORMING NEW CABINET

In Tokio, when the earthquake occurred, twenty leaders of the Seiyukai, or government party, were reported to have been crushed to death when the building in which they were in conference collapsed. Prominent among the Seiyukai leaders said to have lost their lives was Viscount Takahashi, former Premier of Japan.

At the same time Japan's new Premier, Yamamoto, was forming a Cabinet at the Navy Club. It is stated he was injured in the shoulder by flying debris. Princesses Kaya and Yamashina, are reported to have been killed in their villa at Kamakura.

NAGASAKI, Sept. 3.—There is no building in sight in Yokohama; only ruined walsl are visible, according to the captain of the Shinyo Maru, which has just arrived here from Yokohama. Thousands of refugees gathered in a park were half drowned by a flood caused by the bursting of the city water pipes.

Buildings reported destroyed, beside those listed in earlier dispatches, include the Patent Office, the building occupied by the Board of Audit, the Chinese Legation, Nicolai Temple, the residence of Prince Shimazu, the Temples of Tsukiji and Asakusa, the latter said to have been founded about 600 A. D.

Six hundred thousand "koku" of rice—nearly 3,000,000 bushels—are being sent from Osaka to Yokohama for relief work, the transport being accomplished on two naval vessels.

DEATH LIST INCREASING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Every report received from Japan throughout the day confirmed or increased previous estimates of the havoc wrought in death and destruction by the quadruple catastrophe which has befallen the central eastern section of Hondo, largest of the islands of the Japanese Empire.

Beginning at noon Saturday with a series of earthquakes which razed most of the city of Tokio and large sections of Yokohama and other cities in the vicinity, the disaster was continued by fires which broke out in scores of places. Tidal waves followed, engulfing and washing into the sea hundreds of buildings. Then came a typhoon, adding a final and tragic touch to what is probably the greatest calamity of modern times.

FOOD RIOTS IN TOKIO

Food riots have broken out in Tokio, according to a radiogram received by the Radio Corporation from Iwaki Station, 155 miles from Tokio. The gendarmerie are reported in these advices to have exercised the most strenuous measures to suppress the disorders, even attacking the rioters with their swords.

A number of Koreans were in the mob, the advices said.

The advices confirmed earlier reports of a great fire in Yokohama and an estimate that there had been at least 100,000 casualties there.

The fires, the message said, were caused by or followed by the explosion of oil storage tanks in the city where reserves of fuel oil for the merchant and naval marine were kept.

160,000 DEAD ESTIMATED

Topping all previous estimates of death and ruin, Ujiro Oyama, Japanese Consul-General in San Francisco, late today received from Shichitaro Yada, Japanese Consul-General in Shanghai, a report that 160,000 persons were killed and 1,000,000 homeless in the Tokio-Yokohama section.

Former estimates from various sources had placed the casualties as high as 150,000 dead in Tokio alone. One of these came from the Japanese Minister of Marine by way of Osaka. Other reports told of mountainous casualties both on land and sea.

A composite of reports depicts Tokio and Yokohama as a shattered wilderness of mortar, bricks and stone, where once stood some of the stateliest structures in the empire.

Dead and dying are on every hand. The survivors who can grope their way about through the fire and smoke and rubbish are leaving the city for places of safety. Those who still live are threatened with starvation, and many are trying to catch fish from ponds and lakes to tide them over until food arrives.

It is estimated that at least a 100,000 tons of rice alone are needed to meet the emergency creatde by the food shortage. The Imperial Palace, which was badly damaged by quake and fire, has been thrown open to needy and injured survivors.

DEAD ARE COUNTLESS

What happened at Yokohama can be barely more than surmised. Every report, though meager, confirms the worst of fears. While it seems certain most of the foreign residential district escaped, it is estimated that 1400 houses in the city were destroyed. The number of dead is countless. An officer of the steamer London reported that bodies were scattered everywhere, on land and in the water, where many sought refuge in ships after the quake.

How extensive the quake was cannot be accurately stated. It is known it extended as far south as the Izu Peninsula, on the eastern seaboard, about 100 miles south of Tokio.

A message by cable from Kobe to the Associated Press tonight said there was a bad shake in Toyama, a city of more than 60,000 population, near the northwest coast of Japan, nearly 200 miles northwest of Tokio. The vibration seems to have permeated the island transversely.

EMBASSIES DESTROYED

In addition to the hundreds of large public and private buildings destroyed, which included a large number of Japanese government buildings, Japanese and foreign naval ships, arsenals, printing plants and newspaper offices, it was learned tonight through Osaka that the Italian and French embassies in Tokio were destroyed. Nothing has been learned of the fate of the American Embassy and its staff.

Eight of Tokio's fifteen wards are known to be almost totally wiped out, while the remainder are largely in ruins or buried over, the total number of buildings destroyed being placed at 200,000 for the city and suburbs.

In Yohohama Bay and at Yokosuka, a city of 70,000 on the upper reaches of Mie Bay, the destruction is nearly as great, population considered, as it is in Tokio. Reports came today of new quakes centering in Yokosuka yesterday afternoon, doing great damage, especially to ships. It is known that Saturday's quakes and subsequent tidal waves did great damage to Japanese naval vessels. The extent of the damage, however, is not determined.

PHONE EXCHANGE RUINED

The quake yesterday, today's reports said, destroyed the telephone exchange at Chojamachi, killing forty operators. At 7 o'clock last night new quakes shook Kawaguchi, destroying 500 houses and damaging 1500 more.

Other places where destruction was complete or nearly so as a result of Saturday's quakes are: Nagoya, with a population of 620,000, "virtually destroyed;" Sasako, 600 perished when railway tunnel collapsed; Ito, 500 houses washed away; Hakone, famous mountain resort, frequented by foreigners, "easier to count the living than the dead;" Enoshima, "picture island," submerged "a sea of mud;" Oshima, volcano emitting smoke; Odawara, swept by a tidal wave. Other volcanoes in the islands near by are reported active.

RICH AND POOR SUFFER

The rich and titled suffered along with the poor and the obscure. When the first shock came, a session of Japanese party leaders and statesmen was being held in the Naval Club to select a new Cabinet to take the place of that of the late Premier Kato, which resigned when the Premier died.

Although the building collapsed, the leaders who survived adjourned to another building and completed the Cabinet which was announced in Associated Press reports today.

A report from Osaka this afternoon said that Viscount Takahashi, former Premier, and twenty other leading members of the Seiyukai, or goovernment party, were killed while holding a conference. It is surmised it was the conference to select the Cabinet.

The courage displayed by the statesmen is taken by many as an example of the stoicism of the Japanese people at large who, because of centuries of frequent earthquakes and other disasters, have come to regard such things as "fate" and say "it can't be helped." The report of the Cabinet meeting was given to the Associated Press by the Radio Corporation.

The Toyo Kisen Kaisha steamer Korea is safe in the harbor of Yokohama with 2500 refugees on board, according to a cablegram received at the company's offices here today from its agents in Kobe. Communications of all kinds have been reopened up to Numazu, eighty-five miles west of Tokio, the cablegram said.

The Korea was in the harbor throughout the disaster period and was at once made available for relief purposes. She was to have sailed for San Francisco yesterday, but the sailing has been indefinitely postponed.

The cablegram said that Tokio and Yokohama "have been destroyed."

THOUSANDS IN MISERY

Nogeyama, a better-class residential section of Yokohama; Iseyama, another section where stood a notable statue of Io Naosuke, Prime Minister of the Shogun at the time Japan was opened to foreign intercourse, and Kamonyama, a third section, all were destroyed, leaving thousands in extreme misery.

There has been no news received in Japan from the Bonin Islands on which is located a cable relay station and it is feared, the advices declared, that the land there was submerged by the tidal wave following the temblor.

The advices also confirmed earlier reports of the submergence of the island of Enoshima, "Picture Island," one of Japan's most beautiful spots. This island, the message said, was swept away by a tidal wave, as were also Honomuku and Isoko, villages in the vicinity of Enoshima.

Many Europeans, visitors and residents of that section, are missing.

TWO CITIES IN RUINS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

KOBE (Japan) Sept. 4.—Great destruction and loss of life have resulted from the earthquake which Saturday struck Japan the most severe blow received in her history.

Both Tokio and Yokohama are reported to be virtually in ruins, hundreds of cities and towns on the Izu Peninsula have been leveled by fire and temblor and the casualties at the present time cannot be estimated.

Yokohama is completely isolated and is declared to have burned or to be burning. It is learned that the Chief of Police of Yokohama sent a wireless message to Osaka appealing for help and declaring that "Yokohama is a sea of flames."

The city of Kobe was shaken by the temblor and Toyama was affected. The shocks, according to reports here, seemed to have centered in the Izu Peninsula.

SHIP SENT WITH FOOD

The United States Consul at Kobe, immediately upon the receipt of word of the disaster, commandeered the Shipping Board steamer West Orowa, loaded it with food supplies and dispatched it to Yokohama for the purpose of relieving the distress which is believed to be prevalent in the foreign community of the stricken city.

Although little authentic news is obtainable from Tokio, it is reported that the destruction there includes the Imperial Hotel, the Imperial Theater, the Foreign Office, Department of Education, the Imperial University, the Departments of Interior and Finance, the Railway Department and all the large department stores.

It is said the Imperial Palace was afire, but the blaze was extinguished. The Prince Regent Hirohito and suite were said to have left the city and are believed to be safe. The Emperor and Empress are at Nikko in safety.

ONLY TWO PAPERS LEFT

It is stated that all the Tokio newspapers were destroyed with the exception of the Nichi Nichi and the Hochi. The resorts of Mi-Miyashita and Hakone, noted for their hot springs, were completely destroyed.

Refugees arriving from Hakone report many deaths in the vicinity of this resort. There has been no news whatever from Miyanoshita and it is feared the casualties there are heavy.

There is the greatest anxiety here in regard to the large foreign settlement at Yokohama, but no names of those who lost their lives or were injured have been received. It is feared the death toll was heavy in the settlement. A Japanese steamer in Yokohama Harbor wirelessed that the city was unrecognizable.

Railway communication with Tokio is reported to have been restored to within seven miles of the city, although Yokohama appears to be isolated. Because of the fire the ships which survived the tidal wave are declared to be keeping well out in the harbor.

The island of Oshima, sixty miles southwest of Tokio, which had an active volcanic cone, is reported to have sunk beneath the sea, observers having been unable to see anything in its direction but water.

The Takanawa Palace has been reduced to ashes.

Fire which had spread from the central section of Tokio to the Aoyama district still was burning yesterday morning.

The government has established a relief office for earthquake sufferers in Tokio and troops are marching into the capital from many directions.

In addition to the office of the Nichi Nichi, which earlier reports had announced was spared by the flames, the office of another leading Tokio paper, the Hochi, also escaped, but the machinery in each was so badly damaged that publication of a newspaper from them for some time to come is impossible.

NOBLES KILLED

While the Emperor and Empress are reported safe at Nikko, a resort, Prince Yamashina and Princess Kaya of the higher nobility are reported dead. Prince Masayoshi Matsukata, former Premier and Keeper of the Privy Seal, has died from injuries, according to a report from the Nagoya Railway Bureau by way of Nagasaki.

A large colony of foreign missionaries at Karuizawa has escaped, it was learned.

While survivors are uniting in emergency rescue and relief work under the discipline of martial law promulgated by Premier Yamamoto, the world outside Japan began today to rush to the scene of the disaster with every available facility of assistance.

The United States and British navies have rushed ships from Chinese and Philippine waters to Yokohama to aid in the rescue as far as possible. The American ships, it was reported, have been stationed at vantage points to relay wireless messages connected with the rescue work. Red Cross units in the Philippines and China have been ordered to Tokio.

FOOD SHIP SENT

A cablegram from Kobe received tonight by the Associated Press said the American Consul there had commandeered the United States Shipping Board steamer West Orowa, filled it with food and started it for the center of the devastated region.

A message received here at 4 o'clock this afternoon by the Toyo Kisen Kaisha said its ship, the Korea, is safe in Yokohama Bay and has 2500 refugees aboard. The message was received from the company's agent in Kobe. It also said that communications have been reopened between Kobe and Numazu, eighty-five miles west of Tokio.

Another report today said railroads, badly torn up in every direction from Tokio are being rebuilt between Tokio and Yokohama and that conections will soon be complete between the harbor city and the capital.

BRIDGE COLLAPSES

The famous Ryogoku bridge, spanning the Sumida River in Tokio, collapsed at a time when thousands of refugees fleeing to the mountains were upon it, with resultant loss of life, described as "innumerable."

Meiji University at Tokio, the Higher Technical School, the Kuramae Women's Higher Normal School and the First High School have been burned.

Yotsuya, a ward of Tokio east of the Imperial Palace, was burning at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, no further advices thence having reached the radio station.

No news has been received of Prince Kanin and his mother, who were at Kamakura when the shocks began. Princess Yamashina has reached Odowara in a search for them.

The mother of Princess Kaya, who also was at Kamakura, is reported to have been burned to death shortly after the earthquake.

Three hundred thousand bushels of rice are being rushed from Korea on a naval vessel, to be used in relief work in Tokio.

More than 700 patients in the University Hospital at Tokio are said to have lost their lives in the earthquake.

to do missionary work at Asoka. William Waterhouse, his brother and two of his sons, formerly of Pasadena, are now engaged in missionary work near Lake Viwa, although this section is not in the quake zone. The entire list of Presbyterian missionaries to Japan from America numbers nearly half a hundred, according to Mrs. Hayes.

NO REPORTS FROM TANKERS IN JAPAN

GENERAL PEROLEUM VESSELS CARRYING ANGELENOS AT TOKUYAMA

No word from the General Petroleum tank steamers Yorba Linda and Lebec, both in the earthquake area with Los Angeles crews and cargoes, had been received by company officials up until a late hour yesterday. Seventy-seven mariners, all from this city and Los Angeles Harbor, are aboard the two steamers, which arrived at Tokuyama on August 27 and the 2nd inst, respectively.

Tokuyama, a Japanese naval base located on the Inland Sea and approximately 200 miles south of Yokohama, is also believed to have been ravaged by fire and storm, inasmuch as vessels at sea and Asiatic land stations have failed to get in touch with the powerful naval radio station at the port.

The Yorba Linda and Lebec, however, are not believed to have been damaged, as they discharged their fuel oil cargoes from a loading station nearly two miles from shore. They would have experienced little trouble, according to local mariners, in reaching the open sea before the full force of the typhoon and tidal wave broke on the unprotected shoreline.

RED CROSS TO PLAN AID

Local Chapter Will Meet This Morning to Outline Campaign for Japanese Relief

With 100,000 local members expected to co-operate in a drive for food, clothing and supplies, the executive committee of the Los Angeles chapter of the American Red Cross will meet this morning at Red Cross headquarters, 213 South Broadway, to outline a campaign for the relief of hundreds of thousands of victims of the earthquakes, fires and tidal waves that have laid waste Japan's two greatest cities.

According to D. C. MacWatters, chairman of the local chapter of the Red Cross, every branch of that organization will give immediate attention to the necessity of relief work in the stricken empire. Ships carrying supplies in all probability have already been dispatched from New York, Mr. Watters said, although he expected to receive no official word from the national headquarters of the Red Cross at Washington before this morning.

THE TIMES COMMENDED

Mr. MacWatters commended the action taken by The Times in innovating the first local movement for the relief of Japan and said the Red Cross would endeavor to cooperate with The Times and any other organizations contemplating relief programs.

Activities of the Red Cross in the West will center in San Francisco, headquarters for the Pacific division, and it is likely that a relief ship will sail for Japan from a Pacific port within the next few days, Mr. MacWatters added.

In Japan, the American Red Cross workers will work hand in hand with the Japanese Red Cross, an offshoot of the American organization. According to Mr. MacWatters hundreds of Japanese now in Los Angeles are members of the Japanese Red Cross and will work through the American Red Cross here in behalf of their devastated fatherland.

OTHER DRIVES PLANNED

In addition to the proposed program of the Red Cross, other civic organizations have signified an intention to initiate relief drives for the Japanese people.

The Young Men's Christian Association will receive donations from the public at 715 South Hope street. According to George Gleason, director of religious activities of the association, all funds received will be used to aid the victims of the earthquake through the foreign field agents of the association, working out of New York.

Dr. A. Brobeck, priest of the Buddhist Temple of Hongwanji of Los Angeles, yesterday advanced suggestions for relief work whereby Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle and Vancouver would become centers for the collection of funds.

Dr. Brobeck believes that the Japanese consuls in these cities should be chosen to head the drive and that committees be formed in each city of Japanese and Americans, irrespective of religious or political affiliations.

He also suggested that Los Angeles be designated the principal center of relief work. The consuls in the five cities are K. Kishii, Los Angeles; U. Oyama, San Francisco; Y. Taketa, Portland; C. Ohashi, Seattle, and S. Gomyo, Vancouver.

Church Schools in Tokio Feared Lost in Tremor

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Two great missionary schools, one of them credited with being the largest of its kind in the world, were located in the heart of the disaster area in Tokio and were doubtless destroyed, according to announcement by interested churchmen here today. The Jesuit house at St. Ignatius University here has received word that a third great school which was once occupied by the Jesuit college in Tokio was actually destroyed. It was on a hill overlooking the city.

The two schools are the Jesuit college in question known in Japan as the Jochi-Dai-Gakuin or "school of wisdom," located close to the Imperial University, and the Methodist missionary college, known as the Aeyama-Gakuin. The Protestant school holds the record of being the largest of its kind in the world, with an attendance of approximately 2000, according to Dr. H. B. Johnson of Oakland, who once headed the institution.

The fate of the hundreds of missionaries connected with these two great institutions and the other missionary establishments in the disaster area remains a mystery. It is felt here that many of them met death.

The Baptist Foreign Mission Society, American Bible Society, American Board Mission, American Christian Convention, Episcopal Mission, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and Presbyterian Church also maintain establishments in Tokio and near-by cities.

"I hasten to express to Your Imperial Majesty the horror with which I learned of the appalling disaster which has befallen your country by earthquake and its terrible consequences at Tokio, Yokohama and other places.

"I sympathize profoundly with Your Majesty in this overwhelming catastrophe, resulting in loss of life and property and in untold sufferings to thousands of your people."

CANADIAN SHIP OFFICES IN YOKOHAMA RUINED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HONGKONG, Sept. 3.—An intercepted wireless message received here reports that the office building of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Ltd., in Yokohama, was destroyed. The general agent of the company, who make the report, was unable to say definitely as to the fate of his staff.

NEVER IN DANGER

Angelenos on President Madison Missed Earthquake Horror

The Admiral Line Steamer President Madison, which sailed for oriental ports from Seattle last August 14, was never in the danger zone, having left Yokohama the day before the disaster, according to a telegram received from the steamship offices yesterday by Mrs. Monnie Hastings of 1277 Third avenue. Mrs. Hastings's son, Howard Hastings, was a passenger on board the President Madison, as were several other Los Angeles residents. The ship left Kobe for Shanghai yesterday.

CHICAGO'S JAPANESE PLAN RELIEF EFFORTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—The Japanese consulate here was closed today as a result of the Tokio disaster and members of the Japanese colony, after a meeting at their Y.M.C.A. building, were planning relief measures. A relief committee was appointed.

More than a score of Chicago people were believed to be in Japan at the time of the earthquake and relatives and friends were without news as to their safety. Among them was Hugh R. Wilson, counsellor of the American Embassy in Tokio.

The Japanese Christian Association has taken steps to raise a fund expected to approximate $2000 for relief in Tokio.

Most Famous Governmental Buildings Destroyed

Shrines and Parks Also Are Lost in Disaster

Many Wards of Capital Now Virtually Obliterated

Japan's most famous civic and government buildings, parks and shrines are housed within the wards of Tokio that are reported to have been completely destroyed by the earthquakes and fires. The wards said to have been practically obliterated include Honjo, Fukagawa, Akasaka, Shitaya, Nihonbashi, Kanda, Ushigome, Kojimachi and Shiba.

The most important places of interest in those localities are as follows:

HONJO WARD

Fukagawa Park.

AKASAKA WARD

The Crown Prince's Palace, in the style of the palace of Louis XIV. It was built of marble, brick, chinaware, steel and hinoki wood, after ten years of labor. The garden is Japanese. The main entrance and outer inclosure were constructed with brick and ornamented with granite. The gates and fences were made of iron. The palace grounds consisted of several divisions, all encircled by moats and with the palace buildings in the midst.

The Aoyama Detached Palace, originally the mansion of the feudal lords of the Kishu and Sasayama clans.

The American Embassy.

The First Division Headquarters.

The military college.

The girls' department of the Peers' School.

Ueno Park, containing famous monuments, a large bronze image of Buddha, eleven feet high; the Buddhist Temple Kwan-eiji, the Imperial Museum, the Ueno Library, the school of music and the fine arts school.

The Ueno Ryodaishi, a chapel with two images of Jigen Daishi and Jie Daishi, built in 1624.

KOJIMACHI WARD

Kojimachi Ward is the rendezvous of large buildings, the various government offices, banks and companies, most of which are constructed of stone and brick and reinforced concrete. This district contains the following:

Kasumigaseki Detached Palace.

PERSONS KNOWN HERE, IN JAPAN

Several in Quake Zone Were Recent Visitors

Yokohama Hotel Manager a Los Angeles Man

Foreign Section of Tokio in Fire Danger Zone

Among Americans in Japan whose lives were endangered and who have visited Los Angeles recently or have friends here, are James F. Abbott, United States commercial attache; Rev. J. Reifsnider, John Reifsnider and families; Rupert Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Andrews and son, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ballantine and infant daughter, Miss Carol Rix, Edward Mendelson, and Richard Irwin. The manager of the Grand Hotel in Yokohama is said to be a Los Angeles man.

No word has been received from any of these, and all of them were living in sections reported in greatest danger, excepting the Richard Andrews family. Their home is located in Shiba Park, one of the few sections untouched by fire.

James F. Abbott, who visited Los Angeles a little more than a year ago, had his headquarters at the American Embassy, but lived with his family outside the embassy compound at some distance. Mr. Reifsnider, also a recent visitor, resided in a section of Tokio reported destroyed. The business headquarters of Richard Andrews, (who figured in dispatches a few months ago in connection with an alleged visit to forbidden Japanese naval fortifications) are on the crowded Ginza, the principal retail street of Tokio which was probably a center of greatest confusion during the quake and subsequent fire. Andrews is head of an importing house of that name, dealing in heavy machinery.

IN FOREIGN COLONY

Mr. Cox and Mr. Mendelson both live on the Bluff in Yokohama, the largest foreign colony in Japan, and home of many Americans. It is probably that the entire Bluff suffered severely, as in former quakes great damage was done there. The buildings are of frrame construction and most of them are pretentious, with large grounds, but fire protection at this elevation has always been inadequate and fire once started could be checked only with difficulty against the wind from the ocean just below.

In Tokio the American and other foreign residences are scattered all through the city, and in only one or two places are there groups of more than three or four families in the same neighborhood. The entire city is densely populated, with 90 per cent of the buildings made of light frame, with paper windows and heavy tiled roofs which add to the life hazard when fire sweeps the city. At the same time these top-heavy roofs are a great menace even in lesser quakes, often sliding to the ground and pinning panic-stricken occupants beneath as they rush from the houses. The dwellings are placed so tightly together that once a fire is started, whole districts burn out to the only real barrier in all the city—the canals.

Although the Japanese cities have made rapid progress in the past decade toward European fire protection, their organization and equipment is still on a woefully inadequate standard. Only five years ago the first electric fire alarm system was installed, and still more recently, motorized fire-fighting equipment. But with a somewhat erratic water supply and streets too narrow and congested for skillful handling of fire apparatus, fire losses under even ordinary conditions are tremendous.

HAS MANY QUAKES

As for the earthquakes, no one who has not lived in Japan can conceive the devastating horror which attended this one. Japan experiences approximately 300 earth tremors annually—some of them too insignificant for the average person to notice, others sufficiently violent to provide a real thrill. The foreigner in Japan is somewhat amused by his first one, if it is not too lively, but by the fifth he apprehends the next with sincere dread. Unlike the thunderstorms of the Middle West, each succeeding quake becomes harder to endure, until old residents in Japan are on the verge of nervous collapse when they feel the terrifying roll of the ground beneath them. This applies to foreign residents. It is difficult to learn just what the innermost sensations of the Japanese are. At any rate, they are game chaps, for when a "jishen" comes along they grin persistently and repeat "jishen-jishen!"—at the same time making sedately for a door or archway, which happens to be the safest thing to stand under in an ordinary shake.

Among the illiterate there is a tradition that the whole of Japan rests upon the back of a colossal carp sleeping on the bed of the ocean, and the frequent quakes are the result of the fish having bad dreams and getting restless. In the rural districts there is a superstition that a bamboo grove will afford protection—and it is a well founded superstition, for the bamboo roots grow so densely and are so tough that in the event of the earth cracking open, the force usually follows the line of least resistance and goes around the roots.

Foreign residents, however, put little faith in anything but outgoing ships. In the last big quake several years ago an American was sitting in the offices of the Standard Oil Company on the Bund in Yokohama.

FRYING PAN TO FIRE

About the time the second yard of plaster dropped from the ceiling he was going through a window and making for a steamship office. He took the first ship home and landed in San Francisco about one jump ahead of the big earthquake up there. At last reports he was living in the center of a vast prairie.

The destruction of the Tokio terminal railway station is an indication of the completeness of the ruin in that city, for this was of substantial stone and masonry construction, and as nearly fireproof as possible for a building of this nature. It stood apart from other buildings on a broad plaza. Across from it were the Kaijo office building, a modern skyscraper, as skyscrapers go in Japan, and several other recently completed modern buildings. These were considered the nearest earthquake proof in Japan, and if they have been destroyed there is little hope for the lesser structures.

If fire has not reached the American Embassy it is possible the three buildings in the compound have not suffered seriously from the quake. All were of substantial frame construction on American designs, situated about 100 feet from one another in a large, walled compound of about an acre in extent. About a block back of the compound were three other frame houses occupied by student interpreters and other members of the embassy staff. These buildings were closed together in a more densely populated neighborhood.

On account of the mountainous nature of the country, with frequent tunnels, bridges and viaducts, communication between cities has been completely disrupted. With only the torrential rains of the summer season to contend with, operators and traffic men have untold troubles, and the addition of a devastating earthquake no doubt has left the entire country in a hopeless condition.

PRESIDENT CALLS ON PEOPLE OF UNITED STATES TO ASSIST IN RELIEF OF STRICKEN NATION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The President has issued the following appeal:

"To the people of the United States:

"An overwhelming disaster has overtaken the people of the friendly nation of Japan. While its extent has not as yet been officially reported, enough is known to justify the statement that the cities of Tokio and Yokohama and surrounding towns and villages have been largely if not completely destroyed by earthquake, fire and flood, with a resultant appalling loss of life and destitution and distress, requiring measures of urgent relief. Such assistance as is within the means of the executive department of the government will be rendered but realizing the great suffering which now needs relief and will need relief for days to come I am prompted to appeal urgently to the American people, whose sympathies have always been so comprehensive, to contribute in aiding the unfortunate and in giving relief to the people of Japan.

"In order that the utmost co-ordination and effectiveness in the administration of the relief funds be obtained I recommend that all contributions, clearly designated, be sent to the chairman of the American National Red Cross at Washington or to any of the local Red Cross chapters for transmission to Japan."

GROUND SWELLS HIT COAST

Mariners at Los Angeles Harbor Believe Them to be Result of Japan's Tidal Waves

Ground swells twenty feet high, larger than any in the experience of mariners at Los Angeles Harbor, reached the Southern California coast early yesterday morning, the first evidence here of the tidal wave and earthquake which killed hundreds of thousands in Japan.

Capt. Frank Miller, keeper of the Breakwater Lighthouse at the harbor, reported that the large waves were first observed at 1 a.m. and rushed in with increasing intensity all day long. The swells lifted entirely over the fifteen-foot breakwater and carried away all loose objects, including boat tender at the lighthouse and much planking piled along the shore.

Vessels coming into the harbor during the day from midocean and along the coast reported that the waves are the highest in their experience. Sailors, who said they had spent a lifetime at sea without sickness came into the harbor much the worse for wear.

Naval observers said no storm of any size is reported anywhere on the Pacific and that the huge waves unquestionably are the reaction on this coast of the Japanese catastrophe.

Ten deepwater ships anchored in the Outer Harbor broke loose from their moorings more than once during the day and had difficulty in keeping in position. The U.S.S. Idaho and Nevada rolled so badly that their quarter boats touched the water.

MESSAGES ACCEPTED FOR JAPAN

Cable Companies Assure Service Despite Damage by Earthquake

Cable messages for Americans in the earthquake-stricken districts of Japan are now being accepted by the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company, it was announced yesterday.

The Western Union, while reporting its cable undamaged by the temblors that rocked Nippon, is, however, accepting messages subject to delay.

The Postal company cable is also intact and trans-Pacific communications are being cleared without difficulty.

The public may file cablegrams to relatives or friends in Japan at any of the main or branch offices of the companies. From Los Angeles the messages are telegraphed to San Francisco, then cabled to Japan, via the Midway Islands and Guam.

Officials of both companies yesterday reported heavy filings for Japan from Los Angeles.

FRESNO JAPANESE RAISE RELIEF FUND

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Sept. 3.—Committees to raise funds for relief work in Japan were named here today at a meeting of the Japanese Association of Fresno. Secretary M. Ozawa announced that every member of the organization will be asked to contribute. The membership is 1500 but the members are in close touch, Osawa said, with sofe 4500 more Japanese living in this county. Kirichi Kamikawa, pioneer merchant of Fresno and head of the old established firm of Kamikawa Brothers, is on the company's ranch at Hiroshima, Japan, and anxiety is felt for his safety. Numerous other Fresno Japanese, including K. Nakamoto, an employee of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers, are in Tokio and other parts of the known devastated area. At Red Cross headquarters here it was said no official notification has been received in regard to the Japanese catastrophe and that nothing will be done to gather relief supplies or money unless instructions come from national headquarters.

AMERICA LEADS IN RELIEF AIMS

All Available Ships in Far East Rushing Food

President Appeals for Aid in Japan's Disaster

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—America took the lead today in relief of stricken Japan.

While all available ships, food and relief workers at the command of the United States in the Far East were being rushed to Yokohama, President Coolidge issued an appeal to the American people for contributions to a great relief fund and the American Red Cross appropriated $110,000 from its reserve relief fund for immediate expenditure on the scene.

Contributions of any amounts individuals, corporations or organizations desire to make will be received by local Red Cross chapters or by the national headquarters of the Red Cross in Washington. It is expected that a fund of millions of dollars will be subscribed by the American people.

In his appeal to the people, President Coolidge dwelt on the appalling character of the disaster and while giving assurance that every assistance possible will be rendered by the executive branch of the government he said he was moved by the magnitude of the suffering in Japan to solicit aid from the public. The need of such aid the President pronounced urgent. He recommended that contributions be sent to Red Cross headquarters here or to local Red Cross chapters for transmission to Japan.

RED CROSS OFFERS AID

The Red Cross headquarters announced the steps it has taken for immediate relief in the following statement:

"The American Red Cross has started the national fund for the relief of the victims of the Japanese earthquake horror with a contribution of $100,000. In addition it has appropriated from its reserve funds $10,000 for the assistance of Americans caught in the disaster zone."

"Supplementing these appropriations for relief work, which wi be forwarded together with contributions from the public made in response to the President's proclamation to the Japanese Red Cross through the State Department, it was announced at national headquarters of the Red Cross that its machinery for dispatching relief supplies and Red Cross nurses and other relief workers to the scene is ready should development show the necessity.

Chairman John Barton Payne, who is in Chicago, wired national headquarters that assistance from the Red Cross be tendered through the State Department. Acting Chairman James L. Fieser immediately conferred with Acting Secretary of State William Phillips, who is acting in close co-operation with the Red Cross.

NO WORD OF EMBASSY

It was stated at Red Cross headquarters that individual contributions to the national fund may be forwarded through any Red Cross chapter or sent direct to national headquarters of the American Red Cross, Washington, D. C.

"National headquarters has also sent a radio message to the Philippines chapter of the American Red Cross requesting that it make an immediate survey of relief stores, principally rice, and transportation facilities be made. This action was taken to insure prompt action if this form of American Red Cross Relief should prove practicable."

The State Department was without advices during the day concerning the safety of the American Embassy officials at Tokio or of American consuls at Yokohama and Nagoya. The department cabled Nelson T. Johnson, American Consul-General-at-large who is now in northern China, to proceed at once to Yokohama, Nagoya and Tokio to ascertain the safety of American officials. Consul Ballintine, now at Dairen, also was ordered to the scene to aid the American officials. Both officers were instructed to advise the department as to conditions and American casualties.

YANK SHIP AT NAGASAKI

Dispatches received from Admiral Anderson, commander of the Asiatic fleet, indicated that he had acted to extend relief even before he received instructions from the Navy Department. He sent the destroyer Nori to Nagasaki to forward relayed radio messages from the scene of the disaster and dispatched the destroyers Stewart, Smith, Thompson, Barker, Tracy, John D. Edwards and Whipple to Yokohama. The squadron is under command of Capt. G. T. Pettengill. Admiral Anderson reported himself on the way to Chefoo aboard his flagship, the cruiser Huron, accompanied by the destroyer tender Blackhawk. All the destroyers are carrying medicines and other relief supplies.

Mr. Hanihara, the Japanese Ambassador, who hurried back to Washington from his vacation on receiving news of the disaster, called at the White House and thanked President Coolidge personally for the message of sympathy the President had sent him for dispatch to the Tokio government. The Ambassador was greatly depressed and said that he had been unable to get into communication with his government and had received no dispatches of any kind since the earthquake.

BERLIN, Sept. 3.—The Japanese Embassy tonight received a wireless that the government district of Tokio had been destroyed, the Foreign Office and regal palace smashed, but the royal family is alive. Nothing has been heard from the German Ambassdor, Herr Solf.

FILM OFFICIAL FEARED LOST IN TOKIO TREMOR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Anxiety is felt here for the safety of Wayne Pierson of Washington, D. C., resident manager at Tokio of the United Artists' Corporation, a motion-picture organization. According to local friends, Mr. Pierson was at his post at the time the disaster overwhelmed Tokio. With him were Mrs. Pierson and their child.

IMPERIAL HOTEL IN PATH OF FIRE

Americans who are most deeply interested in present conditions in Japan are awaiting with keen anxiety official information as to the fate of the Imperial Hotel in Tokio. A bulletin late last night said the building had been destroyed. All who are familiar with Japanese conditions, including the most prominent architects and building experts, are agreed that if this building has been razed it is impossible that any important structure in Tokio remains standing.

The Imperial Hotel was designed by an Angeleno, Frank Lloyd Wright, 1600 Edgemont avenue. After more than a year spent in exhaustive study of conditions and protective measures against earthquakes, Mr. Wright drew the plans for the hotel.

The building took fifty-one months to construct, and the architect personally supervised the more important details. Other details were supervised by Will E. S. Smith, now Mr. Wright's secretary and assistant, and a large staff of assistants.

To make the building earthquake proof, it was built on a foundation floated on liquid mud and tied down to this mud with piles. The mud is confined and there is no possibility of slipping. Neither is there possibility of danger through drainage, as it is below sea level. Thus the mud serves as a permanent cushion.

WALLS ARE DOUBLE

Double walls were constructed, the outer walls being brick and these supported by a reinforced concrete wall just behind the brick. The walls were built to slope outward toward the bottom, another sound earthquake protection.

The building was three stories high in the center, sloping, and only one story on the outer edge. It was of greenish-gray tint, built largely of stone, this stone all lava. The building was 500 by 300 feet, nearly three times the dimensions of the Chicago Auditorium.

On two sides of the hotel site there are wide streets and parks, on the third a wide space occupied by railroad tracks and on the fourth the moat which runs around Tokio.

FINEST IN JAPAN

The Imperial Hotel was considered the finest building in Tokio, if not the finest in all Japan. It was the social center of the community, the gathering place of the Cabinet and members of the Diplomatic Corps. It was a private venture of the imperial family of Japan, conducted under the direction of the members of the imperial family as the country's gathering place for distinguished foreigners.

The building was practically a small city in itself, containing every modern convenience, including electric lighting and heating. The banquet hall seated 3000, while there was a small theater with revolving stage and numerous other conveniences.

Mr. Wright stated yesterday that it had withstood the severe earthquake of 1922 without showing any ill effects.

LEAGUE DELAYS ACTION IN CRISIS

Graeco-Italian Conflict Not Discussed at Meeting

Solution of Trouble Said to be Near, However

Resolution of Sympathy is Sent to Japan

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENEVA, Sept. 3.—The fourth general assembly of the League of Nations was opened here today. There was no formal mention of the Graeco-Italian crisis, but the delegates in the anteroom expressed themselves as hopeful that a road would be found leading to a solution of the conflict, so far as the League's relations to it were concerned.

The inaugural session was marked by an impressive expression of sympathy to Japan from the fifty-one nations represented who joined in a solemn resolution voicing the world's condolence over the terrible disaster afflicting the Japanese nation.

ISHII IS AFFECTED

Viscount Ishii, of Japan, acting President of the Assembly, although greatly affected by the news of the disaster in his homeland, bravely carried on his duties. He eloquently referred in his address to the achievements of the League and voiced the conviction that it was destined steadily to go forward to greater usefulness in making the world a better and happier place in which to live, preventing disputes and in striving for permanent friendship between nations.

Women, including scores of Americans, formed the majority of the spectators in the galleries and joined fervently in the applause following Viscount Ishii's account of the League's stewardship and his frequently voiced convictions in the greatness of its future.

Meanwhile everyone is awaiting word from Rome on Italy's attitude concerning Greece's submission of the conflict to the League and this is expected to arrive tonight or tomorrow.

An Athens dispatch today said the Italian government had served notice on Greece that it would refuse to recognize whatever decision the League of Nations made in the Graeco-Italian crisis.

The resolution of condolence to Japan said:

"The Assembly expresses its profound sorrow at the appalling catastrophe that has overtaken the Japanese nation and desires to tender to the victims its deepest sympathy."

ACT CALLED FITTING

In seconding the moving of the resolution, Senor Edwards said:

"It is indeed fitting that the League of Nations, which is the highest expression of the brotherhood of man, should communicate to the Japanese nation its sympathy, brotherly compassion and encouragement. We are sure the wisdom and industry of the Japanese will enable them to recover from this terrible catastrophe and continue their progress in the path of civilization."

Viscount Ishii, in commenting on the adoption of the message of condolence, said:

"The Japanese nation will attach the greatest importance to this striking manifestation of international brotherhood and fraternity between peoples."

GLOOM HAS TAKEN GRIP IN GERMANY

BY GEORGE SELDES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Sept. 3.—Nothing happening in Japan, Italy or Greece is exciting Germany. Their own country's deepening chaos occupies first place in the people's minds. Today the nation's leaders are concerned in dickering with France, trying to get the most favorable terms for officially giving up the passive resistance in the Ruhr. Official circles today confirm last Tuesday's dispatches to that effect. While Hugo Stinnes and other workmen under Communist leadership are returning to work for France, Chancellor Stresemann is making a deal with France for the best terms.

Official circles say that numerous pourparlers with France are now being carried on in Paris, Berne and Berlin, but all indirect, because the government wants assurances before sending an ambassador to Paris with the official terms.

HYMNS TO BE SUNG IN SIGN LANGUAGE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 3. — Sermons and hymns said and sung in the sign language will be features of services held in the new Methodist Temple after its dedication on November 1. Chicago's deaf mission will have a permanent home in the temple. The mission has been without a place of its own since the old church building on the site of the temple was wrecked. Services include stereopticon lectures, and by watching the rapid sign language of the interpreter, the congregation also enjoys programs of readings, plays and songs. It is estimated Chicago has 2000 deaf mutes. The negro deaf mutes have a small church in Hartzell Center, where they enjoy similar services twice a month.

Noice Describes Voyage to Land of Death

but I had heard a great deal of him from Stefansson and others who had been with him on the particular branch of the 1913-18 expedition of which he was a member. Knight I had known well. He and I had been with Stefansson on a number of the latter's long sledge journeys in the north and we were once fellow invalids with scurvy when our chief brought us promptly back to health on a rigorous diet of raw caribou meat.

COULD VISUALIZE PARTY

I could visualize the little party as they landed on the island in September, 1921, full of youthful enthusiasm. I could see them with a well-stocked larder comfortably housed for that first long winter, tending at intervals their lines of traps. I could imagine their relief as the sun returned and later on the snow departed from the land and the ocean began to move. It was not hard for me to realize their terrible disappointment as the summer passed and the ice failed to open up sufficiently for a ship to get through, or perhaps the ice had cleared away for a few days, or maybe longer, and no ship had come. How they would climb to the top of the nearest hill and gaze out over the ocean for sight of a sail! Then perhaps the ice had closed in again not to leave for that year. But they would hope for relief until the last. Would their courage suffice for another winter? Would their supplies admit of further delay even though their courage might still be high? Beyond this point I must admit my speculations were tinged with fear. Although fearing the worst I still hoped for the best.

It was hard, moreover, to be gloomy on such a day. The sea was free of ice, the temperature was around 50 deg., and the Donaldson, her deck cluttered with two walrus-hide boats, twenty shaggy Eskimo dogs, sleds, hunting gear and all the various impediments of Arctic expeditions, plugged steadily ahead in spite of a stiff westerly wind, which we had encountered shortly before rounding the point.

The next day we began to look for ice as we had made considerable progress north and could now expect to meet it almost any time. But still, so far as we could see from the crow's nest, the ocean was all big, green seas without a suggestion of the pack.

Then during the night, the temperature dropped to 37 deg., and at 4:30 a.m., August 11, we ran into a field of scattered ice, which we began to work through. But as we advanced the ice ahead became more lightly packed and we shortly found ourselves unable to move against it. We squirmed back into clear water and then turned southwest along the edge of the floe in search of an opening which might carry us on our way to Wrangell. Then, almost without warning, down came the fog. Our position was now extremely perilous. There we were within a short distance of huge cakes of ice, from thirty to fifty feet in thickness, and about an acre or more in area, which were plunging and rearing about in the heavy chop, and any one of which might easily crush our fragile bark like an egg. In clear weather these cakes could have been easily avoided, but here we were, ice, ocean and ship, shrouded in a thick impenetrable mantle of gloom.

As if matters were not already bad enough, the engines, which had been severely tested in the fight with the ice floes, gave up the struggle and, with a last despairing gurgle, subsided into silence. I rushed to the engine room to see what was the matter while the crew and Eskimos stood by with long pike poles to fend us off from the ghostly shadows which ever and anon loomed through the fog. "What's the matter with the damned thing now?" I enquired.

Williams and Earle, the engineers, were feverishly overhauling the most vulnerable parts of the mechanism and at length announced that the needle valve had broken. Meanwhile there was much muttered comment from the two engineers which I could not distinctly hear and which I doubt if I could with propriety have transmitted had I done so. The engineers were resourceful, however, and promised to get the boat under way again in a few minutes. I therefore transferred my attention to the menacing floes again. I was just in time.

ENCOUNTER LARGE BERG

Suddenly a vast white mass like a ghostly floating castle with thousands of tons of green sea water cascading from its battlements as it rose and sank ponderously in the swell, bore down upon us.

We were between it and the line of the pack, and for a few minutes it seemed that our craft must be crushed. Then, in a few moments, we heard thrice-welcome chug of the engines. The engineers had overcome, temporarily the effect of the broken needle valve by squirting gasoline into the carburetor. One man stood at the carburetor and the other at the clutch and in this way we were enabled, just in time, to back out of our dangerous position. With the first officer, Hans Olaf, at the wheel, and myself in the rigging, we worked the boat clear of the floe and then with the wheel hard to starboard, we sheered off just in time to avert a collision. Shortly after, the fog lifted and we could see smooth, open water beyond a long tongue of firm ice, which projected out to the westward. We had to follow this for several miles before we were able to round its point and gain comparative shelter in its lee. We then tied up to a large floe and allowed the engineers to finish their job.

The pack ahead was the most part composed of heavy shore ice which had evidently drifted away from the land, for we saw a good deal of sand and dirt upon it. The next day we steamed seven miles farther and came into another stretch of open water with the edge of the pack running north by west. We followed along this for about twenty-four miles and finally found our progress blocked by a great sheet of ice running east and west. We then decided to buck the pack again, heading directly for Wrangell, which was by now only about thirty miles distant. And then down came the fog once more; and closer crept the ice fields. We drifted with the current in the direction of Herald Island thirty-eight miles west of Wrangell. This was 2 a.m., August 13. The fog held that way all that day and on until afternoon the next day when it cleared sufficiently to take an observation. I found that our drift during the preceding forty hours had brought us within seven miles of Herald Island.

Then for five days solid, we alternately bucked ice, drifted, backed up and fought off menacing ice cakes. It was one continual succession of fogs with rain and mist filling in the intervals. We hardly saw the sun in all that time. When the fog lifted for a few minutes, or perhaps longer, we would worm our way through the tortuous lanes between the floating cakes of ice. Then when it descended again we would tie up to what seemed a secure cake and wait the weather's favor.

PACK MORE OPEN

As we slowly approached Wrangell, the pack became more open, the leads of water between the floes became freer of obstructions and we had to buck less solid ice. Finally, on August 29, we smashed through the last barrier and entered a narrow lane of water which bordered the east coast of Wrangell Island.

Wrangell Island at last; the goal we had worked so hard to attain was ours; but what of the people we had come to find? For any sign or sound of life, the island might have been the abode of the dead. Seen in twilight—for it was midnight and the Arctic sun had already sunk below the horizon—Wrangell Island did not have a prepossessing appearance. Pilot Point, a grim, forbidding-looking wall of rock, rose up from the polar scene to fling its grotesque silhouette against the purple sky.

It seemed to us that no human being could find a foothold, let alone a living in such a desolate place. The black cliff, the somber tones of the sky coupled with the superstitious dread of the Eskimos in approaching familiar land—which unconsciously communicated itself to the rest of us—all combined to shake my confidence in Wrangell as a worthwhile place for colonization. A vague portent that all was not well assailed me. These thoughts were but momentary, for immediately I reflected that Wrangell was a large island, that doubtless there were fairer aspects to its coast line than that which we were skirting and that our people would probably be found farther ahead where the coast was less rugged and forbidding.

We turned south and steamed along under the weird sky line in a narrow lane between the ice and the wall of rock. Our progress in the dusky reflection of the cliffs set up a line of waves that raced and broke against the sides of our narrow channel, while the exhaust of the engine filled the air with sharp, staccato reports which reverberated back and forth between the ice and the cliffs. After reaching Cape Hawaii, the northeast corner of the island, we steamed along the gradually lowering south coast, keeping as close to the beach as possible, and blowing the whistle at minute intervals to attract the attention of any person who might be living along the coast.

(The second installment of Harold Noice's story of his rescue expedition will appear in The Times Wednesday.)

ference with Lord Curzon. I understand he told Lord Curzon that while Italy has no intentions of flouting the League of Nations, it is believed that intervention by the League should be confined to commercial and economic disputes and it had no standing in disputes concerning national honor.

Lord Curzon urged the British view that while Italy was entitled to full satisfaction for the outrage she had suffered, she should adopt judicial means for securing reparations.

NO HELP EXPECTED

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ATHENS, Sept. 3.—The Greek government warns the public against expecting intervention of the British fleet at Corfu, and news from Geneva is accepted as indicating that no help is coming from the League of Nations. As a result, public opinion is more bitter and anxious than ever. There is great disappointment and indignation at the attitude of the League.

Official declarations indicate that Greece, if abandoned by everybody, will as a desperate last resource, abandon the passive resistance and defend herself against the overpowering strength of Italy. It is pointed out that this must be a last resort, as such action will throw all the Balkans into war.

The Greeks and Jugo-Slavs are hastily adjusting their boundaries in the dispute of the Saloniki neutral zone, which has been hanging fire for the past five years, in order to be sure of perfect unity before possible further aggressions by Italy.

The Jugo-Slav Minister at Athens met the Greek Finance Minister at Saloniki yesterday and conferred throughout the day on a mass of official reports which have piled up in the past five years, and what the two governments could not accomplish since the armistice was completed in a few hours.

A communique announced that a courier was taking the text of the new agreement to Belgrade, where it is expected the Jugo-Slav government will find it completely acceptable.

It is officially announced that the Italian fleet has established a base at the Island of Leros, which Italy acquired by the Treaty of Lausanne. Leros is closed by torpedoes and all navigation has been stopped.

In answer to the Albanian accusations of the Greek guilt for the murders of the Italian boundary commission, the Greek government today makes public a report of the Governor-General at Epirus, throwing grave suspicions on the Albanian bandit chief, Daout Hodja, operating near Argyrocastro, where the murders were committed.

STORY OF GERMANY'S FASCISTI STIRS BRITISH

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

AMERICA WILL REBUILD JAPAN

Earthquake Will Create New Demand for Trade

Industry to Profit as Island Rehabilitates Self

Rice and Silk Crops Ruined in Fire and Water

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—American business and industry are likely on the whole to profit rather than suffer from the seismic catastrophe which has shaken Japan from end to end. The "England of the Orient," fastest growing industrial center in the world in the last two decades, has literally been razed and must rebuild stone by stone the great modern structure of manufacturing, commerce and finance reared in imitation of the western civilization.

Recent economic surveys have shown that Japan was just beginning to emerge from post-war derangement of industry and becoming rapidly readjusted to new conditions.

During the first four months of 1923 imports of raw materials for use of Japanese factories increased as compared with the same period of 1922, and imports of items to be wholly consumed in Japan, such as foodstuffs, declined. Imports of luxury and semiluxury items such as automobiles, and woolen textiles increased, however, showing a healthy financial feeling throughout the islands. Total imports were less than in 1922, the trade balance favoring Japan as it had not done for several years.

EXPORT TRADE GOOD

Export trade, which to Japan means roughly raw silk, silk textiles, cotton textiles and cotton yarn, was very satisfactory.

The total foreign trade of Japan during that period amounted to 1,182,996,000 yen compared with 1,204,667,000 yen in the previous year. This slight decrease is accounted for in the drop in imports. During the same period last year this unfavorable balance reached 337,433,000 yen.

The financial position was markedly stronger. Money at no time recently has been especially scarce and new enterprises have continued to be launched, old institutions extending their capitalization and a considerable number of new electric power and railroad projects being started. New activity in shipping, banking and the commercial fields had been general.

The value of the yen has recently appreciated steadily in the exchange markets of the world.

BANKS WELL FIXED

A series of large consolidations and regroupings had placed the leading banking institutions of the country in a very strong position and the successful flotation of several large loans, both domestic and abroad, had rendered the industrial situation stable. Among these was the offering in March of $20,000,000 bonds of the Oriental Development Company, guaranteed by the Japanese government. The income derived from this operation was to be used for agricultural development in Korea.

This year's crops, believed to be irrevocably ruined by earthquakes, were the most promising in several years. The rice crop was estimated the third largest in the history of the country, while the new silk crop was forecast as being from 5 to 10 per cent larger than last year.

Prevailing conditions in shipping circles have been particularly good, with several new lines being inaugurated to distant parts of the world, especially the South Pacific, which has recently been left almost entirely free from competition from the Japanese.

AMERICA CHIEF FRIEND

The United States, first western nation to pierce the wall of isolation which, until seventy-five years ago separated Japan from the modern world, has always been Japan's most important and most intimate business associate. The island kingdom's industrial and economic development has been largely under the direction and advice of American business men.

While at various times Germany and Great Britain have done a larger export business with Japan than has the United States, to this country has come the greatest amount of trade in recent years. Likewise the United States has been Japan's best customer.

Trade figures for 1921 and 1922 show that the kingdom's exports to this country, as measured in value, totaled 496,278,000 yen in 1921 and 732,376,000 yen last year. Similarly the United States exported goods of a total value of 596,169,000 yen in 1922 and 574,500,000 yen in 1921, far above the shipments of any other country in the world.

INDUSTRY RUINED

With the virtual temporary ruin of all lines of industry and business in Japan by the earthquakes, this very favorable economic and financial trend will be violently erased. It may be years, two or three at least, before Japanese exports begin to amount to any important volume. As these are largely in raw silk and in silk and cotton textiles, the American market in these commodities will accordingly be the most heavily affected of any.

This country depends almost entirely upon the Orient for raw silk, the Indian, French and Italian production being mainly consumed by European manufacturers. As a result the disaster may force curtailment in American silk factories for a considerable period, though, of course, it is still too soon to forecast definitely this situation.

Japan has hitherto transacted the bulk of her financial business with Great Britain. With the exception of the loan noted above, considerable financing operations have been made in the United States since the Russian war loans in 1905 and these were the first in many years.

CORRESPONDENT SCORES ITALY

Mr. Grave, received his notice within ten minutes of the expiration of the half hour grace given in the Italian ultimatum. The prefect was taken absolutely by surprise as he had no inkling that the Italians were coming.

The ultimatum declared that if the Greek flag was not hauled down from the old Venetian fortress a landing would be effected without further delay. The prefect accepted the terms as he had no choice and asked for a prolongation of the delay so that he should have time to advise the garrison commander and other town authorities.

This was refused and the ships began bombarding at 5 p.m., the two picturesque and historic Venetian fortresses point blank at a range of 1500 yards.

Since the Greco-Turkish war only about 200 Greek soldiers have been stationed here and the spacious barracks built by the English during their possession from 1815 to 1884 were occupied by the Lord Mayor's fund orphanages—child refugees from Asia Minor—and 6000 other refugees. The new fort is in charge of the English police mission and is used as a public school. It is strange that the Italians did not know the number of Greek troops on the island and that the refugees occupied all the barracks in the fort. The prefect informed the Italians of these facts. But the ships did not hesitate to open fire on both forts.

PANIC ENSUES

Panic ensued especially among the refugees in the old fortress. Twelve refugees were killed and about twenty wounded. Several of the latter since have died of their wounds. The victims were old men and women and several children of the Lord Mayor's orphanages. The total casualties are estimated at sixty-five. The new fort and the police barracks suffered heavily. The whole facade of the police barracks was blown away and the roof was riddled.

The British commander of the police school, Stowman, was away on leave but his quarters were severely damaged. After the first shots the refugees hoisted a white flag on the old fortress while the Greek soldiers, with their officers, about 200 strong, refused to surrender and took to the hills just a quarter of an hour before the first Italians landed and took possession of the prefecture and arrested the Prefect, the Chief of Police and the garrison commander, who were taken aboard the Italian flagship. The bombardment lasted ten minutes.

AMERICAN PROTESTS

Consul Graves immediately after the bombardment began went aboard the flagship accompanied by Mr. Kneeland of the Near East Relief orphanages here and strongly protested to the admiral against his shelling an unfortified town like Corfu and not giving it a chance to surrender. The admiral declared that the bombardment was due to the refusal of the Greeks to haul down the flag at the stipulated time and that the shots were aimed at the high ramparts and not at the barracks. He said he had not meant to kill anybody.

About 3000 soldiers and sailors landed at nightfall. They were fully equipped with machine guns and artillery. The men carried gas masks and complete equipment. A guard was placed around the town and strong outposts were placed, but the troops have not gone into the country behind the town yet.

COMMUNICATION STOPPED

All communication with the rest of the world was stopped and the Italian admiral notified the consuls that all their mail and telegrams would be censored by the Italian military authorities. The general aspect of Corfu is that of a besieged town. Representatives of the American Near East Relief Association and other organizations sent protests to their respective societies.

Vice-Admiral Simonetti has taken over the civil and military government of Corfu and has issued a proclamation informing the inhabitants that they are under the Italian government and must keep quiet.

ANDERSON AND HAWKES FAIL TO LIFT TROPHY

Australians Fall Before Dazzling Tennis of American Defenders in Final Day's Play

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FOREST HILLS (N. Y.) Sept. 3.—The Davis Cup, historic emblem of international tennis supremacy, is safe in Uncle Sam's custody for another year. Putting to rout the opposition that had proved so startlingly formidable in the first two days of play, America swept to victory this afternoon over the Australians in the final two singles contests and captured the series by a margin of four matches to one.

Displaying a marked reversal of the form he showed in going down to defeat before James O. Anderson last Friday, William M. Johnston clinched the trophy for the United States when he smothered John B. Hawkes in the opening match, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1.

William T. Tilden made it a clean sweep for the day when he conquered Anderson, the Australian captain, 6-2, 6-3, 1-6, 7-5, in a match that failed to come up to the expectations held out for this struggle between the "aces" of the opposing forces.

The crushing character of America's closing victories came as a distinct anticlimax to the gruelling, spectacular play in the first two days of the challenge round. The gallery of 12,000 that taxed the capacity of the big West Side Club's stadium should come expecting a last desperate stand on the part of the Australians who had proved so unexpectedly powerful in dividing the first two singles encounters and forcing the doubles match Saturday to five terrific, record-breaking sets before bowing in defeat.

OUTCOME EVIDENT

At no stage of today's play was there the least uncertainty of the outcome, for the mastery of both Johnston and Tilden was complete at practically every stage of both matches. The Antipodeans made their last fight gallantly, but ineffectually, and thus, for the second successive year, they made their 12,000-mile journey from "down under" in vain.

This year's victory gained by the same margin as that over Australia a year ago, put the United States into the lead in total number of victories since the Davis cup first was put into competition in 1900. America now has won it seven times, Australia six and the British Isles five.

For two sets Tilden had his opponent helpless in the face of a withering, relentless accurate attack. His cannonball service was invincible. He drove Anderson from side to side with forehand and backhand shots that streaked across the court, and his mixture of pace had the Australian completely at sea. Anderson was wild and his service was far from its usual effectiveness, but against such amazing opposition he was helpless.

Then an incident, one of the most unusual recorded in international play, occurred suddenly to change the complexion of the match. Tilden's final point in the ninth game of the second set, a cross-court shot, seemed several inches out to the galery, though it was ruled a placement for the American champion. The crowd, however, voiced vigorous disapproval of the decision and called for a replay. Both players, nonplused by the situation, offered to do so, but the referee ruled otherwise and the third set was begun amid another noisy outburst.

The demonstration so nettled the temperamental American that he virtually tossed the third set away with his listless work. Excepting the third game, when he broke through Anderson's service, Tilden let down in all departments of his play, allowing many of Anderson's drives to whistle past without the least effort to get his racket on them. Anderson thus walked away with his "gift" set with ridiculous ease, taking the first two games without the loss of a point and breaking through Tilden's service three times.

Both settled down in the fourth set and Tilden, while he failed to strike the pace he maintained in the first two sets, won after the most spirited battle of the match.

Hawkes's downfall at the hands of Johnston served only as additional proof of the fact that the lefthander's chief forte is in doubles play. Against the withering speed of Johnston's forehand drives, the matchless position play and machine-like accuracy of the little Californian's game, the Australian was outclassed. No better evidence of Johnson's complete mastery can be given than the fact that Hawkes tallied only five earned points in the entire match, while the American scored thirty-one.

RACE TRACK A SURETY

Culver City Track Headed by Charles W. Clark Who Will Be President; Ready December 1

BY ED O'MALLEY

As was announced several weeks ago, ground will be broken about September 10 for the new race track at Culver City. The building of the plant will be rushed forward as fast as possible in order that the grand opening will take place December 1, according to schedule. As Manager Dick Ferris could not come to a satisfactory understanding with Promoter Bourke of Chicago the deal fell through, as far as Bourke was concerned.

However, Ferris is more than pleased to announce that Charles W. Clark, son of Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, has taken the enterprise under his efficient wing and will at once get busy toward making the course one of the prettiest in America. Mr. Clark will be president of the Culver City Jockey Club and will name his own board of directors. With the new president, the clubhouse feature will be an exclusive affair and will be patterned after Belmont-Saratoga and a number of other swell eastern tracks.

LOVES BANGTAILS

One of the men that will be associated with President Clark will be Carleton F. Burke, famous polo player and enthusiast and a sportsman of the highest class. Mr. Burke is a stanch admirer of the thoroughbred racer and has a number of them in his own stable. His thoroughbreds are looked after by Johnny Weber, a clever horseman and rider, and who, a number of years ago, was regarded as one of the best jockeys in America.

Mr. Burke will be one of the board of governors for the clubhouse. This board will be composed of men that are thoroughly conversant with the turf pastime and who have the better interests of it always at heart. President Clark is himself the owner of a swell string of bangtails, many of which have won brackets for themselves on the eastern courses.

TAKES UP LEASES

The Culver City leases have been taken over in Mr. Clark's name. Mr. Ferris will be a close associate with the Jockey Club president in all matters appertaining to the new track and will also be the general manager. The naming of the board of directors will be taken up in a few days and, as soon as the choices have been made, will be announced in the papers.

Manager Ferris expects to set the ball rolling with a whale of an opening handicap. This fixture will probably be made a set classic and will undoubtedly draw some of the best stake winners in the East to the Coast. The distance will probably be a mile and a sixteenth, thus bringing the field past the grand stand twice before the finish.

It is fully expected that Hollywood will score a cinema triumph on the first day and that the cream of the stars will be on hand to add grace to the occasion. The stake and purses will be of a tempting nature and should entice at least 500 classy racers from the East and Middle West to Southern California.

Unless all signs fail, lovers of thoroughbred racing will have a treat in store for them the first week in December at Culver City. When that old bugle blows and the cry "they're off!" shrills through grand stand and clubhouse, the thrill of all sporting thrills will probably permeate 25,000 breasts December 1 at the Belmont Park of the occident.

STEAK AND EGGS FOR LUIS FIRPO

Argentine Fistic Bull Puts in Joyful Day of Training; Is Happy as Kid

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 3.—In high good humor, induced by a breakfast beefsteak a half inch thicker than usual and smothered with two additional eggs, making the total number six, Luis Angel Firpo went through a strenuous training session today as if it were play. All day long he was smiling and breaking out with rollicking rolls of laughter. He felt well even before breakfast and at 6 o'clock, when he awakened, he stormed through his training cottage playfully pitching his compatriots and sparring partners out of bed. Joe McCann, one of the sparring partners, was loath to come from his bed sheet so Luis Angel lifted the Newark Irishman's 200 pounds on his shoulder and carried him to a cold shower.

To the board walk they went and Luis still was in a playful mood. He proposed jumping contests, races and leap frog games. He came home humming a popular American song. Then came the big breakfast and a quarter hour at the sand bag.

Luis left hooked the small punching bag to flatness yesterday and broke another this morning. So he lightened the bag punching rounds in some degree and did some rope skipping and two rounds of shadow boxing.

MONETAS ON TOP

In a game featured by Cooney's heavy hitting, the Monetas defeated the Los Angeles Firemen Saturday. The Monetas triumphed by a 10-to-9 score. Epling, Moneta chucker, pitched very good ball, and with better support would have held the losers to a much lower score. He whiffed eight of the firemen. Cooney, first baseman for the firemen, poled out a triple and two doubles.

OSBORNE WINS DECATHLON

Former Illinois University Star Defeats Field of Eight in National A. A. U. Competition

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Girl athletes shared honors with Harold Osborne of the I.A.C., the new decathlon champion at the last day of the American Athletic Union's annual championship games here today, when the girls smashed two world's records and bettered two American marks while Osborne broke the world's record for the decathlon by more than 300 points.

The women's honors went to Miss Helen M. Filkey of Chicago, who broke a world's record in the broad jump by hurtling through the air 16ft. 8 3-8in., and winning the 100-yard dash in 11 9-10s., a new American record. Miss Katherine Lee, also of this city, cleared the bar in the high jump at 4ft. 10 7-8in., a new world's record.

Miss Marion McCarties of Newark, N. J., and Miss Rose D. Fisher of New York, also surpassed the old 100-yard dash record in winning their qualifying heats in the same time, 11 9-10s., but could not repeat in the finals and were vanquished by Miss Filkey, 15-year-old Chicago schoolgirl.

The eastern girls, however, had their revenge later when they romped home winners of a special 440-yard relay from a picked western team and, in capturing the event, broke the American record.

Osborne carried off the honors in the decathlon by winning the broad jump, high jump, 400-meter run, 110-meter hurdles and 1500-meter run, and being second in the javelin and finishing third in the shotput, the discus and 100-meter dash.

The relays also produced two sensational record-breaking performances when the I.A.C. team broke the A.A.U. record in the four-mile relay and the University of Iowa squad cracked the games mile relay record.

H. G. Freida of the University of Chicago, by winning the javelin throw, held late in the afternoon, forced himself into second place in the decathlon and nosed out E. Norton of the I.A.C.

The I.A.C. crack four-mile relay team, consisting of Krogh, Buker, Watson and Joe Ray, also covered themselves with glory and now hold the A.A.U. record for the event. The other sterling performance was by the crack relays outfit of the University of Iowa, consisting of Morrow, Noll, Brookins and Wilson.

They won the mile relay from about the fastest bunch of quarter-milers now running, but had to lower the American mark for the distance in doing it.

HOLIDAY NOTHING TO JACK

Dempsey Goes Through a Strenuous Workout Before Huge Crowd

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SARATOGA SPRINGS (N. Y.) Sept. 3.—Perfecting a defense for the style of battle he expects from Luis Angel Firpo seemed to be the chief object of Jack Dempsey's training at his Saratoga Lake camp today. The champion went through his paces before a holiday crowd of nearly 2000, while motion-picture cameras recorded every move he made.

Dempsey boxed two rounds each with George Godfrey, Farmer Lodge and Jack McAuliffe, in addition to going through his other stunts for the benefit of the cameras. Godfrey was under instructions to hit with the right hand while at close quarters, much after the fashion of Firpo and the big negro never stopped trying to club the champion on the back of the neck with "rabbit punches." Dempsey, however, ducked under the blow or blocked it with his left

While facing Lodge, Dempsey permitted the 235-pounder to pull and maul him around the ring. The champion tied Lodge's big arms in the clinches, digging left hooks into his body until he grunted every time Dempsey even started a punch at him.

The champion's two rounds against McAuliffe were fast, as the big Detroit heavyweight kept Dempsey stepping to avoid his left jabs.

Because Jack Kearns, manager of the champion, considers that Dempsey has reached a satisfactory stage in his training with the championship battle still ten days away, the title-holder plans to take a day of rest tomorrow. This undoubtedly will be his last layoff before the finish of the training grind on September 12. Dempsey plans to spend tomorrow loafing around camp and treating his cold

Fottrell Is Net Victor at Del Monte

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DEL MONTE, Sept. 3. — Morgan Fottrell of San Francisco, playing like a veritable demon, was the big hero of the final day's play in the annual Del Monte Hotel tennis tournament, winning a most ferocious five-set encounter from Bowie Detrick of the Hawaiian Davis Cup team for the men's singles title and the Del Monte challenge trophy, and then with Detrick routing Irving Weinstein and Wilton Smith of San Francisco in three straight sets.

Mrs. William Henry of Santa Monica and Irving Weinstein captured the mixed doubles without difficulty.

The scores in the men's singles were indicative of the fierceness of the battle, which was waged under a blistering sun. They were 5-7, 6-3, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5. Detrick was playing a remarkable game, his drives from all over the court being difficult to handle and well placed. Fottrell found that the only way to stave off defeat was to chop to Detrick's forehand, as the former W. C. star found difficulty in driving a low ball and it was his accurate chops, skidding from the slippery surface of the courts that finally won the match for Fottrell.

In the men's doubles finals Detrick and Fottrell proved entirely too strong for Weinstein and Smith. The latter, who was formerly Pacific Coast junior champion, has not been playing much lately and was just sufficiently inaccurate to make it comparatively easy after the first set for Detrick and Fottrell, who won 7-5, 6-0, 6-2.

Mrs. Henry and Weinstein defeated Miss Levison and Roy Wright, Monterey Bay champs, in the mixed doubles finals, 6-3, 6-4, the winners always having considerable in reserve. Mrs. Henry's net game and Weinstein's fine driving were the heavy feature.

Denison Wins in Match Play Against Par

L. W. Denison, shooting an excellent brand of golf, won the match play against par tournament held yesterday afternoon at the Los Angeles Country Club. Always Figuring Out Just How to Win Title

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Sept. 3. Some of the people who come to see me train and don't know anything about boxing think it is funny because I don't knock out my sparring partners every day. They seem to think I don't fight savagely every day while I am training and hit as hard as I can and, therefore, that I am loafing. Also some of the people who come to see me and who are supposed to know a great deal about boxing think the same thing.

Fighting is one thing and training is another. When I am training I am studying all the time how best to make the fight for which I am preparing. To study carefully I do not have to hit hard and knock out my sparring partners. Yesterday for the first time I worked a little hard and I hurt Mr. Koebels so that today he could not work. Then today again I worked a little harder and people said I was getting better.

When I boxed today with Joe McCann and Jeff Clark I let the punches go a little harder, and after it was over Mr. Vega told me that people were talking about how I was improving. That is very funny because, of course, I was not hitting harder because I was improving, but because the time in my training had come when I should begin to fight a little harder and more savagely with my partners.

REAL STUDY

It is most important of all to me to study how to fight the right way. I have studied fighting just the same way a man who was going to try to be the best professor of mathematics in the world would study figures. I have read everything I could find written about all the great fighters who have lived. I have tried to learn what made them great and what weakness caused the downfall of each one.

I have watched other fighters in the ring and studied moving pictures of great fights. I study not only how to hit and where to hit, but how best to make my opponent afraid or discouraged, for when the spirit is crushed then it is easy to beat down even the strongest body.

Since I have been training at Atlantic City I have been studying the right way to fight Dempsey. In the mornings I study out what I shall try to do just the same as a man who is making plans to build a house studies where he shall put this window and where that door. Each day I make my plan and each day then in the ring I try a blow or a method of defense that I think I may need to use.

FIRPO STUDIES HOW TO WALLOP

I do not try to do it the way I shall do it in the fight. No, I am like the actor when he begins to rehearse. He does not act and speak at first as he will when the play begins. At first he tries this way and that way, and perhaps if people who did not understand that he was just rehearsing could hear him they would laugh and say that he was no actor at all. But perhaps, too, those same people, if they saw him on the night of the beginning of the play, would applaud and cheer and say that he was a great actor.

It may be soon that I will have other sparring partners, but for the present I am satisfied. In a few days I expect Young Bob Fitzsimmons to be here with me. He will box with me, of course, but he does not come just as a sparring partner, but as a friend. When I was just beginning to fight in the United States Fitzsimmons and I worked together for three months and we became great friends. He helped me then in many ways and I think he could help me now.

I want to say that I am satisfied with the way my training is going. I could not ask to feel better two weeks before any fight. I am in perfect physical condition and my plan of battle is nearly made up. I would not have anything different than it is. In twelve days, now, I have the great chance of my life, and I know that I will be prepared to do my best. I am content.

PASADENA EAGLES TRIM WHITE SOX

Driving Slowtimer to the showers with a barrage of hits in the eighth frame, the Pasadena Eagles, formerly Cox-Haas, trimmed Jasper's Los Angeles White Sox, 14 to 5, at Tournament Park yesterday afternoon. Bill Russell, chucking for the Eagles, kept the Sox hits well scattered, and at no time was in any serious danger.

Six home runs were delivered during the pastiming, L. Cox, McNabb, Lee and Joe Pirrone homing for the Eagles and Williams and Jackson for the losers. Lefty Lee's circuit clout came in the eight inning with the bases loaded. The score:

	1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9	R.	H.	E.

SEALS FLIVVER IN TWIN-BILL

Rally in Eighth Wins Opener for Seraphs, 4 to 2

Locals Take Final Game in Easy Fashion, 9 to 3

Champions Fail to Connect When Hits Count

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—The Seals finished very lamely with Los Angeles today, losing both games. They dropped the morning game, 4 to 2, and were routed in the afternoon by a score of 9 to 3. The Seals won the series five games out of nine. They lost the opening game last Tuesday; then they won the next five straight, and wound up by dropping the next three. Try and figure that out.

McWeeney was a good pitcher for seven innings in the morning during which time he held the Angels to one run. In the eighth they got to him, however, for three runs and walked off with the game, because Tom Hughes was a good pitcher for the entire nine innings.

Bert Ellison opened the second inning with a double and Hal Rhyne batted him home. The Angels tied it in the fifth on a double by Krug and a single by Byler, a pop fly that fell safe in left field. Hal Rhyne slammed the ball into the bleachers in the seventh and that looked like the ball game, but McWeeney could not hold the lead and he was beaten in the eighth.

SCORE THREE

McCabe and McAuley got singles; Twombly bunted them along and with the infield pulled in, Hood bounced a hit over Rhyne's head, scoring the two runs. Lindimore batted Hood home and Hughes was on easy street.

In the Seals' half of the eighth Compton got a two-base hit and both Hendryx and Ellison were hit by pitched balls. With the bases full and none out, the Seals had a great chance, but they fell flat. Kamper popped out and McAuley grabbed Rhyne's line drive and completed a double play by stepping on second.

Waner and Courtney were used as pinch-hitters in the ninth and Hughes struck out both of them.

In the afternoon Bob Geary was given a fearful pounding in the two innings and a fraction he worked. Timothy Patrick Buckley, the man who beat the Cubs, was given his chance and he never could get 'em out. T. Patrick furnished splendid batting practice for the Angels and the fans were jeering before the side was retired in the fifth.

Mitchell and Shea pitched the rest of the game and held the Angels in check nicely, but as the Seals could not hit with men on bases Wallace had an easy time of it. The Seals had a raft of men on the paths, but just when a hit would have started an avalanche of runs, the side was retired.

The champions did not look good before the holiday crowd, but no team could look good the way Geary and Buckley were hammered in the early rounds.

FAST DOUBTS LINED UP BY JIM CULLEN

Promoter Jim Cullen has lined up a great main event for his San Fernando fight show tomorrow night. Joe White and Packey McMullen hold the stage in this go and should unfurl a great scrap. Walter Williams, who lost on a foul decision last week to Mike Downey, will have a chance to retrieve the defeat in the semi-windup. Johnny McGraw will throw the leather with Shifty Mickey Rose of St. Paul in the special event.

Other bouts on the card are: Young Kelly vs. Bud Forrester, 126 pounds; Hillard vs. Charlie Green, 130 pounds. Johnny Schiff will referee.

The international field at Meadow Brook, L. I., home of the American cup, emblematic of polo supremacy, is in excellent condition for the coming match games with English and India quartets. Large stands have been erected on either side of the field, with a seating capacity of 12,000.

SPORT SHRAPNEL

By HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

While Prof. Einstein, he of the protruding intellect, probably wouldn't know a baseball if he met one, and wasn't speaking of the great national pastime when he propounded his theory, yet relativity has just about everything to do with this game.

The Vernon-Oakland series was an example of this. Here was a nine-game squabble which couldn't possibly be regarded as of any importance whatsoever. But the fact they were both close to the cellar tended to ginger up to the imagination of the fans.

Hat it been merely a fifth-place team meeting a tail-ender, there probably wouldn't have been much more than a corporal's guard on hand. Likewise, a leader playing a tail-ender would have no significance, although a team out in front draws regardless of whom it is playing.

Close proximity of Vernon and Oakland to the bottom of the league gave the thing somewhat of an equal appearance, and practically made it a battle for the cellar championship. That's more interesting than two clubs meeting who are about midway in the league standing at this stage of the race.

Of course, fans saw the humor of the situation, a thing almost ludricous, this mad struggle of two clubs to stay out of last place, but the alignment injected some zip.

These things are merely an accident of any schedule, but it is a more serious accident when it happens that two clubs battling for the championship do not meet in the last month or so of the race. For such clubs to meet is the real kick of any race. But developments of a season cannot be foreseen. So the schedule is simply drawn, and the rest left to luck.

The kids are having their inning, and doing very well, although a club in this condition can hardly figure on winning a big batch of games from good clubs. True, the league seems to be easier for youngsters to break into than some years ago, but Warner, Slade Zanic and Cruz are good looking rookie players. The latter, a pitcher, was unfortunate in his first three starts in that the club neglected to make a respectable number of runs for him.

Judgment, of course, must be left to the future. It hardly is safe to render a verdict on a kid player inside of two months, or perhaps more, as the average baseball writer learns rather early in his career. They frequently hit over their heads until the pitchers discover any weakness which they may have.

More than once I have had an ultra-enthusiastic fan become insulted because I failed to come through with a redhot prediction of future greatness for some rookie on the strength of one game's showing. Premature publicity of this sore has ruined an army of young athletes. It enlarges the ego of some, which is Greek for hatband, while causing over-nervousness on the part of others due to over-anxiety in their efforts to perform up to the publicity.

If a young player has the goods the manager will find it out, and that makes his election and calling sure. Speak kindly of them at all times and let them work out their salvation, seems to be the sensible course, and the safest of all concerned.

Some who rave over Warner's fielding are not so sure of his hitting. That is a matter for the future to determine. The writer for the first few weeks also was skeptical on that point. A right-handed batter, he got a good many blows to right, which made them look lucky.

Also, his swinging at times reminded me of a loose rear wheel. It appeared to lack accuracy, and when he connected it seemed half by accident. But a close analysis of his style leaves a more favorable impression. He is what might best be described as a "loose swinger." Batters of this type are rare, but generally good. They are liable to hit any sort of a ball to any field. This isn't saying that in the last analysis Jack will or he won't, but he is a distinct and interesting style of batsman with possibilities.

RACES AT ALTOONA POSTPONED

Rain Prevents Holding of Speed Battle at Pine Bowl in Pennsylvania

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ALTOONA (Pa.) Sept. 3.—The big race classic to have been staged here today on the new Altoona Speedway was postponed at the last minute because of rain. The postponement made necessary by this afternoon's downpour, came as a bitter disappointment to race fans, who had eagerly awaited the day of the race. The race drivers, too, expressed disappointment, but will remain here until the weather permits the staging of the event. Cliff Durant and his Durant racing team were primed for today's race, but will be again "raring to go," whatever day is named for the opening of the big bowl.

Since the Olympic Games were revived in 1896, in the six meets held, United States athletes have won forty-seven of the principal events, while Great Britain has won only eight.

DETROIT DOES IT

DETROIT, Sept. 3.—Falling on the offerings of three of four of Chicago's pitchers, Detroit roused from a battling slump and defeated Chicago, 14 to 4, in the morning game of the Labor Day double bill. The Tigers collected twenty hits. Detroit won the second game, 6 to 5. BROWNS DOWNED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Sept. 3.—Although outhit almost two to one, Cleveland defeated St. Louis in this morning's game, 4 to 2. The Indians won in the eighth on doubles by Sewell, Summa and Stephenson. A triple play by the Browns and a spectacular catch by Jamieson featured. Cleveland won the afternoon game, 5 to 2. In the second inning of the morning game Jamieson hit a low liner to Schleibnery who doubled Uhle off first base and then threw to Gerber, who touched second before O'Neil could return to that bag. PIERCE

The Pierce-Arrow Enclosed Drive Limousine is undoubtedly the most usable type of car ever created. In no other way can we account for its widespread acceptance during the last two years.

It is a correctly-appointed Limousine, and yet the turn of a handle converts it into a companionable owner-driven seven-passenger Sedan. The full-width glass partition disappears completely so that the rear and front compartments become one.

The six-cylinder engine has far more power than its rating and is flexible almost beyond belief—because of dual valve and dual ignition, exclusive Pierce-Arrow developments.

We are glad to demonstrate this or any other of the twelve beautiful Pierce-Arrow models. A request will bring a courteous driver to your door.

GOTHAM DOES NOT APPROVE

Possibility of Arranging Go for Tijuana

Tex Rickard is One Smart Fight Promoter

BY HUGH FULLERTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Harry Wills and Jack Dempsey will not fight in New York or New Jersey, either before or after January 1. Outside of this metropolitan district there is much mystery as to why the matc hbetween the white champion and the black man cannot be staged, and today I received from high political circles the inside dope on the situation.

(1.) There is $1,500,000 at stake.

(3.) There is a strong element that opposes Wills because he is a negro.

(4.) Tex Rickard knows that the boxing game is in peril. He has a lot of money invested, he wants to perpetuate his strangle hold on boxing in New York and he has been warned that if he attempts to match Wills and Dempsey the boxing law in New York will be killed. Rickard does not want to jeopardize his monopoly on the fighting game by trying to stage a fight with Will sas the big attraction. He is dodging the issue, and is perfectly willing to let the match go, either to Connecticut or to Mexico, rather than to risk political opposition in New York.

DODGING WILLS

Jack Kearns is dodging Wills. Some people think it is because he fears the big negro. As a matter of fact, Kearns and Dempsey would welcome a Wills match for the simple reason that they think Wills would be the easiest mark they could find. Whether the elderly colored man is easy or not makes no difference, but Kearns and Dempsey believe he would be easier to beat even than Harry Greb would be. Kearns came to New York twice to settle this match and each time ran into the political situation and, as a wise manager, he ducked out of it and let the politicians to fight it out.

CHANCE FOR GO

There is a big chance that Wills may get a chance at Dempsey, but it will not be in New York or New Jersey, simply because the promoters know that it may end all boxing in these two States. They are even shy of Connecticut, which is making a big bid for the fight. Jimmy Coffroth is expected here any minute to try to arrange for a fight between Dempsey and Wills at Tijuana in the winter and if he can show the coin he may get it.

The further they go from New York to hold the mixed match the less chance there is for stopping boxing in New York.

RUN UP TO NET ON MAKING—
① A FORCING SHOT
② A LOB
③ A HARD FIRST SERVE
R. L. MURRAY STARTING FOR THE NET

When is it advisable to run up to the net on receiving a ball?

Answered by

R. LINDLEY MURRAY

Brilliant left-handed player. National champion, 1918. Winner national patriotic singles tournament, 1917. Famed for his speed, especially in serving.

You should run in to the net when you have received a fairly easy short shot and have returned it deep and with enough speed to make it what is called a forcing shot. You should also run in to the net when you have forced your opponent to drop and run in to get one of your lobs. It is also usually desirable to run to the net on making a hard first serve, but rarely, if ever, on a weak second serve.

A lot of general consideration must also be taken into account, for instance whether you are a good volleyer or not, or whether your best strength lies in a baseline driving game.

SWEDISH SWIMMER SETS WORLD RECORD

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 3.—Arne [illegible], Swedish swimmer, made what is claimed to be a world's record for 400 meters yesterday, covering the distance in 5 min. 4-10 sec.

If made in open water this would beat the record held by Johnny Weissmuller of Chicago, who also holds a mark of 5 min. 5½ secs. for the same distance in a pool.

VERNON STAYS SUBMERGED

Loses Odd Tilt of Nine Game Series to Oaks; Wins First Contest But Blows Second

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS

Amid the silence of cold anvils and looms which has ceased to whirr, Vernon and Oakland played two loud ball games. Holiday hurling of the widely billed Walter (Duster) Mails was an awful bust, Walter lapsed into les sthan mediocre form, and the Bengals came up for air long enough to cop the opened, 5 to 4, in ten rounds. Real fireworks were reserved for the shadow spat, which Oakland annexed, 13 to 4. This cute pastime was in charge of two of Vernon's young pitchers, and this seemed to suit the Oak's seasoned batters. In the tender keeping of these young hands, Vernon relapsed into last place, but only by half a game.

P. Samson Schneider was the drum major, and Oakland pitchers the drums. Pete made it an industrious holiday for the visiting twirlers, and played stirring music with his baton as he batted on and on for seven consecutive swats. He hit safely every time up in the opener, winning the game with a triple in the tenth inning. These five blows were succeeded by a triple and a single his first two trips to the pan in the second shift.

ROD'S WEEK

Rod Murphy also topped off a ripping week. Rod in the second game slammed a homer into the right-field bleachers. This was his third home run into the four-bit seats for the series. No other batsman is believed to have done this on a full season's play.

Frank Schellenback asked Essick to let him at Mails, and Bill in consenting made no mistake. While Frank was not at his finest, he didn't allow a hit for four rounds, while Mails was miles off his best form. Also, Frank produced one of his own runs with a triple and but for a tightly blocked plate would have driven in his own winning score.

Vernon put over what was regarded as the deciding tally in the eighth inning, when Schneider doubled, and Bodie singled. This was the second time Pete had crossed the pan. But Cooper and Cather with timely blows tied it in the last of the ninth inning, putting rivals on four-all basis. Don Rader opened the last of the ninth inning with a single, taking third on a sacrifice by Slade. Shellenback then shouldered one through Maderas, who was lucky to slow down the ball. This slowing process was to the advantage of Vernon. Cather had to come far in for the ball, and Rader was rambling fast. Don beat the ball in, but was deflected by Read, who was covering the plate like a double-page ad. When the sphere arrived, Read tagged Don before he could regain the pan.

In the first of the tenth inning, Maderas singled, only to have Mails bunt into a double play. This was the second time Walter had done this. He sacrificed not only himself, but the runner. That crabbed the last Oak chance.

IS UNUSUAL

This brings us down to a triple that was a wonderful double, and to an unusual situation in baseball —a situation which forces the scoring of a two-bagger as a triple. There are contradictions in baseball which apparently cannot be composed. Rod Murphy opened the Vernon half of tenth by rifling a single. Schneider then rammed one to the score board at its extreme right. An ordinary blow to that point for so fast a man as Schneider would be a triple. But Pete poked this one with cannon-like force, and the rebound was quick.

Murphy was away from first with the hit. Then ensued a situation which had the crowd and some of the ball players guessing. As nobody was out, few expected that Murphy would try to score, but he circled third and headed for the plate about the time Cather's throw landed in Ray Brubaker's mitt and about as Pete reached second. The noise was such that Ray could not hear the calls of his team-mates. Figuring that Murphy would not try to score, Brubaker started to make a play on Schneider at second.

MAKES MOTION

He made the motion to throw there, but saw it was too late. Then in the din he sensed the admonition to throw home, and did so, but by this time Murphy was across with the winning run. Rules state that with winning run on, batsman must be given credit for distance the runner advances, which is this case was three bases. So Pete gets a triple on a blow on which he could not possibly have reached third.

Harry Krause had smooth sailing in second, while Oaks were making it rough for Cecil Cruz and Mike File. Visitors counted five in first, one in third and chased Cruz with two more in fourth. Remaining five runs filed past Mike's pitching. The scores:

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 3.—By winning both games today, 4 to 1 in the morning and 6 to 2 in the afternoon, Portland made it seven out of nine from Salt Lake and continued on the heels of Sacramento for second place. In the morning Manager Jimmy Middleton held the Salts to a lone run in the eighth, and in the afternoon Leverenz, though several times in danger, pitched a fine game. Paul Strand made three hits in the two games, bringing his total for the season to 274, which is only fifteen short of his own world's record of 289 in a season, which he established last year. NELSON'S CLUB WHIPS OILERS

Montebello Served Roughly by San Gabriel

First Nationals Defeat T. J. Lawrence Co.

Pasadena Eagles Trim Los Angeles White Sox

BY JOE BUSH

With Williams heaving air-tight ball, and enjoying excellent support, the San Gabriel Merchants yesterday shut-out the Montebello Oilers on the Montebello lot. Harry Nelson's club took the verdict by a 9-to-0 score.

San Gabriel scored early and late and all the time, grabbing the runs in the initial canto, resting in the second, but garnering three in the third, and one in the fourth. The fifth was another cipherless inning for San Gabriel, but in the sixth the Merchants started again, and scored a run in each of the closing frames.

Had Smith, Montebello chucker, enjoyed any kind of support, San Gabriel would not have been so flush with runs. The kid had plenty of stuff on the ball, and looked like a big-leaguer.

Meyers and Vigare of San Gabriel copped the lion's share of the hits, each happing out three safe blows. One of Vigare's hits went for three bases. The score:

Bankers Trim Lawrence Club in Fast Game

The First National Bank club yesterday registered its second win of the week, serving the T. J. Lawrence Company a 7-to-4 defeat at Metropolitan Center. Manager Darr of the Bankers chucked excellent ball, allowing the losers but seven scattered hits and whiffing ten of the "subdividers."

Cook, McElroy and Ewing were the big boys with the bludgeon, the first copping three hits in five chances, and the other two each grabbing off a couple of blows. The game was generously sprinkled with errors by both clubs, the winners being charged with five, and the losers with four.

Charlie Lewis, Lawrence shortstop, was a veritable target for Darr's slants, taking first three times via the hit-by-pitched-ball route. Just what Darr had against Lewis is a secret, but it is known that Charlie retaliated by persuading Kearney, Lawrence chucker, to biff Darr. Even so Darr leads three biffs to one. The score:

EAGLES WHIPPED BY SAN GABRIEL CREW

Playing before a large crowd at Brookside Park Saturday, Harry Nelson's fast San Gabriel Club defeated Sam Cox's Pasadena Eagles, 8 to 6. The winners drove Russell to the showers in the fifth canto, but found Joe Pirrone, who relieved him even easier to hit.

Noriego, pitching superb ball, also enjoyed a field day with the stick, garnering a triple, two doubles, and a single in four trips to the plate. Sorey, Nelson's 19-year-old right-fielder, looked better than ever, poling out two safeties in five trips to the plate. Vigare performed in his usual way at the plate, copping off three hits in five tries.

The defeat of the Eagles at San Gabriel's hands came as a big surprise, in that the Pasadena Club entered the game favorites to cop. The score:

What Was It?

The orderly officer was inspecting rations. "Any complaints?" he asked.

"Just taste this, sir," said Tommy, presenting a cup of liquid.

"It's very good soup," said the officer.

"Yes, sir, but the corporal says it's tea, and the cook says it's coffee, and I found a scrub-brush at the bottom of the kettle."

FAST BOUTS FOR L. A. A. C.

George Blake Lines Up Nine Lively Battles for Athletic Club Boxing Show

A tiptop card of nine scraps, four of which have the fans guessing as to which is entitled to headline position, has been arranged for members and their friends at the Los Angeles Athletic Club next Thursday night. Five southern champions are featured on the bill and five classes are represented from featherweight to light heavyweights.

Julius Jessick, the L.A.A.C. boy who finished off Sailor Moser's amateur career with a clean k.o., will meet National Guard Champion Johnny DeRita in the final bout of the evening. DeRita and Jessick, both of whom have been out of the game for several months, have won all their fights so far this year. The boys are said to be matched to a hair in weight and cleverness and the club wiseacres figure the winner will be compelled to make his own decision. As no draws are allowed the chances are good that somebody will serve as a tack in the carpet.

There will be more fireworks when Ned Golden, Southern California's 120-pound champion, steps into the ring with Sailor Toomey, the lad who fought Pacific Coast Champion Tommy O'Brien of Portland to a four-round standstill in the tournament here early in the year. The sailor named only one condition when asked to fight in the club—that he should be allowed to meet the title-holder. He will know he has been in a fight when he finishes with the little Palestine Irishman, who is noted as a hard and fast hitter.

Fidel LaBarba, undefeated flyweight, will give away poundage in meeting Henry Garcia and, considering the clever Mexican's class, LaBarba has a dangerous job on hand and is doped as no better than an even bet.

The complete bill is as follows:

Eugene Henry vs. Clayton Kirby, 145 pounds.
Vincent Pesta vs. Verne Chute, 145 pounds.
Elmer Gougeon vs. Al Leonard, 135 pounds.
Jack Fields vs. Ted Henry, 112 pounds.
Ad Allegrini vs. Billy Burke, 165 pounds.
Ned Golden vs. Sailor Toumey, 120 pounds.
Fidel La Barba vs. Henry Garcia, 118 pounds.
Nate Sicti vs. Eddie Gleason, 130 pounds.

Cal Delaney to Box Main Go at Legion

Matchmaker Tom Kennedy has lined up a set of bouts that should pack the Hollywood American Legion stadium Friday night, with a likelihood of several hundred fans being turned away. Cal. Delaney of Cleveland, an eastern lightweight with a great record, has been matched with popular Frankie Farren in the main event. Delaney has not only boxed but holds decisions over practically all of the prominent eastern boys of his weight, and is sure to give the San Francisco fighter a real battle.

Jimmy Hackley, known to all of the fans as a great little scrapper, will box the semi-wind-up with Lee Moore, training mate of Jack Dempsey's. Moore is a tough boy, and Hackley will have his hands full if he is to earn a verdict. Eddie McGovern, who last week served Tom Kelley a good beating at Hollywood, will reappear in Friday's special event, mixing with the sensational local middleweight, "Racehorse" Roberts. McGovern will find in "Racehorse" a tough and heavier opponent than he did in Kelley.

Other bouts on the card are: Young Papke vs. Mike Doyle, 133 pounds; Johnny Villardi vs. Soldier Brown, catchweights; Soldier Mosher vs. Battling Ward, 133 pounds, and Dixie La Hood vs. Dickie Dixon, 117 pounds.

Bethlehem Steel Company F. C. soccer management will strive to regain the position of leader in soccer football during the 1923-24 season. They are signing up crack players who recently arrived from Great Britain, the home of the kicking style of football. Their latest star is 25-year-old Walter Jackson, former centerforward of the Kilmarnock team of Scotand. Bethlehem in addition to membership in the American League, the professional organization, will compete in the national and American cup tourneys.

Carrigan Will Tackle Nelson in Golf Final

Semifinal rounds in the Bishop-Fertig-Morgan trophy tournament at the California Country Club yesterday resulted in victories for William E. Carrigan and Dr. Nelson, who will meet in the final round. Carrigan defeated C. M. Buck 3 up, while Dr. Nelson eliminated B. L. Gubser, 2 up.

The vice-president's team of thirty-two men, led by Capt. Hurst, triumphed over the president's representatives under John Fleming in a special series of matches yesterday, 16 to 8. As a result the losing team will be hosts to the victors at a steak dinner in a short time.

Sporting features including college football games and automobile races will be presented during the Texas Cotton Palace Exposition at Waco October 20 to November 4.

Leonard and Dundee Ready for Big Bout

BY HARRY NEWMAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Benny Leonard and Johnny Dundee today topped off their training and will seek to settle the much-mooted question as to which is the better boxer. At the Yankee Ball Park Wednesday night the old rivals will get going in a 15-round affair with the lightweight title at stake. The two have met eight times previously without coming to any understanding in the matter of superiority. This time it is going to be different, both say in the orthodox prefight manner.

Leonard rules a big favorite, although the Dundee supporters are snapping at some of the fancy prices being quoted. Dundee will still retain his featherweight title whether or not he is on his feet at the end of the bout, but Leonard is taking a chance with his crown.

Upside Down to Prove Its Strength

We make this test at our store to show the strong, rigid body construction of the Hudson and Essex Coaches.

In this position it is supporting a crushing load of 2700 pounds. Come, see it. Test the doors and windows, which operate with ease, showing total absence of body strain.

There is also on display a stripped Coach body showing the design and type of construction. High cost of closed bodies has been due to uneconomical design, limited production and fancy fittings. The design of the Coach reduced manufacturing costs. Its sales volume, the largest enjoyed by any closed car of its price, and the elimination of non-essential fittings makes its cost but little above the open car price.

MOTHER-IN-LAW JOKE ATTACKED

Mrs. Coolidge's Parent is After Old Jest

Her Disapproval Beginning of Movement

New York First Point of National Onslaught

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The ancient mother-in-law wheeze which has been bread and shoes to the children of cartoonists and professional jesters for centuries, has been frowned upon by a society recently organized in Boston. The new organization would not have jests made at the expense of mothers-in-law, but praises uttered in their honor. To begin with it assumes that mothers-in-law are human, and has focussed its attention upon the legalization of a "Mother-in-Law Day" when women who have borne the burden of almost the earliest "chestnut shall come into their own.

It all began when Mrs. Lemira A. Goodhue, President Coolidge's own mother-in-law, was quoted by a Boston paper as saying: "I should like to see a national Mother-in-Law Day instituted." That made the Boston mothers-in-law wake up to possibilities. They felt they had smarted under the humoristic pen long enough.

MEETING IS HELD

A tentative meeting was held, speeches were made denouncing vaudevillainous wits and comic artists. They adopted a resolution indorsing Mrs. Goodhue's attitude. Plans were then laid to carry the mother-in-law banner into the farthermost regions of the land.

New York is the first objective of the invasion. Mrs. Clara A. Griswold, president of the association, has opened headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and during the next fortnight will champion the cause against local cartoonists. She already has written to Mayor Hylan for an indorsement of the project, and is now in communication with the Daughtres of the American Revolution and federations of womens' clubs through which she expects to reach the West and South.

The President's mother-in-law has been offered the honory presidency of the organization.

"Many young people today," Mrs. Griswold said, "regard mothers-in-law as necessary evils. This point of view is fostered largely by vaudeville acts and comic papers. The young husbands and wives should be just as considerate toward mothers-in-law as they expect mothers-in-law to be toward them.

FOR MOTHERS-IN-LAW

"Some sweet and simple courtesy shown to mothers-in-law on one particular day would promote better feelings all around. Mothers-in-law like to be remembered too."

Mrs. Griswold, a mother-in-law herself, does not belive that the actual presence of the mother-in-law in the married home induces friendly relations. Visits of this nature should be limited to one a week, she declares.

Mrs. Griswold has no "politics." Outside of the mother-in-law question which is now taking the greater part of her time she confesses to an interest in ancient history, particularly the customs, habits and beliefs of ancient people. She would not discuss the Greek or Egyptian attitude towards mothers-in-law.

"My concern is with mothers-in-law today," she said, "and particularly with the abolition of that ancient joke."

GLENDALE'S FIRE FIGHTERS SAVED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

GLENDALE (Ariz.) Sept. 3.—The people of Glendale saved their fire department from injury and wreck through accident in the course of a department drill. Gasoline, slopping from an unclosed truck tank vent, caught fire. The members of the department jumped and most of them were hurt on contact with the pavement. The driver pluckily leaped to the seat again, but fell once more after he had headed the machine down street. Then the populace closed in, stopped the car, extinguished the blaze and bound up the wounds of the injured.

"UMBRELLA MIKE" BOYLE ARRESTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WAUKEGAN (Ill.) Sept. 3.—"Umbrella Mike" Boyle, once pardoned by President Wilson, and who has been a fugitive from justice since June, was locked up in the County Jail here tonight to serve a six months' sentence for contempt of court. The sentence was imposed last June, when Boyle refused to answer questions about alleged jury fixing in the acquittal of Gov. Small on the ground that he might incriminate himself. The sentence also carried a fine of $100. Boyle has been hiding in Wisconsin and Minnesita, with detectives constantly on his trial. Early this morning he was captured by two operatives at Lake Ocauchee, a resort near Oconomowoc, Wis.

COCHISE COUNTY'S CONVICTIONS SLOW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOMBSTONE (Ariz.) Sept. 3.—Superior Judge A. C. Lockwood has compiled statistics on the percentage of convictions in the Cochise county courts within the past ten years. The average is 47.3 per cent. The highest was in the earlier fiscal year, ending in 1918, when there was drop from 79 per cent to 26, though the lowest was in 1920, only 17 per cent. For the past fiscal year only about one criminal case in three ended in conviction, a condition against which the judge and county attorney now are appealing to the people.

Magistrate Threatened

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Sept. 3.—An hour before he was to dispose of the case of W. Schott, charged with violation of the prohibition laws, Magistrate Albert Nisbet received a letter threatening him with death if he fined the defendant more than $50.

ANGIER DUKE DROWNED BY UPSET BOAT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

GREENWICH (Ct.) Sept. 3.—Angier B. Duke, son of the late Benjamin Duke, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer, was drowned off the Indian Harbor Yacht Club float early today, after the upset of a rowboat. Mr. Duke was 39 years of age and made his home in New York City and Port Washington, L. I.

Mr. Duke, with two other men and three women, reached the yacht float in a motor car about 2:30 a.m. and were to be taken in a rowboat to Mr. Duke's yacht, the Althea, which was anchored in the harbor. Whoever was the last to step into the boat upset it, throwing all into the water.

All reached the float except Duke, who apparently struck his head on the boat and did not rise. Grappling irons failed to find the body and a diver was sent for. Identity of the other members of the party was not disclosed.

Mr. Duke was very well known in New York and Newport society, having attracted a wide acquaintance. He was a member of the following clubs: Calumet, Racquet and Tennis, Rumpson Country of New Jersey, Sleepy Hollow and Ardsley Country in New York and the Automobile Club of America.

PLAN TO ATTACK TARIFF CLAUSES

INTEREST NOW CENTERS ON FIGHT OVER FLEXIBLE PROVISIONS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The Fordney-McCumber Tariff Act has provided a number of marks for the legal fraternity to shoot at. Of outstanding prominence are the flexible and retaliatory clauses. Particular interest is being manifested in the forthcoming attacks on the flexible provisions. These represent an entirely new method of tariff regulation for the United States. That they will be subjected to a severe test in the courts is a foregone conclusion, and sooner or later they will have to be passed upon by a United States Supreme Court.

The plans to attack these provisions are proceeding quietly. Prominent lawyers express the opinion that Congress has no power to delegate to the President either the authority to change tariff rates or certain discretion to determine the changes that may be made. This contention is made regardless of the idea that the President would be likely to make any sharp reduction in rates.

Congress alone is authorized under the Constitution to raise revenue, and by reason of the fact that changes in import duties necessarily would affect revenue, it is held it is illegally abandoning its rights to the President in authorizing him to change duties. Despite this argument, President Harding was convinced that the flexible provisions were constitutional, and insisted on their being incorporated in the Tariff Act.

The present tariff law is declared by authorities to be more rigid than any previous tariff act in the history of the United States in providing the President with strong weapons against discriminatory action by foreign countries.

Mother-in-Law of Greek Ruler Wins French Aid

[BY CABLE--EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Sept. 3.—It has been learned that the recent visit of Queen Marie of Rumania to Paris was to solicit French recognition for King George II of Greece, who recently married her daughter.

After proving adamant against the claims of Kings Constantine and Alexander, it is understood that France, in the person of Premier Poincare, has promised that diplomatic relations between Athens and Paris will be resumed at an early date.

STATISTICS PROVE BREAD IS TOO HIGH

FARMER GETS 1-6 CENT FOR GRAIN USED IN MAKING A 10-CENT LOAF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Wheat used in making a 10-cent loaf of bread nets the farmer 1-6 cent, according to figures of the American Farm Bureau Federation made public today.

"The price of grain to the farmer must be raised 100 per cent or the price of bread must be lowered," Samuel Guard, official of the federation, said in making the announcement. "The farmer is entitled to 28 per cent of the price of bread, according to statistics of the agricultural inquiry commission. If the farmer is getting his just proportion now, the consumer should pay just a fraction more than 5 cents."

It is explained that a barrel of flour, weighing 195 pounds, is obtained from four and one-half bushels of wheat and will make 280 loaves of bread. The farmer only gets $4.50 for the wheat it takes to make 280 loaves of bread.

HELEN WAINWRIGHT'S POOL RECORD BROKEN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

Helen Wainwright's world's record for the 500-yard short-pool swim was broken today by Miss Gertrude Ederle of New York, who negotiated the distance in 6m. 52s. The former record was 6m. 55 4-5s. She also broke six records for shorter records in the race, which was held in the Olympia pool.

EXECUTIVE MANSION IS TO REOPEN

Official Mourning for Harding Ends, but Social Gayety is Not Planned

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Although the period of official mourning for the late President Harding closed yesterday and the flags, which have been at half-staff for a month, fly at full staff today, there will be no immediate resumption of social activity at the White House. The President and Mrs. Coolidge feel too deep and personal a sorrow for the death of their friend and the nation's Chief Executive to have any heart for formal festivities so soon and, besides, Mrs. Coolidge is in mourning for her father, whose death preceded that of President Harding by but a few weeks. Tomorrow, however, the State departments of the White House, which have been closed for the last month, will be thrown open to visitors.

The two sons of the President and Mrs. Coolidge, John and Calvin, Jr., arrived at the White House last night. It has not yet been decided whether they will remain until the beginning of the fall term at Mercersburg Academy, where they are students, or whether they will first make a visit tor two.

Mrs. Warren G. Harding, now at Friendship, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, where she has been since leaving the White House, probably will leave the middle of this week for Marion. She will be the guest there of Brig.-Gen. Charles F. Sawyer, White House physician.

George B. Christian, Jr., secretary of the late President Harding, will leave Washington Wednesday, accompanied by Mrs. Christian, for Bar Harbor, where they will remain for a month.

SAYS SHE TOOK BABY TO MAKE LOVER WED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Sept. 3.—Held on the charge of stealing five-week-old Daniel D. Madden, Jr., from his parents' home Saturday after being hired as a nursemaid, Mamie Fuches today told the police that mother love caused her to take the infant. She said her own baby had died nine days ago and that the Madden child looked so much like her own baby that she could not resist taking him. After her arrest yesterday, twelve hours after the kidnaping, the woman told the police she had taken the child in order to force a lover to marry her under the pretense that the child was theirs. When obtaining employment at the Madden home she gave the name of Mamie Moore. Police today declared they had proof that the woman had never been a mother.

TO ADVOCATE WORLD COURT

International Veterans Get American Program

Yankees Would Limit Powers of Tribunal

Federation's Assessments Are Found Too Low

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BRUSSELS, Sept. 3.—The program which the American delegation will present to the fourth congress of the International Federation of War Veterans, in session here, was made public today. The United States' representatives will advocate:

(1.) Support of the International Court of Justice.

(2.) Modification of international law.

(3.) Education in the United States of a certain number of British, French, Italian and other youths of the allied nations, and reciprocal advantages for American students in these countries.

The program includes no recommendation that the World Court be provided with the physical power of coercing governments to appear before it or of having its judgments executed when pronounced; but it is understood that the American delegation favors the French plan for an international police force.

The federation's financial report disclosed that the assessments of various countries were insufficient and Gen. Hoffman and Col. Crossfield made assurances that their organizations would remedy this condition.

It is understood that they plan to calculate the assessments at the normal rate of exchange so that if the French, Belgians and Italians contribute 25 francs or lires the Americans and British will be assessed $5 and £1 respectively so that the Anglo-Saxon payments will be four or five times greater than the continental European.

Efforts to have the federation represented in the League of Nations have been practically abandoned in view of the qualifications for League membership defined by the Treaty of Versailles, but negotiations for participation in the League's international labor bureau are proceeding favorably and it is hoped will be successful.

NOTICIAS MUNDIALES DE ULTIMA HORA

En obsequio a nuestros numerosos amigos de habla española, y para beneficio de los lectores americanos del Times que estudien esa lengua, publicamos diariamente esta columna en castellano, con un extracto de las más importantes noticias de última hora.

Buena parte del futuro progreso de Los Angeles, que es la metrópoli de los Estados Unidos que más cercana se halla a territorio latino-americano, habrá de depender de las relaciones que logremos establecer con nuestras hermanas, las repúblicas del sur. Para que lleguen a ser enteramente cordiales, no hay nada tan importante como que nuestros ciudadanos se familiaricen con la lengua castellana. Tan se dan cuenta de este hecho nuestros habitantes, que hay al presente más de 25,000 personas que estudian español en Los Angeles. A ellas les conviene leer todos los días esta columna, en la que encontrarán español correcto y enteramente moderno.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

Noticias de Washington

WASHINGTON, septiembre 3.—El Presidente Coolidge ha publicado una proclama en la que solicita socorros para ayuda de los japoneses. Está poniendo en juego todos los recursos del gobierno para llegar hasta las víctimas del terremoto, el incendio y la inundación, y darles auxilios. Las comunicaciones aún no se reanudan, por lo que, tanto el Ministerio de Estado, como la Embajada Japonesa, ignoran cual haya sido la suerte de los que se hallaban en el área afectada.

Presentan sus Credenciales los Encargados de Negocios

La Gran Bretaña Apoyará a la Liga

Telegrama de la Prensa Asociada.—Alarmada por los informes de que el gobierno italiano ha notificado a Grecia que no hará caso de la decisión de la Liga de las Naciones en la disputa actual, y de que el representante de Italia en Ginebra ha recibido instrucciones para que se abstenga de discutir allí ese asunto, la Gran Bretaña ha anunciado que pondrá todo el peso de su influencia del lado de la Liga. En caso de que fracase la Liga, dícese que la Gran Bretaña está preparada para dar otros pasos que solucionen la controversia.

Grecia, empero, ha aceptado la jurisdicción del Concejo Interaliado de Embajadores, además de la de la Liga de las Naciones, y en París se cree que el gobierno de Roma escuchará igualmente los decretos de los embajadores, en caso de que los llegue a haber.

Cesación Condicional de la Resistencia Pasiva

STUTTGART (Alemania) septiembre 3.—Declaró en un discurso el Canciller Stresemann que se hará cesar la resistencia pasiva en el Ruhr, tan pronto como se den seguridades a Alemania de que se restaurarán su soberanía y su autoridad en la Renania. Considera esto una condición fundamental para que puedan reanudarse los pagos de las reparaciones.

NOTAS LOCALES

Témese que Hayan Perecido en el Japón Varios Misioneros de Sudcalifornia

El Reverendo S. R. McLennan, pastor de la Primera Iglesia Presbiteriana de Hollywood, expresó ayer sus temores de que el Reverendo Willis C. Lamott y su esposa, misioneros de Los Angeles en Tokio, hayan corrido la suerte de millares de otras gentes en la damnificada ciudad. El Sr. y la Sra. Lamott estaban en Tokio desde hacía cuatro años, donde enseñaban en el seminario teológico Meiji Gakuin. Se dedicaban a sus labores bajo los auspicios de la Dirección de Misiones Presbiterianas de América, y tenían la ayuda de la Primera Iglesia Presbiteriana de Hollywood.

Otra víctima probable del desastre es la Srita. Theodora Macomber, de Franklin Circle, Hollywood, quien también era miembro de la citada iglesia presbiteriana, y salió de Los Angeles hace poco para ir a enseñar en una escuela de misión en Corea. Supónese que la Srita. Macomber haya desembarcado en Yokohama un día antes del terremoto.

La Sra. Marshall C. Hayes, de Pasadena, Presidenta de la Sociedad de Misioneras en el Extranjero, manifestó ayer su opinión de que probablemente han muerto también, por causa del sismo, la ola de marea, o el fuego, muchos otros misioneros presbiterianos que de California se fueron al Japón. Entre los que han sido tal vez víctimas del siniestro se cuentan el Reverendo Gordon Chapman y su señora, que fueron enviados a Tokio en 1921 por la Dirección Presbiteriana de Misiones.

DEPORTES

Tennis

FOREST HILLS (N. Y.) septiembre 3.—William M. Johnston, de California, jugando espléndidamente, derrotó esta tarde a John B. Hawkes, de Australia, en el cuarto match de la serie de tandas de reto de la copa Davis, en Forest Hills, por anotación de 6-0, 6-2, 6-1, y dejó asegurado que la copa permanezca en América. El match fué presenciado por una muchedumbre de 13,000 espectadores. En el match final del certamen de la copa Davis, William Tilden venció a J. C. Anderson, capitán del equipo australiano.

Baseball

Los Angeles le ganó ayer dos juegos a San Francisco, en la ciudad de la bahía, en tanto que Vernon compartía con Oakland un doble partido en el parque Washington. Oakland perdió el primer juego por 5 a 4; pero ganó el segundo por 13 a 4, llevándose el juego non de la serie de nueve que acaba de terminarse.

Natación

DOVER (Inglaterra) septiembre 3.—Carbis Walker, de Cleveland, Ohio, fué recogido a 3 1-2 millas de la costa de Dover, poco después de las dos de la tarde, hora a la que el frío ya no le permitió continuar su viaje a nado a través del canal de la Mancha. Se echó al agua en el lado de Dover, a la una de la tarde, y nadó dos millas en la primera hora.

NUMERO 39

Pláticas Diarias en Español por el Prof. R. Guerrero, del Departamento Español de "The Times"

Haré diversos comentarios sobre la escena del tranvía, que pongan en claro para el lector angloamericano algunas de las palabras y expresiones usadas por los actores que en dicha escena figuran.

Cuando de tranvías se habla, decir en Madrid "un 3", es designar el que tal número lleva, y que hace el recorrido entre la "Puerta del Sol" y el barrio de Salamanca. En Los Angeles, los tranvías amarillos se distinguen por las grandes letras que llevan en la parte superior delantera y trasera del coche, y que por la noche van iluminadas. Si se nos preguntara aquí. ¿Qué tranvía está usted esperando?" podríamos contestar: "Espero el 'M' ", o "espero el 'P', el 'A', etc."

Dice Escalante (el autor de la escena) que el "3" enfila la recta de Recoletos. En efecto, después de bajar por la suntuosa calle de Alcalá, vuelve sobre la izquierda y sigue la hermosa avenida que se llama "Paseo de Recoletos" y que se extiende larguísimo trecho en línea recta. En nuestra populosa Los Angeles diríamos que el "P", después de bajar por Broadway hasta su esquina con Pico, enfila toda la calle de Pico. El Diccionario de la Academia no hace especial mención de esta acepción del verbo "enfilar", usadísima en España, y que me parece muy expresiva.

A la frase siguiente le da Escalante un desarrollo inusitado en la conversación ordinaria. A menos que ex profeso queramos hablar con difusión, nunca diremos al conversar: En el reloj del Banco de España falta un cuarto de hora para que suenen las dos de la tarde; diríamos simplemente a nuestro interlocutor: "En el reloj del Banco de España falta un cuarto para las dos", o ~~son~~ las dos menos cuarto"; del mismo modo que una persona de lengua inglesa no diría en el diálogo: "In the clock of the Bank of Spain, it lacks a quarter of an hour of striking two in the afternoon". Se conformará con decir: "It is a quarter to two", o "It lacks a quarter of two".

SCOTT BROS. ANNOUNCE A GIGANTIC REMOVAL SALE

A STUPENDOUS MERCHANDISE EVENT

With An Unusual Opportunity To Buy Real High Class Standard Makes of Men's Clothing and Furnishings at a Remarkable Sacrifice in Price.

WITHOUT RESERVE—WITHOUT ANY RESTRICTIONS WHATSOEVER—THIS ENTIRE SUPERB STOCK OF MEN'S APPAREL IS TO BE SOLD NOT FOR WHAT IT IS WORTH—BUT FOR WHAT IT WILL BRING

This store will be turned into a clothing scene of the most wonderful importance ever displayed and spread before the buying public of Los Angeles. Not the ordinary kind of clothing and furnishings that you would expect to find at a sale, but America's highest grade standard apparel at prices that point plainly to a terrific sacrifice in price.

People, It's Like Handing You Money

LEASE EXPIRES—WE ARE GOING TO MOVE

We will move nothing but our good name as we will open our new store in a few weeks at 719-721 So. Hill St. now occupied by Mathews Paint Co. with an entirely new stock of merchandise.

OUR STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC

In the past 22 years we have with great pains and extraordinary attentiveness established a lucrative business and enviable reputation. Reduction sales are very common and before bringing to the notice of our many friends and customers an advertisement of this character, we hesitated, particularly for the reason that so many merchants often resort to statements that frequently mislead and always result in loss of confidence. We have leased newer and larger quarters at 719-721 South Hill Street, now occupied by the Mathews Paint Company, and in a few weeks intend to open one of the finest men's stores in Southern California. As we intend to open our new store with an entirely new stock of merchandise, it therefore makes it absolutely necessary to close out every last dollar's worth of our present stock as soon as possible, utterly regardless of the loss. This sale, when the doors are opened, shall present this stock exactly as represented, and when merchandise of this quality and reliability which is sold here, and which has enabled us to do business, and to constantly enlarge, is offered at prices which are quoted, we feel that such facts should receive the largest circulation. We assure you upon our reputation of 22 years of square dealing that we have never attempted anything so far reaching and drastic as this sale will be, that every word of this advertisement is true. There will be no let-up to the sacrifice until every shelf and rack is swept clean of every dollar's worth of merchandise. Time is short and quick action is imperative; therefore when we say that we are placing the entire stock on sale to the people at a tremendous sacrifice in prices, and that nothing will be reserved, it is the plain unvarnished truth.

(Signed) SCOTT BROS.

Instruments Record 8331 in Seven Years

Disturbances More Frequent in Certain Areas

Causes Are Uncertain; Many Theories Advanced

Earthquakes are more frequent in the region of Japan than in any other section of the world, according to encyclopedic articles by prominent scientists, such as C. E. Dutton, J. Milne, W. H. Hobbs and T. J. J. See. In the seven years from 1885 to 1892, 8331 temblors were recorded, an average of more than 1000 a year, and from three to four vibrations a day.

Many of these, of course, were so slight that only sensitive seismographic needles recorded them; others were of sufficient magnitude to make themselves felt; few were of dangerous intensity.

CAUSE IS MYSTERY

The ultimate cause of earthquakes has long been one of the most baffling mysteries facing solution by science.

The phenomenon of an earthquake of proportions at all sensible is of so startling a nature that it must necessarily leave a lasting impression on the human mind. Invariably, if the shock be severe enough, it at once suggests the "crack of doom." Primitive minds naturally referred the strange and sudden earth tremblings to the power of restless subterranean monsters, or to the wrath of offended or malicious gods. Earthquakes and volcanic activity were very likely the causes for the creation and development of such underground gods as Pluto, Loki and Vulcan.

The Hebrew Decalogue reflects the same idea. "Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, nor any likeness of anything . . . that is in the earth beneath, nor in the waters under the earth." Primitive Japanese myths declared the existence under the island of an enormous catfish, which frequently shook the earth in its endeavors to escape, while myths of other countries supplant this by such animals as the mole, the hog, or the elephant.

Even in civilized countries, the idea of a supernatural power as the cause of earthquakes, still prevails among unenlightened or religiously prejudiced classes. It was this idea that led American clergymen to ascribe the great San Francisco disaster of 1906 to the wrath of God. The city was pictured as more wicked than Sodom and Gomorrah, and its partial destruction was taken by them as a warning to the world.

RELIGION BLAMED

Similarly in the Lisbon destruction of 1755, the fact that the great mass of its inhabitants were Catholics was said by English clergymen to be sufficient cause for a visitation from God. The surviving inhabitants, on the other hand, believed the quake was caused by the presence of Protestant heretics in the town, and a number of these were, therefore, forcibly baptized.

Modern science, however, has studied the earthquake as resulting from the action of natural laws and forces, and gradually, as scientific knowledge increases and new seismological instruments are invented, theories approaching a definite solution of the problem are devised.

Faulting of the earth in a definite earthquake zone is one of these which has been given most serious attention. A fault is a break in a stratum of rock, so decided that the stratum on one side of the fault is perceptibly lower than the stratum on the other. The fault is, of course, caused by the settling of the crust of the earth. Were an underground cavern suddenly to cave in, rock strata above the cavern would necessarily break off and drop down to a lower level than that of the contiguous strata with which they were originally connected with, and a fault would thus be created.

TEMPERATURE INCREASES

That the interior of the earth is composed of rock and metals at a high temperature, and under high pressure, is a generally accepted fact. The temperature gradually increases with every few hundred feet in depth of a mine. It is this fact that leads scientists to believe that a great deal of heat is radiated from the inner portions of the earth through the earth's outer crust and dissipated into the air. As the earth's interior losses its heat, it must gradually contract, in accordance with the accepted laws of expansion and contraction of metals.

The crust of the earth, though of a less viscuous nature than the interior, must nevertheless accommodate itself to the earth's interior form. The cold crust must necessarily warp the molten interior like a closely fitting garment, and as the inner earth contracts, so must the crust also. Hence, faulting of the earth is a phenomenon of frequent occurrence. Sometimes it is a very slow process, almost unaccompanied by earth temblors; sometimes, in regions where the crust is of a more rigid nature, the fault occurs suddenly, and a violent shock is the result.

In the Island of Japan, along the coasts of the Americas, and in Italy, where high mountain ranges frequently rise up almost out of the sea, with a consequent very uneven pressure on the interior, faulting is most frequent, due to the instability existent in the very nature of the case. Hence it is that earthquakes are largely confined to zones of uneven stress, and are especially frequent in the region of Japan, where great mountains (Fujiyama is 12,370 feet in height) rise out of an ocean said to be five miles or more in depth.

Another theory, recently developed by Prof. T. J. J. See, refers earthquakes and the formation of volcanoes to the same original cause. It is a well-known fact that the pressure at the depths of the ocean is of an incomprehensibly enormous magnitude. Under this tremendous pressure, Prof. See believes, water is sometimes forced through the crust of the earth into the interior, where it is converted into an explosive force by the enormous temperatures that exist there. It then penetrates under the land forming the coast, where its tremendous explosive power is expanded in the formation of mountain ranges and volcanoes. This theory is well supported by the topography of Japan and the Chilean coast.

LONE OPERATOR TELLS OF QUAKE

Japanese Radio Man Is Only Link to Rest of World

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3. Through T. Yonemura, an obscure Japanese radio operator and the only human link between Japan and the rest of the world after Saturday's devastating earthquake, came the first and subsequent news of the catastrophe that had struck the Island Empire.

Yonemura is operator at Tomioka on the Japanese west coast, 144 miles north of Tokio. By some strange freak this station, whose sending mast towers 660 feet into the air, was spared by the earthquake which destroyed all other means of communication.

The panic-stricken refugees pouring past his post apprised Yomemura of the fate of Tokio and Yokohama, and Yonemura communicated to the world, through the Radio Corporation station in San Francisco, details of probably the greatest disaster of all history.

NIPPON PRINCE IS AMONG DEAD

Matsukata Was Distinguished as Statesman

Had Leading Part in Japan's Modern History

Former Premier and Keeper of Privy Seal

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

NAGASAKI (Japan) Sept. 3.—Prince Masayoshi Matsukata, former premier and lord keeper of the privy seal, has died of injuries suffered in the earthquake, according to a report received by the Nagoya Railway Bureau.

Prince Matsukata, one of the few remaining Japanese genro, or elder statesmen, was the founder of Japanese finance. He was a member of the ancient feudal clan of Satsuma from whose descendants spring the greater number of officers of the Japanese navy. He was born in February, 1835.

He served under Prince Shimazu, the feudal lord of Satsuma, and fought in the Japanese civil war of restoration. When the imperial government returned to power, taking the place of the Shoguns, he entered the government service as a prefectural governor and later became attached to the department of finance under the then Minister, Count Shigenobu Okuma. With Count Okuma he laid the foundations for a stable state finance which was in chaotic condition on account of the feudal system of administration. A notable achievement of Matsukata was the organization of a land tax.

SENT TO FRANCE

In 1879 he was dispatched to France as vice-president of the Japanese section of the Paris Exposition. On his return he was appointed home minister and contributed to national progress by reorganizing the post and telegraph system of the empire. In the cabinet organization of 1881 he was made Minister of Finance with the additional post of Councillor of State. During the following ten years he remained in the post despite frequent cabinet changes. One of his great steps in strengthening national finances was the organization of the Bank of Japan and of a stable currency system. He brought about the redemption of bonds issued by the state to feudal lords in payment of immense tracts of lands which they held in or near the big cities. He also established a series of national banks.

Historical, also, was his work in readjusting the paper currency. Paper money had fallen below par in consequence of excessive issue during the civil war and Matsukata brought about a restoration of its value. A steady money market facilitated commercial and industrial development. It was during this period that many enterprises, notably railways, spinning and other manufacturing industries sprang up and prospered. Meanwhile the country's foreign commerce made a marked progress.

OPENED LEGATIONS

It was Matsukata who opened Japanese legations at New York, London and Lyons, the largest markets for Japanese exports at the time. He inaugurated the system of foreign export exchange as a means to encourage Japan's exports and to absorb specie from abroad in view of the scarce production of gold and silver in Japan. The policy proved a success. The government was able to accumulate about 43,000,000 yen specie in the treasury at the end of 1885.

Matsukata's second ministry in 1896-97 again emphasized his right to be called the founder of Japanese finance, for it was then that he established a system of gold standard for the empire. He was Finance Minister in the succeeding Yamagata Cabinet and in 1902 traveled extensively through the United States and Europe. During the Russo-Japanese War he was made a Marquis for meritorious service, and some years later was appointed Lord Keeper of the Privy Seal. In 1922 he retired from the latter office and was elevated to the peerage, taking the title of Prince Matsukata.

Prince Matsukata was the head of a numerous family. It is generally believed that his children and grandchildren number between sixty and eighty. Several of his sons are leading figures in the Japanese business world.

COURT PLAN IS ATTACKED BY JOHNSON

Senator Says Also "Interests" Are Blocking Progressive Legislation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Coincident defense and explanation of his attitude toward the League of Nations and its World Court and a warning that "hostile interests" were directing insidious attacks against Progressive legislation were the keynotes of an address to a Labor Day mass meeting tonight by Senator Hiram W. Johnson.

Senator Johnson, in speaking of progressive legislation, averred that "the attacking forces extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific;" that they will "make their attack insiduously, covertly and indirectly."

Speaking of the League, the Senator voiced a belief that many of its advocates were "actuated not by patriotism but by profit." "Europe wishes aid in money or in men," he continued. "I decline either to lend our money or in their quarrels to send another man."

He doubted the sincerity of the World Court, averring it "the plaything of diplomats, the pawn of foreign offices." Pointing to the Turko-Greece war, the French invasion of the Ruhr and other instances, he proclaimed his belief that the League could not function as a war-preventing agency. "No organization or association of nations, no ham-string court of either, will ever make the slightest advance until secret diplomacy is ended and European chancellories reformed," was his closing verdict.

HOLIDAY SAVED MANY JAPANESE

Tokio Resident Says Large Buildings Were Empty

Film Manager Fears Home Has Been Destroyed

Believes American Embassy is in Ruins

The fact that the 1st inst. the date of the earthquake in Japan, was a holiday saved many lives, in the opinion of Edward B. Rowe of Tokio, now a Los Angeles visitor and a guest at the Alexandria.

"The first and the fifteenth of every month is a day of rest and recreation in Japan," said Mr. Rowe. "These days are observed as Sunday is in the United States. No work is done and the people either spend the time at home or engage in recreational diversions. For this reason most of the business buildings were abandoned and the destruction of homes, which are for the most part of flimsy construction, would not be so fatal as that of the more substantial structures."

Mr. Rowe, who is manager in Japan for the Universal Pictures Corporation, was preparing to depart for Tokio when the news of the disaster was reported. He is an American and has been a resident of the Japanese capital for seven years.

"I am expecting advices from Tokio soon in regard to the situation, but have heard nothing thus far," he said. "From what I can learn from newspaper dispatches it is apparent that our home has been destroyed. It was near the American Embassy situated in one of the stricken areas. I understand that there is a question as to whether or not the Embassy building was saved, but if the reports are correct it must have been destroyed. It was an old and somewhat decrepit wooden building and could not possibly have withstood a great shock."

According to Rowe, 99 per cent of all buildings in Tokio, which, with its suburbs, he says numbered over 5,000,000 inhabitants, were of wooden construction.

"They were built to withstand earthquake shocks and for that reason were flimsy," he said. "Tremors of the earth occur every day in some parts of Japan. I should say that we experienced them in Tokio on an average of twice a week. Usually the vibrations run horizontally, in which case they seldom do any damage, but occasionally the seismic waves have a vertical motion and that's when they are destructive. About a year ago we had an earthquake of this kind when the earth's surface rose and fell about three inches

DOORWAYS PROTECTED

"When a shock of this kind takes place almost everybody runs into the street, though that is not a wise thing to do. Usually the natives in their homes take up a position in the doorway, which is so constructed by means of extra supports as to withstand almost any sort of shock. But ordinarily nobody pays any attention to the horizontal tremors, which are of such common occurrence that they pass unnoticed."

In speaking of buildings in Tokio reported destroyed, Mr. Rowe referred especially to the Maronouchi Building, which he said was the largest building of European construction in the Orient.

"This building, which was completed only a short time ago, was built by Americans and according to American plans," he said. "It was nine stories high and contained 300 offices. At the time of its construction it was pointed out by Japanese builders that the Americans were not allowing a sufficient margin of safety to meet earthquake conditions. All buildings constructed by the Japanese take this factor into consideration and make ample allowance for it.

"The contention of the Japanese in this instance was shown to be justified last November, when an earthquake shock resulted in a wide crack from top to bottom in one wall of the structure. This necessitated rebuilding of the part affected and this work had been completed only a short time before the present disaster.

"The shock on the 1st inst. must have been so violent, however, that even though the building had been constructed according to Japanese plans, it would probably have been destroyed. This is shown by the fact that the largest Japanese structure in the city, the Kaijo Building, across the street from the Maronouchi, was also destroyed."

FINE HOTEL DESTROYED

Among other costly structures reduced to ruins, Mr. Rowe spoke of the new Imperial Hotel.

"This was a magnificent building erected at a cost of $5,000,000," he said. "It was opened only about a year ago at the time of Secretary Denby's visit to Japan, the Secretary being registered as the first guest of the new hostelry."

Mr. Rowe was interested to learn that the imperial palaces in Tokio had been thrown open to those made homeless by the temblor.

"There are seventeen of these palaces scattered throughout the city," he said. "The largest, almost in the heart of Tokio, is the residence of the Emperor. It comprises a number of structures and is surrounded by magnificent grounds containing 1500 acres. Up to the present time everything pertaining to the imperial family has been considered sacred by the Japanese and no commoner was ever permitted to enter the grounds, but it seems that the present crisis has worked a change of sentiment."

SUPPLIES IN HAWAII MAY BE SENT JAPAN

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HONOLULU, Sept. 3.—Maj.-Gen. Summerall, commanding American forces in the Hawaiian zone, today cabled the War Department a summary of the food supplies, tentage and similar equipment which would be available for immediate shipment to Japan for use in relief work should the government desire to extend aid in that form. It is believed a large amount of supplies might be sent from here if needed. Consul General Yamasaki called a meeting of Japanese for tonight to organize a relief committee.

HOG ATTACKS OWN BROTHER

Charnock Mammoth Sensation Injures Man

Southland Shines at State Fair Exhibits

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3.—Green-eyed jealousy upon the part of a resentful hog almost resulted in serious injury to a leading Southern California stock breeder in one of the live-stock judging rings at the annual California State Fair here today. Charnock Sensation Leader and Charnock Mammoth Sensation, big Duroc Jersey boars from the herd of the Charnock ranch at Hemet in Riverside county are full brothers.

Both were entered in competition in the Duroc-Jersey classes at the stock show. Charles Tyler, manager of the great Charnock ranch was exhibiting the large red animals, putting them through their paces under the judge's eyes. The judge, L. A. Weaver, of Columbia, Mo., deliberated carefully, tapping first one brother then the other with his judicial cane. Then his eyes rested on Charnock Sensation Leader and he ordered the clerk to award this boar the coveted purple ribbon that goes with the grand championship of the show.

BROTHER POOR SPORT

Instantly the defeated boar made a vicious lunge at the winner, side-swiping the grand champion with his big tusks. Excitement prevailed for a moment as Tyler sprang between the battling animals. The next instant the infuriated loser had laid the ranch manager's right arm open from elbow to wrist. Other stockmen stopped the fight and Tyler was rushed to a hospital. The physicians there declared the Hemet man had a narrow escape from injury that might have cost him his arm, but two hours later Tyler, his wounded member in a sling, was acknowledging congratulations with his left hand.

Southern California is expected to make a killing at tomorrow's judging as some of the best stock from Southland farms and ranches is entered in the cattle and swine classes to be judged then. Ferdinand R. Bain of Los Angeles is at the fair with twenty-five Jerseys from his fine herd at Palms and Harry Cook of Chino has entered some choice Jerseys.

HOLSTEIN DIVISION

In the Holstein division Bryhood Stock Farm, Hueneme and California Junior Republic of Chino represent the South. F. F. Peabody, Santa Barbara, has some fine Aberdeen-Angus cattle at the fair. The Windemere Farm, Chino, has some of its prize-winning Guernseys ready for the judging ring. Revel English of Chino is showing his famous string of American saddle horses.

The heavy winnings of Charnock Ranch have greatly encouraged the Southern Californians as the competition in the Duroc classes was extremely keen, this breed being the best represented of any at the show.

PAN-PACIFIC SCIENCE CONGRESS CONCLUDES

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SYDNEY, Sept. 3.—The Pan-Pacific Science Congress concluded today. It decided to accept the invitation of the Japanese government for the next meeting in Tokio in 1926.

A motion to the League of Nations asking it to encourage inventions for human peace and progress was rejected. Prof. Hobbs, objecting, described the motion as propaganda and emphasized that the United States was opposed to the League by a two-to-one majority.

Motions were carried favoring the establishment of a permanent organization of scientific institutions and individuals engaged in research in the Pacific; the investigation of native laws, customs and religion in mandated countries; to study tribes of Australian aborigines still not influenced by civilization; the establishment of more seismographs of high sensitivity of the Pacific; the erection of wireless stations in countries bordering on the Pacific and the keeping of daily static and meteorological records.

The delegates, including Americans, are delighted with the work achieved and the hospitality shown them by Australia.

HUNT MAY CALL EXTRA SESSION

Arizona Governor Expected to Take Action Soon

Colorado River Compact is to be Considered

Bank Failures Also Will be Investigated

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, Sept. 3.—There is now no doubt that a special legislative session is to be called by Gov. Hunt. It is being forced on him, though his record in the past has rather run to extra sessions. The only question about it is the date. The Highway Department would like something done at once. Again, as has not been unusual in the past, it is "broke." But the Governor is waiting for reports of special committees appointed by the spring Legislature on the conduct of affairs by the last administration, a Republican one, with especial reference to the Highway Department and to the banks, and for the report of an executive committee selected from his own especial convention on the subject of the Colorado River compact.

The legislative committees were well supplied with funds and were functioning when last heard from. The banking committee is waiting for legal action to be taken with respect to the manner in which certain State officials gave State moneys to the Central and other banks, while, it is stated, they were personally indebted to the same institutions.

This banking investigation has been very slow and costly work and there is a probability that the failure of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank at Temple last month will have judicial inquiry long before court consideration of the features of the failure of the Central Bank of Phoenix, which closed in March, 1921. One of the features of the investigation has been an audit of the State Treasurer's office for four years.

Gov. Hunt has been under fire to such an extent with regard to the Colorado River compact that it is expected he will include that question in his call for the extra session. It is probable that the Legislature could consider the compact at its own initiative, for approval rests wholly with that body. There has been reference to the executive in several States, but apparently only in courtesy.

In the regular session a feature of deadly dreariness was the oratory over the compact by members who saw imminent danger to the State in agreement with its neighbors on any subject, who prophesied Asiatic invasion were the document ratified and who announced the general principle that the river's flow and hydroelectric energy belong to the State and not to the nation. This same forsensic stream undoubtedly will be undamned again at the extra session, this on presentation of the findings of the Hunt compact conference, which almost wholly is composed of opponents of the pact—though the Governor claims neutral standing.

It is known that the executive committee of the Arizona-Colorado river conference especially has been considering means under which the State might secure the building of a high-line canal for possible reclamation of about 2,000,000 acres of land, and for this land there is to be claim upon the waters of the stream, a claim that may be much in excess of the lower-basin allotment made at Santa Fe. It happens that the cost of such works would approximate $200 an acre, but with this admitted there still is contention that Arizona's rights to such an irrigation flow should be stipulated on behalf of a future generation.

Though Yuma county is keenly interested, little has been said concerning flood control, this apparently to be left to the general government. But the legislators of the negative side have shown keen interest in the matter of power development as something that might be made of large benefit to the State if constructed by State funds under a bond issue of $50,000,000 or $100,000,000. This, it is believed, will be eased over by the conference in a suggestion that no power franchises hereafter be granted by the State without a proviso that the State may acquire the rights gained by private construction, this after appraisement and by purchase.

POOR MEMORY LEADS TO JAIL

Miss Bobbie Roff

When Bobbie Roff made her plans for the week-end, she didn't think that a person as high as a Superior Court judge would stoop to interfere. But Bobbie had been forgetful and the judge, taking cognizance of her forgetfulness decreed that instead of a week-end at the beach or in the mountains Bobbie must languish for that time in jail.

Behind the bars this morning Bobbie is viewing the world in a different light. Her memory, she says, is improved and she plans, when Judge Doran calls her before his bench this morning, to convince him that the time she has spent in the County Jail is sufficient punishment for her transgression.

Miss Roff, cafe dancer and entertainer, was called with her chum Billie Hudson as an important witness in the case last Thursday against Ray Remington and Don Hadley, accused of grand larceny. But when the case was called and the State looked for its witness neither Billie nor Bobbie was to be found. Judge Doran, before whom the case was to be tried, immediately issued bench warrants for the absent ones and officers were detailed to find them and bring them immediately before him.

Billie, more fortunate than her chum, was found, arrested and brought before the judge on Friday. She explained to him that she had been extremely busy, and in the press of her engagements had overlooked the subpoena. The judge, censuring her, fined her $100 and sentenced her to ninety days in the County Jail. As she was being led from the courtroom, however, he relented and suspended the fine and sentence until October 25, when the case will be called again.

The officers didn't find Bobbie until Saturday afternoon. The judge had gone home and the courts were closed when she finally appeared. There was no one left to release her, and so she stayed in jail.

Bobbie has had enough. It's good experience, she admits, but her stage aspirations do not lean toward a portrayal of the horrors of prison life.

"The only good thing that I can say about this week-end is that it didn't cost me a cent," Bobbie philosophically declares.

The two girls are said by the State to have been present at a party at which Thelma Rodher, a Denver girl, was robbed of a diamond ring and a small sum of money. They testified at the preliminary hearing that the two boys named in the complaint had been present when the valuables were taken.

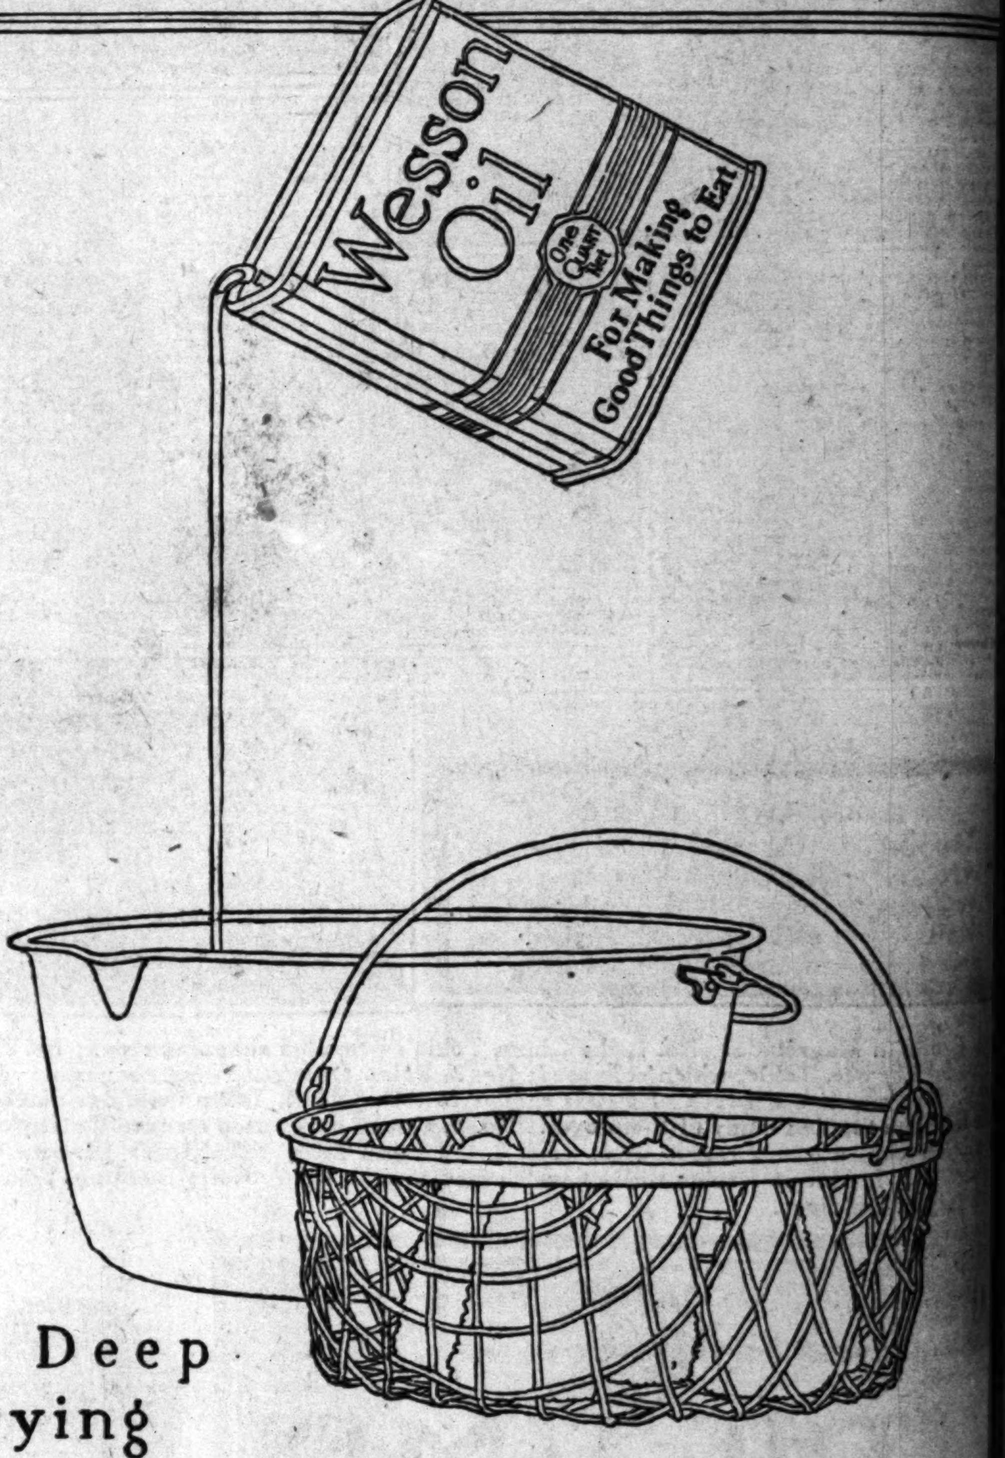
YOU NEED a fat as good as Wesson Oil to make fried food as good-to-eat and as good for you as it can be.

Wesson Oil is refined to a purity and goodness that we do not believe is equalled by any other oil you could buy—100% pure, rich, nourishing food.

It is the most wholesome, as well as the most delicious, frying fat.

We could not make it a bit better if you paid us ten times as much for it.

And perhaps the most amazing thing about it is that it can be so good and yet cost so little.



Wesson Oil
One Quart Net
For Making Good Things to Eat

For Deep Frying

WESSON OIL is very economical as a frying fat—especially in deep frying. Strain it, to remove any crumbs of food, and you can use it over and over again.

This is true to some extent of any fat. But here is one advantage of Wesson Oil. It will not absorb the odor or flavor of any food cooked in it—not even fish nor onions. You may use it over and over again for frying different things. And Wesson Oil is not altered much by heating to cooking temperature. Much cooking fat has to be thrown out after you have used it a few times. But Wesson Oil is altered so little by heating that you can use it up and not waste it. It is almost as good the last time you use it as the first.

DAVIS SCORES IMMIGRATION

Secretary of Labor Vehement in Labor Day Talk

Pays Tribute to Harding at Birmingham Fete

Senator Brookhart Plays Up His Radicalism

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Sept. 3.—James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, was the principal speaker at Birmingham's Labor Day celebration. Addressing 3000 citizens, the Secretary devoted his talk principally to immigration.

"There should be some immigration of the right kind," he said, "but we, not Europe will say who shall come, or, by God, we will not let any come."

Referring to seven classifications of immigrants—very superior, superior, high average, average, low average, inferior, very inferior—he said that after a check on 14,000,000 immigrants that came to this country, it was found that 8,000,000 were of the last three classifications.

Referring to the late President Harding, Secretary Davis said: "We are gathered here this Labor Day in peace and prosperity, with but one great loss to shadow our happiness, the loss of our great friend, Warren G. Harding.

PRAISE FOR HARDING

"It was one of the saddest hours of my life when he asked me to come with him to Birmingham and I found I could not do it. It was his hand that shaped the way to the ending of the twelve-hour day. He was the only President in American history who had the courage to stand up against the great interests. He signed the bill that kept countless hordes from your jobs."

In reference to wages, Secretary Davis declared that the workers' wage must be kept high enough for comfort, for schooling of children and the needs of home. "What is life for any of us if the income is insufficient for necessities and some time to spend with the family?" he asked.

BROOKHART SPEAKS

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

TAYLORVILLE (Ill.) Sept. 3.—Farmers and laborers are finding common ground for political action and "are defeating the old guard Senators of both parties as fast as they can get to them." Senator Brookhart of Iowa, declared in a Labor Day address prepared for delivery before the Central Trades and Labor Assembly here today.

Political action by the farmer and laborer groups, Senator Brookhart said, was due to economic inequalities which, he charges, the "old guard" has failed to rectify through legislation.

Capital is taking an unfair profit on the products of the laborers and farmers, he said, and added that small business ventures also were suffering at the hands of "big combinations."

Senator Brookhart advocated the re-enactment of the excess profits tax to raise funds for a bonus for ex-service men.

TOOTH HE FOUND IN STEW WAS HIS OWN

CAFÉ PATRON THOUGHT IT WASN'T AND RAISED A ROW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—William Ashley is of a suspicious nature. He questioned the "Scotch oatmeal" served by Dimitrios Kokonopolos, whose unfortunate country just now is being kicked around by Italy, because he found a burr in the oatmeal. So Ashley transferred his patronage to the restaurant operated by Aloysus Kutzos. There he found something in the goulash he could not identify, so he moved again, this time to the Greek food emporium presided over by Achilles K. Tambros, who was making a specialty of Irish the stew.

Ashley was eating stew at a rapid rate when he encountered a tooth and put up an awful squawk.

Came Mr. Tambros, anxious to know how comes the commotion. Ashley told him of the tooth in

"But cows have teeth," said Mr. Tambros, "maybe the butcher forget to remove them."

"But cows do not wear gold crowns on their teeth," roared Mr. Ashley, as he hurled stew, tooth and all at Mr. Tambros's head, thereby breaking a plate-glass window.

Later, when he went to the police department to make complaint, he discovered it was his own gold-crowned tooth that had dropped into the stew, and which he had thrown away.

PAINTING THEFT SUSPECT FREED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3.—Following an extensive questioning, the police today released Hugo F. Bur, said to be a Belgian painter, who was taken into custody last Saturday in connection with the disappearance of "The Entombment of Christ," a priceless masterpiece by Guido Reni from the E. B. Crocker Art Gallery here. The officers declared that they were satisfied that Bur knew nothing of the theft of the painting. Reports continue to reach the police that the noted canvas was not in its frame several days prior to August 25, when the loss was discovered by W. F. Jackson, curator of the gallery. Mrs. Louis D. Ehret of Sacramento told the police that she visited the gallery on August 3, and that the picture was then missing from its frame. Two other visitors to the gallery on August 15 have declared that they noticed the empty frame on that date.

The Little Warrior

BY · P. G. · WODEHOUSE

Derek was now fermenting. What she ought to have said, he did not know, but he knew that it was not "Yes?" "Yes?" in the circumstances was almost as bad as "Really?"

There was a pause. Jill was looking at him with a frank and unembarrassed gaze which somehow deepened his sense of annoyance. Had she looked at him coldly, he could have understood and even appreciated it. He had been expecting coldness, and had braced himself to combat it. He was still not quite sure in his mind whether he was playing the role of a penitent or a King Cophetua, but in either character he might have anticipated a little temporary coldness, which it would have been his easy task to melt. But he had never expected to be looked at as if he were a specimen in a museum, and that was how he was feeling now. Jill was not looking at him—she was inspecting him, examining him, and he chafed under the process.

Jill, unconscious of the discomfort she was causing, continued to gaze. She was trying to discover in just what respect he had changed from the god he had been. Certainly not in looks. He was as handsome as ever—handsomer, indeed, for the sunshine and clean breezes of the Atlantic had given him an exceedingly becoming coat of tan. And yet he must have changed, for she could look upon him quite dispassionately and criticize him without a tremor. It was like seeing a copy of a great paintin. Everything was there, except the one thing that mattered, the magic and the glamour. It was like . . . She suddenly remembered a scene in the dressing-room when the company had been in Baltimore. Lois Denham, duly the recipient of the sunburst which her friend Izzy had promised her, had unfortunately, in a spirit of girlish curiosity, taken it to a jeweler to be priced, and the jeweler had blasted her young life by declaring it a paste imitation. Jill recalled how the stricken girl—previous to calling Izzy on the long distance and telling him a number of things which, while probably not news to him, must have been painful hearing—had passed the vile object round the dressing-room for inspection. The imitation was perfect. It had been impossible for the girls to tell that the stones were not real diamonds. Yet the jeweler, with his sixth sense, had seen through them in a trifle under ten seconds. Jill came to the conclusion that her newly-discovered love for Wally Mason had equipped her with a sixth sense, and that by its aid she was really for the first time seeing Derek as he was.

Derek had not the privilege of being able to read Jill's thoughts. All he could see was the outer Jill, and the outer Jill, as she had always done, was stirring his emotions. Her daintiness afflicted him. Not for the first, the second, or the third time since they had come into each other's lives, he was astounded at the strength of the appeal which Jill had for him when they were together, as contrasted with its weakness when they were apart. He made another attempt to establish the scene on a loftier plane.

"What a fool I was!" he sighed. "Jill! Can you ever forgive me?"

He tried to take her hand. Jill skilfully eluded him.

"Why, of course I've forgiven you, Derek, if there was anything to forgive."

"Anything to forgive!" Derek began to get into his stride. These were the lines on which he had desired the interview to develop. "I was a brute! A cad!"

"Oh, no!"

"I was. Oh, I have been through hell!"

Jill turned her head away. She did not want to hurt him, but nothing could have kept her from smiling. She had been so sure that he would say that sooner or later.

"Jill!" Derek had misinterpreted the cause of her movement, and had attributed it to emotion. "Tell me that everything is as it was before."

Jill turned.

"I'm afraid I can't say that, Derek."

"Of course not!" agreed Derek in a comfortable glow of manly remorse. He liked himself in the character of the strong man abased. "It would be too much to expect, I know. But, when we are married . . ."

"Do you really want to marry me?"

"Jill!"

"I wonder!"

"How can you doubt it?"

Jill looked at him.

"Have you thought what it would mean?"

"What it would mean?"

"Well, your mother . . ."

"Oh!" Derek dismissed Lady Underhill with a grand gesture.

"Yes," persisted Jill, "but, if she disapproved of your marrying me before, would not she disapprove a good deal more now, when I haven't a penny in the world and am just in the chorus . . ."

"In the chorus!"

"Didn't you know? I thought Freddie must have told you."

"In the chorus!" Derek stammered. "I thought you were here as a guest of Mrs. Peagrim's."

"So I am—like all the rest of the company."

"But . . . But . . ."

"You see, it would be bound to make everything a little difficult," said Jill. Her face was grave, but her lips were twitching. "I mean, you are rather a prominent man, aren't you, and if you married a chorus-girl . . ."

"Nobody would know," said Derek limply.

Jill opened her eyes.

"Nobody would know!" She laughed. "But of course, you've never met our press-agent. If you think that nobody would know that a girl in the company had married a baronet who was a member of parliament and expected to be in the Cabinet in a few years, you're wronging him! The news would be on the front page of all the papers the very next day—columns of it, with photographs. There would be articles about it in the Sunday papers. Illustrated! And then it would be cabled to England and would appear in the papers there . . . You see, you're a very important person, Derek."

Derek sat clutching the arms of his chair. His face was chalky. Though he had never been inclined to underestimate his importance as a figure in the public eye, he had overlooked the disadvantages connected with such an eminence. He gurgled wordlessly. He had been prepared to brave Lady Underhill's wrath and assert his right to marry whom he pleased, but this was different.

Jill watched him curiously and with a certain pity. It was so easy to read what was passing in his mind. She wondered what he would say, how he would flounder out of his unfortunate position. She had no illusions about him now. She did not even contemplate the possibility of chivalry winning the battle which was going on within him.

"It would be very awkward, wouldn't it?" she said.

And then pity had its way with Jill. He had treated her badly; for a time she had thought that he had crushed all the heart out of her; but he was suffering, and she hated to see anybody suffer.

"Besides," she said, "I'm engaged to somebody else."

As a suffocating man, his lips to the tube of oxygen, gradually comes back to life, Derek revived, slowly as the meaning of her words sank into his mind, then with a sudden abruptness.

"What!" he cried.

"I'm going to marry somebody else. A man named Wally Mason."

Derek swallowed. The chalky look died out of his face, and he flushed hotly. His eyes half relieved, half indignant, glowed under their pent-house of eyebrow. He sat for a moment in silence.

"I think you might have told me before!" he said huffily.

Jill laughed.

"Yes, I suppose I ought to have told you before."

"Leading me on . . .!"

Jill patted him on the arm.

"Never mind, Derek! It's all over now. And it was great fun, wasn't it!"

"Fun!"

"Shall we go and dance? The music is just starting."

"I won't dance!"

Jill got up.

"I must," she said. "I'm so happy I can't keep still. Well, good-bye, Derek, in case I don't see you again. It was nice meeting after all this time. You have not altered a bit!"

Derek watched her flit down the aisle, saw her jump up the little ladder onto the stage, watched her vanish into the swirl of the dance. He reached for a cigarette, opened his case, and found it empty. He uttered a mirthless, Byronic laugh. The thing seemed to him symbolic.

WOULD FEED FOX ON CARCASSES OF SEALS

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE]

SEATTLE, Sept. 3.—A proposal for making the government seal fisheries on the Pribiloff Islands self supporting and a profit-making venture for the territory of Alaska, was outlined by United States Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington, who returned Saturday from an intensive inspection trip to the Alaskan fisheries. Senator Jones proposed that the carcasses of the seals killed be made into fertilizer and fox food in growing the silver fox and that profits from the sale of the fertilizer and food be used for the development of Alaska.

DEATH CLEW DISCOVERED IN KERCHIEF

Found Near Where Little Owner Was Murdered by Strangulation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WINDHAM (N. Y.) Sept. 3.—The finding today of a child's handkerchief, with a picture of a tin soldier stamped in one corner, may play an important part in the solution of the mystery of the murder of little Howard Rothenberg, 7-year-old son of Charles Rothenberg, wealthy Newark, N. J., hat manufacturer.

The handkerchief was identified by the boy's uncle, Joseph Rothenberg as identical with three he gave to little Howard some time ago and which he purchased in Newark.

Reporters discovered the handkerchief this afternoon. They had been following a set of buggy tracks which led from the barn of the Branaugh farm, where Howard was vacationing with his mother and aunt, Mrs. Esther Litt, across fields in the direction of the creek where the boy was found, strangled to death, last Wednesday morning. These tracks, which got attention because they did not keep on the road, but cut across fields, stopped at a point about 100 feet away from the place where the body was found, but on the other side of the creek. They appear to have been made within a week. There, the tracks show, the buggy was turned around and returned to the barn.

Right where the buggy seems to have halted, the handkerchief was found lying in the grass. How it came to be there is a mystery which Dist.-Atty. Coffin hoped to solve tonight or tomorrow. The father of the murdered boy said tonight he is positive the handkerchief was Howard's.

Mrs. Charles Rothenberg, mother of the boy, and Mrs. Esther Litt, his aunt, were exonerated today from all suspicion of complicity in the murder by Dist.-Atty. Coffin.

Greece Calm as English Fleet Is Coming to Scene

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ATHENS, Sept. 3.—The Italo-Greek situation is stationary and the announcement that the British Atlantic Fleet is proceeding to Mediterranean waters has produced a soothing effect, although the purpose of the move is unknown.

Memorial services were conducted in all Greek churches yesterday for the refugees and others killed during the Italian bombardment of Corfu. There were immense congregations everywhere and services were impressive.

The government has addressed an energetic protest to the Allies against the bombardment of unfortified Corfu and the killing of innocent persons.

DIVORCE SOUGHT BY INDIAN WOMAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Sept. 3.—The march of aboriginal progress has had another milestone in a suit filed by Mollie Smith, Papago, against her husband, Joe, alleging nonsupport. Heretofore there has been an impression that the Indian woman furnished subsistence for the man, the latter contributing only such game as he might secure in hunting. 100 Per Cent COWS' MILK

You'll Like its Creamy Flavor!

Forget all your former ideas of "canned milk." Note Carnation's taste—the creamy flavor of milk purity imparted by the high quality of the fresh milk used and by our scientific sterilizing (heating) process.

Realize this: Carnation is 100 per cent cows' milk—clean—sweet—pure. Nothing is added to it, not even sugar; nothing is removed except part of its natural water, which is evaporated to reduce the bulk and give you doubly-rich milk in convenient-sized containers. This doubles the proportion of cream. All health-giving food elements remain intact.

Therefore, Carnation is perfect for creaming coffee, cereals, fruits, vegetables, etc., and for all other milk and cream uses.

You will be satisfied with Carnation. Ask your grocer to deliver a supply today. Use it and convince yourself that it is the only milk supply needed for your home.

Muffins

½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1¾ cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg, ⅔ cup water, ½ cup Carnation Milk, 2 teaspoons melted butter or substitute.

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add milk to well beaten egg, and add to dry ingredients, then add the melted fat. Bake in oiled muffin tins from fifteen to twenty-five minutes. This recipe makes ten muffins.

Cream of Tomato Soup

2 teaspoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon soda, 1 slice onion, 1½ cups water, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 cup Carnation Milk, ½ can tomato (2 cups), 2 cloves, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup water, 4 tablespoons flour, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 6 pepper corns, bit of bay leaf.

Cook tomatoes slowly for twenty minutes, 1½ cups of water, seasonings and sugar. Strain; add salt and soda. Melt butter; add flour, stirring constantly. Add Carnation Milk diluted with one cup of water. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Combine with the strained tomatoes, adding the tomatoes to the milk. Serve at once. This recipe serves six people.

Creamed Carrots and Peas

½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, ⅓ cup Carnation Milk, 4 medium sized carrots, 2 tablespoons flour, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 small can peas, 1 cup carrot stock.

Wash and scrape carrots; cut in fine strips. Cook until tender in boiling water to which 1 teaspoon salt has been added. Drain, saving 1 cup of the water in which the carrots have been cooked for the cream white sauce. 1 small can of peas, drained thoroughly, rinsed in cold water, then scalded quickly in boiling water and drained.

Melt butter, add flour, stirring constantly until thoroughly blended; add the liquid and seasonings. Let boil until thickened, stirring occasionally. Add cooked carrots and peas. This recipe serves six people.

GENERAL PETROLEUM

BY ARTHUR L. BREWER

Manager Service Department, Banks, Huntley & Co.

By a slight regrouping of some of the figures in the statement of the General Petroleum Corporation for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923, the stockholder will perhaps more closely see the earnings in relationship to stock. The item "Provision for Federal Income Taxes" must logically be considered before even preferred dividends. Hence:

Net income for year	$6,491,397.29	$2,882,696.91	$3,608,700.38
Profit and loss charges—
Adj. (net) affecting prior periods	72,084.24	215,138.21	143,053.97
Prov. for Fed. Inc. Taxes	500,000.00	115,000.00	385,000.00
Div. on pfd. stock	224,854.00	224,854.00
	$ 796,938.24	$ 554,992.21
Profit and loss surplus applicable common stock dividends	$5,694,459.05	$2,327,704.70	$3,366,754.35

Earned on common, 24.25 per cent, or $6.06 per share.

The common stock outstanding at the end of the fiscal year, it is reported, was $25,945,200, which includes $376,000 deposited in trust for delivery under the employees' stock subscription plans. The average amount of common stock outstanding for the period, it is understood, was $23,484,575, and on this figure the earnings were at the rate of 24.25 per cent, or $6.06 per share of $25 par value. This compares with 9.94 per cent earned on common stock in the preceding fiscal year.

MARKET ADVANCES

First reports based on the original set-up of the earnings statement were to the effect that earnings on common equalled approximately 27 per cent. Notwithstanding the rather considerable discrepancy of some 2 3-4 per cent, however, the market on this common stock on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange had ample cause for the advance that occurred, following publication of the statement on August 31.

The attractiveness of General Petroleum as an investment is apparent from the foregoing. The stock is selling at a very substantial premium above its par value, certainly. But it is paying 8 per cent dividends and it should be noted that it is still ten points or so under the high for this year to date ($42.50, established last March.) Figuring the market at $32 a share, the yield would be 6.25 per cent.

BULLISH OUTLOOK

Earnings for the last half of 1922 and the first half of 1923 would make an interesting and helpful comparison were it practicable to segregate them from the statement. One might guess that they were higher in the former six-month period than in the latter, in view of the unsettled conditions in the oil industry that have obtained over recent months.. The latter period has been altogether abnormal in oil. Those who regard the ruling situation as one of peculiar advantage for the strong companies able to purchase crude oil cheaply and store it against a future inevitable-seeming rise, however, will be more inclined to be bullish on General Petroleum than bearish just now, especially with such an earnings statements to support them.

PRICE RANGE

The $25 par was instituted (in lieu of $100 theretofore obtaining) in September, 1922. The following comparative ranges for General Petroleum preferred and common stocks on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange will prove of interest just now:

ACTIVITY GROWS

With four times as many shares outstanding as when the par was $100, there should naturally be shown a corresponding increase in shares changing hands. But it is worth while to note that in the first eight months of 1923 there have been sold on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange 166,709 shares of General Petroleum common against 41,658 for the whole of 1922 (for most of which period the par was $100.) A tremendous increase in activity of this stock is thus indicated. The 1922 turnover in shares was itself tremendous by comparison with any previous year.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Spirit of Constructive Optimism Prevails in Pacific Southwest; Situation Reviewed

In spite of certain elements of uncertainty the basic business situation in the Pacific Southwest remains sound, according to the Monthly Summary of Conditions, issued by the research department of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank and the First Securities Company.

A general spirit of constructive optimism prevails, the summary continues, and business interests are already discounting the possible effects of the major elements of uncertainty. Conseuently, the report states, there is ample evidence to support the prediction, made in earlier reports, that general prosperity will continue throughout the balance of the year, with slow but steady expansion in the more favored lines of economic endeavor.

The summary, in part, is as follows:

The business community of the Pacific Southwest has marked time during August. There have been only minor changes in basic underlying economic conditions. The usual seasonal quiet in commercial activities, the midsummer uncertainty with regard to the probable eventual size of many crops, the unsatisfactory pretroleum situation, the hesitancy of the investment market, and the increasing evidence that there is little credit legitimately available for the carrying on of speculative and nonessential operations during crop movement have caused business to proceed cautiously during the month.

In spite of these elements of uncertainty the basic situation remains sound. Serious consideration is being given to possible important adjustments in the character of the agricultural productivity in some sections of the Pacific Southwest, where present crops have been found steadily unprofitable. A general spirit of constructive optimism prevails. Business interests are already discounting the possible effects of the major elements of uncertainty. Consequently there is ample evidence to support the prediction, made in earlier reports, that general prosperity will continue throughout the balance of the year, with slow but steady expansion in the more favored lines of economic endeavor.

AGRICULTURE

There has been but little change in the agricultural situation during August. Orange prices have continued to weaken, but lemon prices have strengthened materially. Deciduous fruit prices have continued low with a generally unsatisfactory market outlook. The walnut crop is expected to be one of the best on record, with evidence that prices will be strong. Mildew is destroying a considerable proportion of both the grape and raisin crop, but the smaller production will probably strengthen the market sufficiently to return the growers as much as they would have received for the large crop. The sugar beet situation remains unchanged. Estimates of the total bean crop have remained about the same, with the price situation somewhat better than anticipated a month ago. The grain situation remains practically unchanged, with evidence of divergent opinions with regard to the market outlook and evidence of a weak foreign demand for barley. Cotton prices are remaining strong, with a material increase in anticipated production.

The tendency toward slow improvement in the live-stock situation continues, with the usual short period cross currents making for some uncertainty in the immediate outlook.

Summer quiet has been materially in evidence in both retail and wholesale trade, although turnover has been maintained at levels materially in excess of a year ago. There is evidence that the major portion of this increase is due to the increase in population and not to expansion in per capital sales. General retail trade is possibly 20 per cent in excess of a year ago. Purchases from wholesalers are being made only for immediate requirements, but with the volume averaging from 15 to 20 per cent in excess of August, 1922. There has been practically no change in the price level or in the credit situation.

REAL ESTATE

The general slowing up in real estate turnover has continued throughout August. With but one or two exceptions agricultural districts are reporting the real estate market as inactive, dull or quiet with building slow or dull. On the other hand, the residential and in-

PETROLEUM COMPANIES TAKE STEEL

Oil Industry is Purchaser of Substantial Tonnage; Pig Iron Slow

BY DON PARTRIDGE

(Associated Editor The Iron Trade Review.)

The Iron Trade Review, in commenting on the situation of the local markets for iron and steel products, will say this week: "Most forms of iron and steel products are moving well, though few outstanding tonnages have been reported during the week. With construction activity being well maintained, the crop situation showing some improvement and heavy production of oil continuing, the outlook for the balance of the year is encouraging.

"Demand for pig iron and coke is light due to the fact that consumers bought heavily some weeks ago. The largest inquiry before the trade involves 1000 tons for a Los Angeles foundry.

"Relatively small lots of re-inforcing bars continue to comprise the bulk of the awards made this week. However, contracts involving over 100 tons each, totaled close to 2000 tons, the largest of which involved 700 tons for the Southern California Gas Company.

"Oil companies continue to actively seek plate tonnages for oil tank storage purposes and over 6000 tons have been let recently. The Steel Tank & Pipe Company secured five 80,000 barrel tanks for C. C. Julian and two 80,000 barrel tanks for the Wilshire Oil Co, involving a total of 2100 tons. Demand for structural shapes continues fair, but only one large tonnage was awarded. This involved 1400 tons for the Dunbarton bridge and was secured by the United States Steel Products Company. Recently, foreign plates brought in on speculation, have been sold in the local market at prices from $6 to $11 a ton under the domestic price.

"Cast iron pipe awards for the week totaled only 500 tons, the largest contract calling for 380 tons for Los Angeles and secured by the American Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry Co. Heavy demand is reported for standard merchant pipe. While there has been some slackening in demand for oil country goods for drilling purposes an increase has occurred in demand for pipe line material."

Municipal Bonds

Why

Big returns and sound value are not synonymous. Speculative ventures may pay more—but it is possible that neither principal nor interest may be returned.

Municipal Bonds do not qualify for speculation.

They do qualify for the man who wants to sleep nights knowing his 4½% or more of tax exempt interest is safe and that his original investment is certain to be returned at maturity or cashed for market value any time.

That is why Municipal Bonds are our specality.

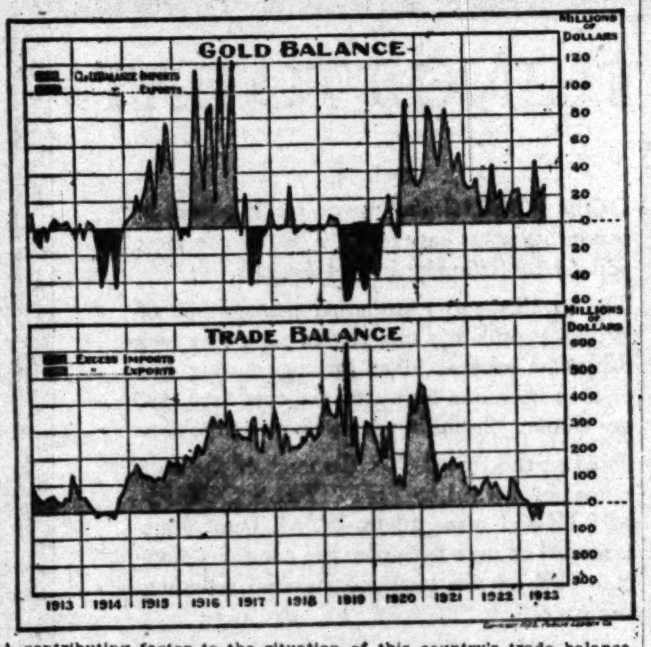
Gold Movement, U. S. Trade Balance



A contributing factor to the situation of this country's trade balance, which has been adverse for the greater part of 1923 until the last month, is the fact that gold imports still are much in excess of gold exports, as the above chart indicates. Imports have exceeded exports this year for the first time since 1914, when the trade balance was slightly adverse for a short period. The peak of the period of a favorable trade balance since 1913 was in 1919, and it was at this time that gold exports exceeded gold imports by the greatest amount in that same period.

Indications that the El Segundo district will be the next large Southern California oil field are shown, local oil operators say, by the heavy gas pressure which has developed in the Doheny-Pan-American well now drilling at El Segundo.

Drilling now at 2000 feet, the drillers have been fighting an ever increasing gas pressure for more than 200 feet. Cores have been taken at every eighty feet and the showings are reported to be excellent.

It is reported that the Pan-American Petroleum Company has leased 1400 acres adjacent to the well now drilling.

A rig will be erected at once at Arizona Drive and El Segundo avenue by the Heffron-McCray-St. John Company.

Still Drill Deepest Well

The deepest rotary-drilled well in California, being drilled on the Brownrigg-Keller lease by the Standard Oil Company in the Santa Fe Springs field, has reached 6957 feet.

Since passing through the 4700-foot zone few showings of a commercial nature have been disclosed, the drillers say. At present a formation composed of brown shale and sea shell is being passed through. It is stated that the well will be continued until mechanical difficulties prevent further exploring.

The purpose of the deep test is to locate a mythical deep sand said to be below the Meyer zone in the Santa Fe Springs field.

The Signal Hill field entered another week of feverish activity and heavy production Sunday and yesterday with the bringing in of five new wells since Sunday morning. In addition to the five new wells, yielding a total of 10,000 additional barrels a day to the field's output, two other wells sanded up after flowing and three others are preparing to come in within the next twenty-four hours.

The new producers are the Superior Swaffield No. 2, 3000 barrels; the Delendrecie Oil Company's Garrett No. 2, 3000 barrels; Petroleum Midway's Davidson No. 2, 1000 barrels; Huntington and Northern No. 9, 1000 barrels, and Windemere No. 1, 2000 barrels. All of the wells are producing for the first time with the exception of Windemere, which is a deepened well.

The Shell Company Babb No. 3 started a flow late Sunday night, continuing for more than two hours at the rate of 3000 barrels a day. The well finally sanded up, however, as did the Harriman Jones No. 1, in the same district, when production was attempted after the drillers had tried to correct water trouble. Petroleum Midway's No. 8 Ellis on top of Signal Hill is swabbing for production today, as is Union Community No. 6 on the hill north of Creston street. Dabney No. 21 is bailing for production with oil indications increasing. Of the wells brought in as producers Garrett No. 2 was completed at 4849 feet, Swaffield No. 2 at 4762 feet, Davidson No. 2 at 4118 feet and the Huntington and Northern No. 9 at 3600 feet.

Geologists to Meet Here

The interpretation of the results secured from core barrel sampling of rotary drilled wells will be a major subject of discussion at the California meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists to be held in Los Angeles the 20th to 22nd inst.

All persons interested in the oil business have been invited to attend the sessions, which will be held at the Alexandria.

Fresh Apple Pie
as a Dividend Maker for KING'S SHARES

FILL a human need and you can always make money! Fresh apple pie is an American institution—a want in nearly every American home!

Any concern which can put FRESH APPLES in each and EVERY American home in ANY SEASON of the year at a moderate price—

Is a concern that can earn tremendous profits!

King's Food Products Co. has it in its power to do exactly this, not only with apples, but with a big variety of fruit and vegetables. This means that it can make King's shares one of the greatest dividend-paying securities in the country for all time to come!

The secret of its success lies in the food marvel of the age—

Dehydration!

By its exclusively owned dehydration process, King's removes the water from fruits and vegetables without removing anything else, and without in any way breaking down the organic or chemical structure. Its products come to the housewife, therefore, in such a form that she can restore them virtually to their original freshness simply by placing them in water. The same size, flavor, color and food value as fresh vegetables, secured in any season at a moderate price!

A Big Going Industry

Back of King's Shares are two immense plants dehydrating millions of pounds of fruits and vegetables yearly, a vast marketing organization, covering 35 states, and an overwhelming demand for every carton of King's Products that can be put out!

King's is planning to add plant after plant to those it has. And every plant it owns will contribute to YOUR earnings from your King's Shares.

Do you get the idea? You aren't buying just into a single manufacturing company. You are buying an interest in a WHOLE INDUSTRY!

King's Shares are both Preferred and Common—one of each for $150. When only 1,500 out of the 2,000,000 people in Southern California have invested an average of just $1050 each in King's Shares, your opportunity will be gone.

Talking it over—

Postum, 38%! National Biscuit, 44%! Campbell's Soup, 66%! Shredded Wheat, 121%! And half a dozen others in the same class.

When I got through blinking I asked myself, "What, then, can $1000 in King's earn?" It seems unbelievable, yet, knowing King's as I do, after five years of close association, I simply had to reply:

"King's, with her growth, should outstrip the top-notchers in that list. Because King's isn't just a single company—it's a whole industry!"

You'll say the same thing when you get the information that coupon will bring you.. Better mail it while your mind's on the subject!

F N Clark

That's why this coupon is THE MOST IMPORTANT PART of this advertisement. It is a quick route to all facts about King's Shares.

SOUTHWEST IS OPTIMISTIC

dustrial territory in the metropolitan area surrounding Los Angeles generally reports real estate turnover as active, although slower than earlier in the year, wiht build-than earlier in the year, with build-booming. In Los Angeles proper August building permits will probably exceed all previous records, due largely to a considerable number of large individual permits. The suburban subdivision sales are showing signs of quieting down somewhat, although each month is witnessing record activities in the placing of new subdivisions on the market.

While industry is generally occupied at full capacity a definite reduction in new orders is evident in practically all lines, with industrial plants gradually approaching the point where immediate deliveries can be given on new orders.

Uncertainty with regard to the petroleum outlook continues. During the four weeks ending August 25, production in the three large fields in the Los Angeles basin increased by 26,000 barrels daily and the number of producing wells by fifty-one, with total production now averaging about 680,000 barrels a week, and with many new wells on the point of production. The situation has been eased somewhat by the completion of much additional storage space during the month, but potential new production closely parallels the increase in facilities and there is little indication of any immediate relief. The period when the production peak will be passed is still uncertain. In any case marketing difficulties will be encountered for some time to come.

The investment market marks time with evidence of a strong undertone, but with comparatively little new money seeking investment. There is some hope that a more active market and an appreciable rise in value will come during the fall months, although investors have given little tangible evidence of changing from their policy of watchful waiting.

FINANCIAL

The banking situation has hsown little change. There is increasing evidence of the full use of credit of this territory, with indications pointing to necessity for very careful conservation of existing credit supplies in order to provide for satisfactory movement of crops during the fall months. It is probable that interest rates will show a tendency to stiffen during the balance of the year and that it may be necessary to resort to some allocation of credit to provide sufficent supplies for the most essential lines of business. However, with careful management there is every reason to believe that the total credit supply of this territory is sufficient to take care of legitimate productive requirements.

District by district the general spirit of conservative optimism prevails. Most agricultural communities are just entering the harvesting period and there is a general recognition that there will be some fairly serious marketing problems to be faced. However, in spite of losses which must be suffered on some lines of agricultural production and in spite of rather unsatisfactory price levels for a good many raw agricultural producst, the total income of most agricultural communities is expected to exceed that of last year and to be sufficient to permit definite progress in adjustment to a normal post-war situation. In the industrial and commercial centers the major items of concern are being gradually discounted in advance and while this is causing a cautious business policy, production and sales are being maintained upon satisfactory levels and gradual expansion may be anticipated.

In other words, in spite of spotted conditions in a great many lines of activity and in a great many communities, the Pacific Southwest as a whole is making gradual progress. Prosperity at the present moment may be accepted as an established fact and continued general prosperity may be relied upon for some months to come.

INVESTMENT MARKET

Conditions in the investment market show little change from those prevailing in the preceding month. The summer dullness continues to be the most prominent feature of the market, and there seems to be a divergence of opinion as to how long this quietness will last. This apparent stagnation of the securities market is not the result of fear or lack of confidence on the part of investors, but rather is due to a sense of caution, a feeling of wariness and a desire for values, coupled, of course, with the usual summer quiet, which this year seems to be extending past its customary limit.

However, in spite of the continued tranquility, bond prices remain firm, indicating a healthy underlying condition. New offerings of merit are promptly absorbed by investors and find a ready secondary market. New issues, both for original financing and refunding purposes, have been comparatively light during August and indications point to their being even lighter in September, especially as to those securities to be issued for refunding purposes.

BANKING

The beneficial effects of the cautious credit policies in general vogue in the banking field for the past several months are being felt as crop movement approaches. Today there is a rather finely balanced parity between the credit requirements of borrowing communities and the loaning powers of depositing districts within the Pacific Southwest. There is evidence that the requirements of the marketing season will place some temporary pressure on the credit powers of this territory but the credit policies of the past several months have tended to build resources which should be able to move crops without any serious trouble.

Deposits have moved within narrow levels during the month and the seasonal tendency toward reduction of balances has not been materially in evidence. Interest rates, while remaining steady, have shown a definite tendency toward stiffening and may probably be up one point in many communities before the end of the year.

The efficacy of inter-community banking in providing a maximum use of existing credit within the Pacific Southwest is becoming increasingly evident as we enter the season of heavy credit demands. This is reducing the necessity for borrowing outside of this economic area. A particularly interesting phenonmenon is the tendency of banks in agricultural communities to place more reliance this year upon borrowings from correspondent banks rather than from Federal Reserve rediscounts, although this may be but a temporary condition.

PIONEER IS DEAD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Sept. 3.—Charles Kitchen, 78 years of age president of the Second National Bank of Ashland and widely known throughout Eastern Kentucky as a capitalist and pioneer lumber man, is dead at his home at Huntington, W. Va.

The Pioneers of Credit Insurance

What would our nation be today but for the vision and untiring efforts of the early pioneers? What would Credit Insurance be today but for the pioneering efforts of the American Credit-Indemnity Co.?

Through thirty years of our educational work, credit insurance is accepted as being as necessary as fire insurance. Today, credit insurance is endorsed by leading bankers. The Federal Reserve Board published an exhaustive analysis of the subject in their Monthly Bulletin.

Today, the American Credit-Indemnity Co. writes only credit insurance and more of it than any other company in the world! Isn't this the kind of company to depend upon to safeguard your credit resources?

EVERY grower in California should be a pioneer stockholder in the CALIFORNIA-NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY.

Make this institution 100% efficient and economical.

It's not a matter of how many units of stock you buy....but the question of having the company owned by the grower-public in the largest scope possible.

The width of difference in rates between rails and refrigerated steamship service greatly depends upon grower ownership of stock.

CALIFORNIA has stepped into a new period of her development. Few comprehend it. For instance the country is facing the necessity of building a second Isthmian canal through Nicaragua.

Less than ten years ago there were grave doubts as to the commercial value of the Panama Canal. Rails sort of sneered at it—but, today, Rails appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to reduce coast-to-coast rates to somewhat meet competition of the Canal route.

Send for the book. Decide to become a Pioneer stock-holder in CALIFORNIA-NEW YORK STEAMSHIP COMPANY. Profit to your investment—a loyal duty to California's progress.

HIGH POINT IN OBLIGATIONS

Investment Liquidation and How It Came About

Bankers to Gather in Annual Convention This Month

National Thrift Week is Set for January

Before the Victory note issue of May, 1919, government obligations and the total investment held by national banks reached their highest reported figures of $4,033,000,000 and $5,882,000,000, the National Bank of Commerce in New York says in a review of the course of security holdings of national banks in the September issue of the Commerce Monthly.

"During the entire period of war financing the security holdings of national banks rose and fell," the review says, "as short-term government obligations issued in anticipation of war loans were accumulated by the banks, paid in against bond subscriptions, and in this converted form distributed in part to the investing public."

With the assimilation of the Victory Loan, investments in government securities declined rapidly to September, 1920, so that "the total of investments fell off more than $2,000,000,000 from the peak. The principal reason for liquidation of investment holdings was no doubt the heavy demand from commercial borrowers which resulted in an increase of about $3,500,000,000 in loans and discounts down to November, 1920. From that date there was sharp liquidation in loans, but it is noticeable that the principal liquidation in security investments had already occurred."

The bank further points out that from the autumn of 1921 until the latest official summary of conditions, "there was a consistent increase in the amount of securities held by national banks. Since May, 1922, both loans and investments have increased, the former by $50,000,000, the latter by $750,000,000, of which $570,000,000 are in government securities. The ratio of investments to the total of loans and investments has again risen to 30 per cent.

"It would be a mistake to assume the continuance of the abnormal situation with regard to bank investments which the war and post-war conditions have created. For almost the whole of 1920 and 1921 national bank investments constituted less than one-fourth of earning assets as represented by loans and investments. This is not far from the ratio which was pretty consistently maintained for fifteen years prior to our entry into the war. Indeed, the curve of national bank investments for thirty years past shows a distinct normal growth or trend with only three or four significant variations from a straight line connecting the low points of 1893, 1898, 1915 and 1921. These are the somewhat hesitating expansion from 1893 to 1896, the low but long continued bulge from 1898 to 1914, the war period from 1917 to 1921, and possibly but not certainly the upward movement which began late in 1921. Viewed in this perspective, the huge increases in the investment account in recent years must be regarded as mainly a war-time phenomenon, while the future alone can determine whether lowered reserve requirements and greater flexibility under the Federal Reserve banking system will yield a permanently higher relative level of investments as compared with total earning assets."

A general reduction in the amount of national bank holdings of government securities is not considered imminent by the bank.

BANK CONVENTION

Los Angeles bankers are planning to send a representative delegation to the annual meeting of the American Bankers' Association in Atlantic City, N. J., from the 24th to the 25th inst. Several of the local bankers are members of committees, and will be present during the four business sessions to be held at the Hotel Traymore, the headquarters of the convention. General sessions are scheduled to take place on Young's million-dollar pier, one of the attractions of the famous east coast resort.

On the first day of the convention the trust company division of the association will hold its general meeting under the direction of Theodore G. Smith, president of the division. The program will include the presentation of a great variety of subjects pertaining to the maintenance and development of fiduciary business.

In addition to the gathering of the trust company delegates, the first day of the convention will be the occasion for the conferences of committees, including the executive council, administrative committee, finance committee, agricultural committee, commerce and marine commission and economic policy commission.

On the afternoon of the second day the savings bank division will meet in general session and the State bank division will convene on the afternoon of the third day. The national bank representatives will gather on the final day of the convention.

SCHOOL SAVINGS

Extension of the operations of the Los Angeles Banks and School Savings Association into Huntington Beach, Burbank and Monrovia this fall has been decided by the officers of the association as a result of the gratifying success attending the work during the past year. Eastern cities, attracted by the progress of the "Los Angeles plan" are gathering data with the intention of beginning similar work among the school children.

The association announces the election of the following officers to serve during the coming year: W. R. Morehouse, vice-president of the Security Trust and Savings Bank, president; Emmanuel Cohen, vice-president Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, vice-president; J. W. Lewis, assistant cashier Union Bank and Trust Company, treasurer; A. H. Thomas, assistant cashier Pacific-Southwest Bank, secretary; H. J. Pye, assistant manager Bank of Italy, director of publicity.

Mrs. Lee Grange, formerly with the National Thrift Association of Chicago, has been chosen as assistant to A. J. Gray, director of the association's operations.

COTTON SPINNING

Activity in the cotton-spinning industry increased in July as compared with June, with 37,397,331 spindles in place in the United States on July 31, of which 34,237,387 were operated at some time during the month, as against 34,843,421 for June, and 35,390,137 for May.

The aggregate number of active spindle hours reported for the month was 7,135,765,590, as estimated by the Bureau of the Census in preliminary figures. During July the normal time of operation was twenty-five days, allowing for the observance of Independence Day compared with twenty-six for June.

BANK APPOINTMENT

W. H. Meservey has been appointed assistant manager of the Eighth and Olive branch of the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, according to the announcement made yesterday by Jay Spence, vice-president and cashier. E. E. Groth also remains as an assistant manager.

F. J. Schrader was made assistant manager of the Marine branch, Los Angeles Harbor, succeeding Mr. Meservey.

BONDS SOLD

Banks, Huntley & Co., underwriters and retailers of the issue of $125,000 Santa Monica Theater Company first mortgage 7 per cent serial gold bonds offered the 1st inst., announce that the bonds have been completely distributed to investors. They were offered at 100 and interest to yield 7 per cent.

THRIFT WEEK

National Thrift Week has been scheduled by the National Thrift Committee for January 17 to 24, 1924, at which time five articles on thrift, written by some of the foremost authorities in the banking world, will be placed in circulation. Bankers interested in the movement are urged by John A. Goodell, secretary of the committee, to write to headquarters, 347 Madison avenue, New York City, for advance details.

Among the authors of the articles who are members of the National Thrift Committee are Adolph Lewisohn, New York banker and philanthropist; E. C. Delafield, president of the Bank of America; Walter Head, president of the Omaha National Bank and first vice-president of the American Bankers' Association, and C. J. Obermayer, president Greater New York Savings Bank.

Metzler & Co. Open Offices in This City

Another important New York firm has transferred its allegiance, in part at least, to Los Angeles and has established beautifully equipped offices at No. 727 South Spring street, in the heart of the financial district.

Tomorrow is "opening day" and the decision of this house to make this city its headquarters furnishes an impressive example of the importance of Los Angeles as a financial center.

The firm is incorporated as Metzler & Co. of California, and will specialize in one type of security, i.e., the first-mortgage bond secured by large buildings in growing California cities. It is under the management of Irving S. Metzler, who returns to Los Angeles in order to again make it his home.

Mr. Metzler was for many years identified with the Bank of Italy here, leaving in 1920 to become vice-president of the East River National Bank in New York. A year later he organized, with a group of associates, the house of Metzler & Co. of New York, which has enjoyed a highly successful career, now culminating in the new California company.

Mr. Metzler's contact with conditions as he found them in the world's financial center has convinced him, he says, that this city is becoming, to a rapidly growing degree the logical companion to New York in the development of big business and important financing. He anticipates a continuation of the conditions which have placed Los Angeles in the first row of American cities and is enthusiastic over the opportunities his house will have to participate in the future advance.

Folks, allow me to present Mr. Cowan, the brains behind my Refinery.

Mr. Cowan some months ago resigned from a position he has held with the Union Oil Company of California for the past 14 years to "join forces" with me as Executive Vice President of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, and has "active management of the whole refining end of this Company."

Mr. Cowan evidently has no fears as to the ultimate success of my project, having resigned from a most remunerative position with one of the largest and most successful Oil Companies in the world.

Mr. Cowan has invested in the Julian Petroleum Corporation $50,000 on exactly the same basis as you have or will invest yours.

If you can't spare the time to give us the once over, "write it out and mail it today."

Letter No. 8—THAT YOU MAY KNOW

To the Taxpayers of the City of Los Angeles

I have had so many requests as to what my letter No. 1, printed in the Los Angeles Times on June 20, 1923, contained, that I am reprinting it below. This is your fight as well as the fight of the farmers of the San Fernando Valley. These farmers have a real grievance, and this fight is going on until this matter is settled. If any of you people do not like this fight, the quickest way to stop it is for you to get in and help us settle it. Under the below expressed conditions I would be willing to accept contributions from anybody of any amount, so long as they carry confidence with them.

LETTER NO. 1

"Every winter the water of the aqueduct runs mostly to waste into the Pacific Ocean; this is an undisputed fact and the wastage amounts to at least 75% of the flow of the aqueduct since its completion.

"The wastage of water in a semi-arid country like Southern California is an economic crime.

Together with other farmers of the Valley, I have for seven years tried to stop this great waste; we have tried to prevail upon the Board of Public Service to make a consistent policy of selling this waste water for irrigation in the Valley at rates customary in Southern California for such water. A policy that would benefit the City Treasury, that would augment the flow of the Los Angeles River, that would be of very great assistance to the farmers; that would help all citizens in that it would materially cheapen the cost of food production.

Personally, I have now decided to seek aid of the Courts, believing that where there is a wrong there is a remedy.

I recognize the magnitude of the task; I recognize that in putting myself against the Board of Public Service with all its attorneys, and with all its engineers, and with a bottomless purse kept full by taxpayers I am facing a Goliath.

Every citizen of Los Angeles is interested in this fight and I here and now give them the opportunity of assisting in it financially. This fight is going on whether citizens assist me or not but it is money that makes the fur fly.

I would be glad to accept financial assistance under the following express conditions:

1. As there must be unity of command no contributor gains any voice in the management of this fight; I will need, and will listen attentively to counsel, but in the end I will make the decision. I do not want your assistance if I have not your confidence.

2. Contributions shall be confidential and disposed of solely at my discretion.

3. That it is distinctly understood that I am giving only my spare time to this fight, and only after I have attended to my own business and affairs and that as I am acting without any compensation that no contributor has any right to haul me over the coals for any act of omission or commission.

4. That contributions be earmarked and after this fight is over, or annually, if it lasts more than a year, a statement be published in the Los Angeles Times showing itemized contributions earmarked and itemized expenditures, and finally giving the unexpended balance, if any, to the Salvation Army."

The issue in this fight is to MAKE THE USE OF THE WATERS OF THE AQUEDUCT FOR IRRIGATION A PRIOR USE TO THE USE OF SAID WATERS FOR THE PRODUCTION OF POWER.

(Signed) VOLNEY H. CRAIG.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—A firm market for California oranges was reportde locally toward the close of the week and the market closed strong at $3.25 to $7.25 per box according to size and condition.

Imported lemons met with a fair demand during the week although offerings were rather limited. There are only two small cargoes now in port with a total of 8575 boxes.

DRIED FRUITS

Dried-fruit developments in the Saturday market were entirely lacking. The trade remained inactive. Insofar as coast offerings were concerned interest naturally centered in new dried peaches, opening prices on which were named a comparatively short time ago. The action of the association in quoting the same prices for peeled and unpeeled has given independents a chance to cut under, and it is reported that one independent is underselling the association on unpeeled by 1 to 2 cents per pound according to grade. Buying of peaches, however, has been rather quiet, the trade lacking confidence in the market for new goods while the spot situation remains so unsettled.

CANNED FOODS

Tomato canning is now on in full blast in Maryland and Delaware and the market has come down as supplies become more plentiful. One well-known brokerage organization, operating in the packing section says, "Some Baltimore canners and others will tell you that there was no early pack; that on August 27, this year, the pack was more than 1,000,000 cases behind last year; that no matter how late the frost may keep off this quantity cannot be made up after September; that some canners have already sold more futures than they can pack because their labor is so short that they can't make a big pack no matter how many raw tomatoes there are or how cheap they may be.

"We say 'all right,' this may be so and prices may go up ever so high or they may not, but we know that there will be lots of tomatoes canned around here every day for the next thirty days, that they will be for sale and that we want the orders for them. We have filled orders at prices not over $4 for tens and we think this price will not be exceeded next week."

COFFEE

The gradual improvement seen in the coffee market over the past week in the face of adverse influences in primary market is a subject of keen interest in leading trade circles. Strength of the spot market for coffee in the face of a drop to the lowest point ever recorded in Brazil money exchange has heightened the conviction that actual is an attractive purchase and that speculative tactics are being ignored by the trade.

Demand for prompt coffee from the interior has continued urgent and desirable selections have commanded a premium due to scarcity. Rio receipts daily amount to about 16,000 bags. The exchange has been closed until the 4th inst.

SUGAR

The general improvement which took place in the sugar markets at the close of last week established the raw basis at the 4½ basis cost and freight or 6.28 cents delievered. Business in refined has shown big improvement over the course of the past week upward of 100,000 tons of refined having been taken off the market.

A uniform advance of 22 to 36 points was scored in raw sugar futures last week on a turnover of approximately 150,000 tons. The principal influence behind the advance was active in the market.

COPPER

Copper last week dropped from 14 to 13⅜ cents a pound for electrolytic delivered, the lowest price in almost a year. This was materially helped along by the adverse situation in Europe and the reaction in the London market.

London market was: spot standard, £62, 12s 6d; futures standard, £63, 7s 6d; spot electrolytic, £66, and futures electrolytic, £69.

The total transactions on the London metal exchange for the week were 375 tons of spot and 4525 tons futures.

LEAD

The A. S. & R. advanced its price for lead 1-4 cent to 6 3-4 cents a pound in New York last week and although later on a shortage developed, independents were able to sell at as high as 7.20 cents for prompt delivery, the leading interest still quoting the lower price. The price range as the week closed was 6.75 to 7 cents New York and 6.65 to 6.75 cents St. Louis. Foreign lead can be laid down in New York for 7 cents, duty paid, which operates to keep the price of futures from going much above this level. Exports of lead, through the port of New York, in August totaled 3075 tons.

London market: Spot, £24, 15s and futures £24, 17s 6d. Trading on the London metal exchange for the week amounted to 1350 tons of spot and 4450 tons of futures.

ZINC

The zinc market eased off from 5 to 10 points last week and closed at from 6.40 to 6.45 cents a pound St. Louis. However, there were one or two producers who showed a disposition to pick up lots offered at the lower price. It will be remembered that from August 16 the price had advanced from 6.25 cents due to labor troubles but most of these have now been ironed out and not even the buying movement abroad of two weeks ago strengthened the market.

London market: Spot £33, 10s; futures, £32, 7s 6d. Trading on the London metal exchange amounted to 350 tons of spot for the week and 1975 tons of futures.

TIN

An upward movement in tin was inaugurated early last week on a sharp buying movement by American consumers but this demand subsided later and the markets reacted. The war cloud that hung over Italy and Greece contributed to the break in London. The net change was a gain of almost three-quarter of a cent a pound. Practically all deliveries and positions of straits and straits shipments closed at from 40 3-8 to 40½ cents a pound. The market was dull and weak.

BONDS

Bonds finished the week quietly despite the pressure exerted against stocks on Saturday. Foreign loans were inclined to be erratic at the start on the news of the Italian operations against Greece but steadied when foreign exchange rates showed but slight changes.

Liberties finished the week with minor changes though activity for the week has been wider than for some weeks, due to the large blocks of third 4 1-4s which changed hands.

September will see some fairly heavy offerings of new bonds with substantial amounts of public utility, rail, industrial and foreign issues.

The tone of the mercantile reviews continues to improve, indicating a better confidence in business recovery. Easying of call money to 4½ per cent did not increase the call for bonds, though a continued low level of money would cause the complexion of the bond market to change.

PETROLEUM

Effective Saturday, Magnolia Petroleum Company reduced its prices for crude oil in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, where it is purchasing on a gravity basis, from 20 to 30 cents a barrel. These prices are to be paid at all points where the company has pipe lines and all other points less transportation.

Standard Oil of Kentucky has reduced its price of gasoline 1 to 2 cents a gallon throughout all its territory.

BUTTER

Receipts of butter last Saturday were 8585 packages. Absence of a call on the mercantile exchange and most stores closing early narrowed the scope of the market. The trend has been erratic during the past several days. It is believed that the real strength of the market was directly traceable to speculative buying for the September delivery.

Creamery high score, 45½ to 46 cents; unsalted cheamery, high score, 47 to 47½; State dairy, tubs, finest, 43½ to 44½ cents, and packing stock, No. 1 current, 34 cents.

EGGS

Receipts of eggs last Saturday were 12,858 cases. Trade for the week was practically over Friday. There has been an abundance of brown eggs on the market for the last ten days, but there has been no surplus whatever of choice quality. Buyers have not been disposed to take lines of size, especially of brown eggs. As a matter of fact, the use of white eggs is increasing very fast, nothwithstanding the wide difference in values. There have been active movements of storage eggs for December delivery. Chicago commitments are 1230 cars and New York 180.

Fresh gathered extras, 36 to 39 cents; New Jersey hennery white selected, 57; New Jersey brown, 48 to 53; Pacific Coast white extras, 47 to 49; other western and southern gathered whites, 33 to 42 cents.

ARCHBISHOP IS HELD BY POLAND

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WARSAW, Sept. 3.—Archbishop Szeptycki, who was recently imprisoned by Polish authorities, has been deported to the Mercy Hospital at Posen by the Polish government pending the settlement of its dispute with the Vatican over the prelate's right to enter Galicia.

Count Szeptycki, metropolitan of the Ukro-Ruthenian Uniate Church (Galician Catholic in communion with Rome,) whose church has its American headquarters in Philadelphia, was arrested on special orders from the Polish government and was captured when he ventured into forbidden Galician territory on a return journey from Warsaw to his home in Lemberg.

WAS ACTIVE HERE

The Polish government's wrath against Count Szeptycki is declared to be chiefly the result of his anti-polish activities ascribed to him while in the United States.

While an important propaganda battle was being waged there it was his agents, it is alleged, who picketed the Polish Legation and consulate at Washington in an effort to attract attention and arouse sentiment against the inclusion of any part of Galicia in Poland. Count Szeptycki has adopted citizenship in the Ukraine, and is a powerful political leader.

It is a strange coincidence that the count's brother, Gen. Szeptycki, was destined to be in command of the soldiers who carried out the decree for his arrest. Gen. Szeptycki, who does not agree with his brother's political views, is a Polish citizen. He decided to cast his lot with that republic rather than the Ukraine.

HELD FROM GALICIA

Because of his political activities Count Sceptycki for a long time has been forbidden to enter Poland except on trips to Warsaw over a route that would not take him through any part of Galicia.

The Minister of the Interior once granted the metropolitan permission to make a journey to Posen to visit Cardinal Dalbor. Permission to pass through or visit Galicia was withheld until such time as the metropolitan might choose to swear allegiance to Poland and also fulfill the demand that he issue a pastoral letter to his flock counseling loyalty to the Polish state.

A YOUNG RUSSELL SAGE

George was invited to Junior's birthday party. Bobby was ill, so mother could not go out to buy a birthday gift, so, having 75 cents in change, she put it in an envelope so George could give it to Junior, who was well pleased. Lunch being over and time to go home, little George went up to Junior's mother and said: "I had a very nice time at Junior's party, but don't I get any change back?"—[Capper's Weekly.

GIRL BATTLES MORON; RESCUED BY AUTOISTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Viola Rosbeck, 14 years of age, reinforced by the all-but-futile efforts of her 7-year-old brother, successfully fought off a moron who seized her and dragged her into some bushes in the vacant country of the far North Side. The children were returning from a visit with neighbors and took a short cut through the prairie and vacant lots.

The moron, described as a foreigner about 40 years of age, extremely hairy and filthy, first seized the boy and flung him to one side. He then grabbed the girl and dragged her into the bushes, but was unable to stop her screaming, although he tried to choke her.

The boy also regained his feet and began screaming, attracting the attention of motorists on a road some distance away. Several parties of rescuers started across the vacant territory. The moron released the girl and ran away.

The police say they have numerous charges of a similar nature against a man answering this description.

SUCCUMBS AFTER SUDDEN ATTACK WHILE AT DINNER FRIDAY

[BY A. P NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3. — Judge William C. Van Fleet of the United States District Court died in his home today after a brief illness. Death was preceded by two days of semiconsciousness following a cerebral hemorrhage suffered while he was at dinner Friday night. The jurist had conducted court Friday and apparently was in the best of health.

Judge Van Fleet is survived by a widow, a daughter and four sons, Carey and Alan, San Francisco attorneys; William, a Seattle engineer, and Clark, and electrician in Santa Rosa.

A little more than a year ago Judge Van Fleet went to Phoenix, Ariz., and presided over a hearing which resulted in the quashing of indictments against United States Senator Ralph Cameron, involving irregularities in campaign receipts and expenditures.

Declares Spicy Sex Adventures Moral Reading

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Sept. 3.—Victor Margueritte, author of the novel, "La Garconne," today fired a broadside at the government departments of the Interior and Public, which forbade the film drawn from the famous book.

"The reason given for suppressing the film was, 'deplorable deformation given the character of French young girls,'" says M. Margueritte ironically. "French girls thank you for a back-handed compliment."

He points out that the heroine in the novel was a very wicked girl in many ways. He maintains that a spicy story of intrigues and sex adventures is "completely moral."

Elephant tusks are called "tusks," and frequently "teeth," by the natives, who term the real teeth "grinders."

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. Philadelphia geologists and entists who have followed the ports of the Yokohama earth declare its disruptions and quences alike to be some of most disastrous in history.

Its damage is likened to the Messina in 1908, but its imm cause is generally regarded by no means the same.

According to Dr. Mal Bissell, professor of ge Bryn Mawr College, the quakes can be likened "growing pains" of mountai

POLICE OFFICER MARKED TO DIE

Three Gunmen Said to be "After" C. D. Hoy

Asserted to be Desperadoes From Bay City

Extra Men Are Assigned to Local Vice Squad

One Los Angeles police officer has been marked for death by assassination and three Greek gunmen from San Francisco have been selected for the task, according to information in the hands of Central Station police authorities yesterday.

The intended victim is Patrolman C. D. Hoy, a member of the vice squad, now attached to the [illegible] detail and recently active in a series of raids on Greek [illegible] houses and underworld [illegible] east of Main street.

This became known yesterday when it was learned that Capt. [illegible] Heath, commander of the Central Division has issued orders to assign two extra men to Officer Hoy's detail as the result of information leaking out from underworld sources.

TIPS SEEM AUTHENTIC

Three separate reports, two of them three weeks apart, have been made to the police and each one appeared to verify the original tip that Officer Hoy was to be assassinated by the underworld ring seeking to control the field and eliminate policemen who are too active for their own good.

The first report, it was learned at police headquarters yesterday, came from a man serving a short sentence in the City Jail. This man, whose name is being withheld for his own safety, told officers attached to the vice division that there was a plot to "bump" Officer Hoy and that the gunmen were on the way here from San Francisco.

Several weeks later Lieut. Massey, head of the vice squad, was given the same information, although from an entirely different source. The gunmen, Lieut. Massey was told, arrived in Los Angeles and were shadowing the officer, awaiting the right opportunity to riddle him with bullets. The third report was made by another officer of the vice division and the three reports were forwarded to Capt. Heath several days ago.

"The matter came to me through official channels and I at once gave orders that Hoy's detail be increased and that he and his teammates not separate on their trips at night. I am sure it will be unhealthy for anyone to attempt anything of the sort," Capt. Heath said yesterday.

Lieut. Massey, when questioned, said he had reasons to believe the reports originated from the same source and were based on facts. "Hoy can take care of himself, but I felt that the case would bear watching," he said.

Charlie Hoy is one of the veterans of the vice squad and has figured in hundreds of sensational raids. Recently he made a series of arrests that led to the filing of abatement actions against a number of Greek coffee houses around [illegible] street and east of Main street. About two weeks ago he was charged with being too rough in making arrests at 229½ East [illegible] street. The charges later were dropped.

With his team partner, J. D. McMullen, Officer Hoy figured in a sensational raid on a ring of bootleggers about a month ago, which led to a half a dozen arrests and included a sensational downtown chase in which a truck transporting liquor was driven into a [illegible] and three men arrested.

MINES' SUIT COMMENDED BY CITIZENS

Plaintiff Says His Action Should Also be Welcomed by Service Board

W. W. Mines, the local realtor who brought a suit last week as a taxpayer against the Board of Public Service Commissioners and other city officials, to force them to repay into the city treasury more than $9000 which Mr. Mines declares was illegally expended by the Public Service Board for power bond propaganda during the last campaikn, said yesterday that he has been commended by many citizens for the step he had taken.

"I am not opposed to municipal ownership, properly managed," said Mr. Mines. "I do think, however, that the court should settle once for all just how far the Public Service Commission can go in spending its revenues for publicity in support of its enterprises. This suit should be welcomed by the board, as the board itself undoubtedly desires a final court ruling on this issue. I have no quarrel with the board or any of its members or employees, or with creditors named in the complaint. It is the principle at stake in which I am concerned, namely, the determination of the proper use of power revenues.

"The complaint filed is a bulky one, and yet it covers only a few of the bills which the commission incurred during the campaign. Since the filing of the suit a number of other bills have been paid for advertising and other purposes, and it is possible that my attorneys will amend the original complaint to include bills most recently paid. The original complaint includes only principal bills covering different types of publicity and does not attempt to include every item which has been paid thus far."

The printers, painters, circular distributors, newspapers and magazines who did work for and published paid advertisements for the power bonds and whose bills are set forth in the Mines suit, are in no way involved in the suit itself. Should the court give a decision in support of Mr. Mines's contention, then the Board of Public Service Commissioners and other city officials named in the suit would be called on, jointly and severally, to make up the total of more than $9000 covering the campaign bills as set forth in the Mines suit.

FACES INTOXICATION CHARGE IN COLLISION

Jack M. Fox, 23 years of age, living at the Bryson Apartments, Wilshire boulevard and Rampart street, drove down Sunset Boulevard last night and his auto collided with another machine parked at the curb. W. R. Johnson, 466 North Juanita street, gave chase. At Hollywood station, police thought Fox was ill; they sent him to the Receiving Hospital. He was booked last night at Central Station on a charge of driving an automobile while intoicated.

SPECIAL OFFICER IS BEATEN BY FIVE MEN

Frank Porterie, 30 years of age, 4539 Arroyo Seco, a special officer for the Law and Order League, attended a Labor Day picnic at Rosehill Park yesterday. While there he heard shooting in the distance. He investigated and found five men at target practice. He remonstrated; they assaulted him. He recovered consciousness later, so thoroughly beaten that first aid at the Receiving Hospital was necessary. The five men escaped.

LABOR ISSUE IS NATIONAL

Open-Shop Example of This City Widely Followed

Means Steady Work, Good Times for Everybody

How the Principle Works in Present Building Drive

This is the sixth of a series of articles dealing with the general building situation in and around Los Angeles from the standpoint of the workman, the contractor and the man who puts up the money.

The principle of the open shop, upon which the industrial development of Los Angeles was founded and has grown, has within recent years reached the proportions of a national movement, commented upon at length by students of labor questions in many States adopted as a code in a great many other large cities of the United States. The example of Los Angeles has been a great factor in bringing this about.

It remained for the late war to bring long standing labor differences to an acute head. The work of carrying on the war was the one matter that went forward to its final conclusion, sweeping before it every obstacle in the way. To the everlasting credit of the business men manufacturers of the nation must be placed the fact that they bowed to the wishes of the government in all cases where the question of wages was at issue. And to the everlasting discredit of the labor unions must be placed the fact that they used the war and war work as a lever for boosting wages and retarding production.

BOOMERANG STRIKES

The boomerang of union labor activity during war time has hit harder that anyone on either side of the question expected and out of it came the so-called American plan of labor, which in effect recognizes of the right of the laboring man to organize but is unalterably opposed to the use of that organization as a means of coercion for higher wages or unreasonable conditions of employment. It advocates the right of every man to sell his labor to the highest bidder, it recognizes the right of the employer to hire and to fire without dictation and to otherwise run his own business as he sees fit.

THE M. AND M.

No account, however brief, of the development and operations of the open shop principle in Los Angeles would be complete without reference to the unflagged and consistently effective efforts of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and of F. J. Zeehandelaar, its veterans secretary, for the promotion of that doctrine. The M. and M. as it is commonly referred to, is an association of the leading business men of Los Angeles, which has for many years stood as an unfaltering bulwark against the constantly-renewed assaults of organizers for the American Federation of Labor.

Los Angeles and the shining example which it has given the world of the practical benefits of the open shop as a fundamental in the development of industry have long been a thorn in the side of organized labor. Years have been spent, small armies of men have been sent here and large outlays of money made to "unionize" Los Angeles. That these efforts have failed, except in some isolated crafts, is largely due to the constant vigil-

Veterans Will See 'White Rose' Picture Today

Veterans confined to the hospital in the National Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle will have a motion picture and vaudeville show brought to their bedsides this morning, when D. W. Griffith's picture, "The White Rose," will be presented at the hospital for their benefit.

The film is the same which is being shown this week at Sid Grauman's Million Dollar Theater, and the showing at Sawtelle is made through courtesy of Mr. Grauman. The picture presentation will be accompanied by several acts of vaudeville, taken from the various Grauman theaters.

In addition to the disabled veterans, the regular residents at the Home are invited to the showing, which begins at 9 a.m. Preparations are being made for a crowd of 3000. The picture is the most recent release made by D. W. Griffith, best known of the pioneer directors of the screen, and marks the return to pictures of Mae Marsh, one of the earliest of the Griffith actresses. It also features Carol Dempster, latest of the feminine finds made by this producer.

HUSBAND SUES MARIE PREVOST

Few Persons Knew of Her Marriage

Marie Prevost

With the entering of her default in the Superior Court, it became revealed that Marie Prevost, film star who rose to fame in the motion pictures from the ranks of the bathing beauties, would not oppose the divorce suit brought by her husband, H. C. Gerke.

The filing of the suit by Gerke about two weeks ago was the first intimation to the general public that Miss Prevost had been married.

The only charge made by Gerke in his complaint was desertion. He said they were married in Oceanside, June 22, 1918, and that Miss Prevost left him May 28, 1922.

Gerke is asserted to have stated after filing the suit that his wife's aversion to having the fact that she was married known for fear of injuring her career, was an unsurmountable barrier to their domestic happiness.

WOOD FIRE AT SAN GABRIEL

Watershed Threatened as Scores Fight Blaze; Hundreds of Acres of Forest Swept

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AZUSA, Sept. 3.—A forest fire of serious proportions is raging in Brown's Gulch, at San Gabriel Canyon, and already has swept over several hundred acres of virgin forest land. The fire is reported to be menacing the San Gabriel watershed.

AZUSA, Sept. 3.—A forest fire of serious proportions is raging in Brown's Gulch, at San Gabriel Canyon, and already has swept over several hundred acres of virgin forest land. The fire is reported to be menacing the San Gabriel watershed.

In an effort to check the spread of the flames, virtually every available forest ranger has been summoned. These are drafting all campers and tourists in the canyon to aid in the fight. At a late hour tonight 200 men were on the fire line but calls for additional men are being received constantly and new parties are being recruited here.

Forest rangers, in reports sent here, stated they could place the fire under control if sufficient fire-fighting apparatus can be rushed to them. A shifting of the wind, they said, would cause the flames to leap over to the watershed, endangering the water supply of this city, Monrovia and other municipalities.

The fire is believed to have been started by a careless camper. Camping parties from Camp Rincon and other resorts in San Gabriel Canyon are being stopped. The women and children are being sent on their way while the men are being drafted to aid in fighting the blaze. The blaze is said to be centered in the gulch about nine miles north of here.

Another less threatening forest fire is said to be sweeping Iron Mountain Canyon, north of Brown's Gulch. Parties of hurriedly mustered fire fighters also are being rushed there, it being feared that the two conflagrations might join.

DENIES PROMISES TO WED

Rich Hotel Man, Answering Woman's $125,000 Suit, Says He Already Was Married

No actual promises to marry were ever made, although the subject was discussed often in connection with his divorce proceedings against his wife, A. W. Stowell, wealthy hotel man, declared in an answer filed in the Superior Court to the suit brought by Mrs. Ada Robinson asking $125,000 damages for his refusal to marry her.

Mrs. Robinson, a woman who had been married and divorced, was well aware that he was already married and unable legally to contract another marriage, Stowell further declared, and added that their association was with her full consent and knowledge of the circumstances.

The plaintiff asserted that Stowell promised on November 19, 1921, to marry her, that being the day after he had obtained an interlocutory decree from his wife, setting the day when the decree became final. Many times after this alleged engagement, he reiterated his promise to marry her, Mrs. Robinson asserted.

On the strength of his promise to marry she consented to travel with him and appear in public, where she was introduced as his future wife, the complaint stated.

Stowell asserted in his answer that he was still married and until a final decree was granted him could not legally marry Mrs. Robinson. The question of marriage between them was never agreed upon, that matter being left by mutual agreement to be discussed when the final decree from his wife had been entered, he declared.

It has been unofficially reported that, since the filing of the interlocutory decree, Stowell and his wife have become reconciled.

MOONSHINERS UP-TO-DATE

Large Plant Found, Equipped with Electric Motors to Do the Work; Woman Arrested

Equipped with electric motors to do all the hard work, a still capable of turning out several hundred gallons daily of almost 200-proof booze was discovered in full operation yesterday in a barn at the corner of Cudahy and Elizabeth streets, according to Investigators Mahoney and Lane of the District Attorney's office.

Besides the still the barn contained, according to the investigators, four large vats for mash of 1000 gallons capacity each. The vats were nearly full, holding approximately 3500 gallons, the investigators say.

Indicating the volume of business transacted by the illicit plant, the investigators found, they say, 155 gallon cans used for delivering moonshine. The still itself was of 500 gallons capacity. There was a steam boiler in connection with the plant and everything was complete and up to the minute.

The plant showed evidences of careful construction and looked as though a good workman had had a hand in making it, the investigators said. There was nothing amateurish in the fitting of the pipes and joints.

MAN SHOT AT PARTY GIVES UP

Victim of Bullet During Long Beach Brawl Freed; Three Arrested

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 3.—Council A. Cash, who got into the way of a bullet intended for Jerry Mooney last night and then disappeared, came to police headquarters this afternoon and gave himself up.

Mrs. Dorothy Mills, owner of an apartment-house at 527 Seaside avenue, where the shooting occurred, is being held on a charge of attempted murder in connection with the case. Her guest, Suzannah De Tchon, the cause of the shooting, is also held on a vagrancy charge.

The shooting, according to prisoners, came in the course of a drinking and petting party at the apartment. Cash, it appears from the statement of prisoners, was somewhat lukewarm in his attentions to Miss De Tchon, his partner at the party. Mrs. Mills noticed this and reprimanded the youth.

Mooney then took it upon himself to shower the girl with attentions, and Mrs. Mooney also objected to this, the police were told. Mooney slapped her, she said. Thereupon she took a revolver from a dresser drawer and fired three times at her assailant, it is declared. Two of the bullets went astray. The last struck the youth. He fled from the field of battle with one of his fingers shot off.

Police investigated and arrested Mooney and the two women. Cash could not be found. Today, however, he appeared at headquarters on advice of his attorneys and explained his part in the controversy. He was released.

DR. SCHERER SENDS WIRE FROM JAPAN

Says He and Party of Eleven Tourists Are Safe at Nikko

Among Californians who were in the danger zone in the Japanese earthquake was Dr. James A. B. Scherer, for twelve years president of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena.

In a wireless message to The Times last night, Dr. Scherer reported himself and his party of eleven other tourists safe at Nikko.

They were scheduled to arrive at that city on August 31, the day of the earthquake, and probably remained there.

Dr. Scherer's daughter, Mrs. Isabel Mosher, lives in Glendale.

CHILD KILLED BY BEAR AT STUDIO

Girl Mauled by Playful Cub Dies of Injuries

Seized When She Approaches Too Close to Animal

Magazine Writer's Daughter is Victim

Approaching too close to a half-grown bear chained in the yard of the Realart Motion Picture Studio, 5-year-old Valma Hollingsworth, daughter of Dick Hollingsworth, magazine editor, was knocked down by the bear, dying from a basal fracture of the skull Sunday night.

According to the story told by Mrs. John W. Banbury, an aunt with whom the child had been living at 2821 Council street, the child and her chum induced the keeper to let them go into the yard and watch the bears being fed Sunday morning. The Hollingsworth child came within reach of one of the half-grown bears, the animal reaching at her with his paw and knocking her to the ground. He then mauled her around and clawed her before the attendant rescued her. It was said the bear was not vicious, but was merely playing with the child.

Valma was taken to a near-by hospital where Dr. C. D. Dickey and Dr. F. C. Ferry dressed a wound in the head and several deep claw marks on the legs and body. She was considered seriously, but not dangerously hurt. She died Sunday night from hemorrhage produced by what proved to be a skull fracture. The child's father, who has offices in the Byrne Building, was out of the city. He arrived home yesterday morning.

AVALON SWIM IS FAILURE

C. A. Banfield Taken From Water Five Miles From Island After Fighting Waves Nine Hours

After an effort of nine hours and thirty-two minutes, fighting a [illegible] sea and combating water much colder than should be expected [illegible] this season of the year, C. A. Banfield was taken from the ocean in [illegible] five miles off Long Point, Catalina Island, at 10:27 o'clock yesterday morning.

The swimmer had left Point Fermin at 12:55 a.m. with the intention of making Avalon in approximately eleven hours, but adverse [illegible] made it impossible for [illegible] to complete the journey and he [illegible] taken into the attending motor [illegible] on the verge of exhaustion [illegible] hurried to a hotel at Avalon [illegible] he quickly revived after a rub down and a short sleep.

CALLED IMPOSSIBLE

During the swim Banfield was accompanied by a twenty-six foot motor boat carrying E. F. James and M. H. Phillips. The swimmer remained on the starboard side of the craft the entire distance. He used the breast stroke with intervals on his back to regain his wind. The feat is pronounced impossible by Banfield, who has crossed Puget Sound and made other long-distance records. He is of the opinion that long training in northern waters might make is possible to cover a few more miles than was accomplished yesterday.

SHOOT AT SHARK

No trouble was experienced from big fish during the swim and with the exception of one shark no sea monsters were sighted. Men in the motor boat fired a shot at the shark, but are unable to say whether their bullet took effect.

Gordon Ralls, long-distance swimmer of Avalon, who was to have started from the island toward the mainland at the same time Banfield left this side, was not in good enough physical condition to undertake the swim. It is announced that he will try for the honors next Sunday with a starting time to be announced later.

TO INSPECT OIL FIELDS

Congressmen from Pacific Coast States to View All Phases of Industry in California

Members of Congress from five States are scheduled to take part in a tour of inspection of California oil fields, starting Wednesday morning, under the auspices of the American Petroleum Institute, it was announced yesterday. The purpose of the trip is to acquaint the legislators with the importance of the industry as a whole.

"The oil industry is a great and complicated business," Norval White, Pacific Coast representative of the institute, said yesterday. "The American Petroleum Institute is a national organization composed of leading oil men, representing all phases and branches of the business.

"We desire to give the members of Congress from the Pacific Coast States a first-hand view of the industry in California, the leading oil-producing State in the Union.

"Discoveries of very rich fields in Southern California have increased production to a record total of some 870,000 barrels a day, against 382,221 barrels a day a year ago. This sudden flood of oil has taxed the resources of the industry, great as they are, but oil men have met their responsibilities and have accomplished a difficult task with quite remarkable success.

Members of the party will visit the producing fields, inspect pipe lines, refineries and marketing facilities, and visit Naval Reserves Nos. 1 and 2 in the San Joaquin Valley. They will have an opportunity to inspect at close range all phases of the business."

Invitations have been sent to Congress from California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and Arizona and to members of the Naval Affairs Committee who are visiting the Pacific Coast.

The party will journey Wednesday to Kern county, thence working northward, and will arrive in San Francisco Sunday.

VENICE AUTOISTS WARNED

VENICE, Sept. 3.—Announcement was made this morning by Chief of Police McCausland that new traffic regulations will be rigidly enforced. Speed laws, following the abolishing of "traps," also will be enforced to the limit and warning is given that all cases in the future will be severely dealt with.

WOMAN CAPTURES BURGLAR

Wrests Revolver From Intruder and Engages in Gun Duel; Helps Husband Hold Him

Grabbing a pistol from the hands of a burglar after he had fired at her, Mrs. D. Wright, 2027 Huron street, engaged in a gun fight with him and helped her husband and his mother, Mrs. Nettie Cook, hold him until policemen arrived, according to a report to police last night.

The shooting occurred after the burglar had escaped from the grasp of Mrs. Cook and had thrown Mr. Wright down. Mrs. Wright's use of the revolver enabled the trio to capture the intruder and summon help from Lincoln Heights' police station.

When Officers Newton and Aselin escorted the man to the police station, he gave his name as Joe Green and his age as 25 years. He refused to talk when questioned about two revolvers he had had on his person and the jewelry which was found. The jewelry included seven watches, four watch charms, a valuable diamond brooch, two lavallieres, eight rings, several stick pins and a number of keys.

The police are attempting to identify the jewelry as part of plunder taken in recent burglaries, although Green asserted he had only been in Los Angeles one day.

The shooting which preceded the capture occurred in the yard of the home of Mrs. Cook's sister, 2028 Huron street, across the street from Mrs. Cook's home.

With her son and his wife, Mrs. Cook was returning home when she noticed a light in the sister's home. The sister is out of the city and she decided to investigate. She went to the back door and sent her son and his wife to the front door.

As she reached the back door, according to the police the man appeared almost running into her and breaking away when she grabbed him.

Mr. Wright heard the scuffle and intercepted the man when he reached the front yard. They wrestled and the man again broke away, jerking a revolver from his pocket and firing at Mrs. Wright as she ran to aid her husband.

Undaunted by the fire, although the powder burned her hands, she twisted the pistol from the burglar's grasp. He brought a second revolver into play and they exchanged shots, she told the police.

Breaking away again, he tried to jump a fence but was caught by Wright and Mrs. Cook and the three sat on him until officers arrived.

SHERIFF SEEKS "MYSTERY MAN"

R. E. Rynning Disappears After $10,000 Mine Deal

Room-mate Also Quits Hotel About Same Time

Suicide of Former Hinted at in Farewell Note

R. E. Rynning, a mining man, is missing from his room in a downtown hotel; his room-mate, who reported the disappearance, gave up his room at the hotel without leaving a forwarding address after having resided there for several months, and the address given by a third man, who is said to know of events leading up to Rynning's disappearance, is said not to exist.

These are some of the elements in a mystery brought to the Sheriff's office yesterday Coupled with them are the assertions that Rynning, despondent after having spent $10,000 in a mining venture near Randsburg, had threatened to commit suicide.

The report to the Sheriff's office was made by J. C. Beggs, who gave his address as 1351 South Westlake avenue, and W. P. Radford, who said he was a room-mate of the missing man.

An investigation disclosed that the South Westlake-avenue number is erroneous and residents in that neighborhood said they were not acquainted with Mr. Beggs.

At the hotel where Radford reported that he and Rynning were living a clerk declared that Radford had checked out yesterday morning after having resided there for several months.

He did not leave any forwarding address, the clerk asserted. Radford reported to the Sheriff, however, that his home was in Fresno.

Rynning was not a guest of the hotel, the clerk declared, but had "worked out of it with Radford."

THREATENED SUICIDE

Despondent over the outcome of his venture, according to the report made by the two men to the Sheriff, Rynning told them Sunday that he was going to "swim to sea as far as he could swim and end it all."

At 1 a.m. Monday, Radford found a note beneath his door saying, "Good-by. God bless you."

Rynning's car is said to be missing and the Sheriff's office has notified all beach towns and the police department to watch for the missing man and the car.

Rynning is described as 35 years of age, a Norwegian, five feet ten inches in height, weighing 140 pounds and slender.

VENICE, Sept. 3.—The consistent singing of C. Meals, local youth, who was harmonizing to the strains of a Windward avenue cafe orchestra as he stood on the sidewalk below, proved his undoing. He was arrested and charged with being intoxicated. Meals is being held in the City Jail in default of $25 bail. He will appear before Police Judge Frank Willard Friday afternoon.

VANDALS UNCOVER SECRETS

Secret Rooms Found in Arizona Cliff Dwellings by Accident

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

JEROME (Ariz.) Sept. 3.—Vandals sometimes achieve a degree of usefulness, it was demonstrated at Montezuma's castle, a great cliff house in the Verde Valley, southeast of here. Frank Pinckley, who is in charge of Casa Grande, Tumacacori Mission and other national monuments and reservations in Arizona, now repairing the east wall of the castle, has found where intruders had discovered a room hitherto unsuspected. A hole was found cut through the floor of one of the open chambers.

Below was a secret chamber evidently once a milling room and granary, for within were a large stone mill, grain and wheat heads, cotton bolls, cloth and several sandals. Of especial interest were the nummified remains of two animals that have not been identified, about ten inches in length, hairy and with squirrel-like heads. It has been suggested that they might have been household pets.

The region is full of prehistoric remains, including valley pueblos, whose inhabitants dug irrigation canals from the Verde River and several of its tributaries, cliff dwellings in number and a curious type of caveate dwellings, apparently the homes of people of different sort from those who lived in the cliffs and of a different era.

ance of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association.

An interesting outgrowth of the open-shop plan here is the Merchants' and Manufacturers' placement bureau. In reality, it is a community industrial relations department. There is established a common ground upon which employers as a group and employees as a group may meet and discuss their problems. It furnishes an employing system that is purely business, equally good for the man who is hired and the man who does the hiring.

The development of the open-shop principle in Los Angeles has provided the equilibrium by which it has been possible for the city to take care of its enormous structural growth and at the same time to absorb into its citizenry of artisans thousands upon thousands of skilled workmen drawn here by the opportunities of free, well-paid and continuous labor. Examples beyond number have demonstrated that in a well-unionized city a building growth such as Los Angeles has had and is continuing to have is impossible of realization, due to the continuous demands which owners and contractors have to face for higher and higher pay, shorter and shorter hours, restricting conditions piled upon restricting conditions.

NOW SEEK RECRUITS

Significant of the advance of the open-shop plan in Los Angeles are the combating tactics of the labor unions. In the earlier days the unions were wont to carry advertisements in their publications in eastern cities warning skilled workers against coming to Los Angeles, setting up the claim that there was a surplus of labor here. But the workers came just the same, and other thousands of them were developed here. The unions have now taken exactly the reverse attitude, and the advertisements encourage the pilgrimage of the unionized worker to Los Angeles. Numerically the unions, especially those of the building trades, desire to increase their strength.

With an eye ever on the encouragement of ability, the open-shop workman finds himself today paid just as much as his brother in the labor union, with the added advantages of having no dues or fees to subtract from his weekly wage and an ever-increasing opportunity for employment. The union worker faces the regular "divvy" from his wages, and in Los Angeles is gradually witnessing the contraction of his field of labor due to the expansion of the open-shop idea.

Artisans with their own best interests at heart, as well as those of the city, are keen to realize the distinct advantages which are being offered here for steady work at good wages rather than temporary work at artificially high wages. Contractors are recognizing, both from a selfish standpoint as well as from that of regard for the city's future well-being, the value of the open-shop policy as a stabilizer of construction and labor costs, and its strength as the foundation stone of the city's progress and prosperity.

PATHFINDERS IN AIR LOST IN RAINSTORM

NEW YORK AVIATORS LAND IN CORN FIELD IN DARK WITHOUT DAMAGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Flying in a rainstorm and virtually lost for a time without lights which would have guided them to the air mail field, Lieuts. Bertrandis and Garrett, who left Mitchel Field, N. Y., Friday on a pathfinding tour, landed last night in a corn field four miles west of Maywood, a suburb, with only slight damage to their plane, it was learned today. They plan to leave tomorrow for Milwaukee.

The two fliers started a 6000-mile pathfinding trip across the United States to traverse some sections of the country never before crossed by air.

Their projected route from here, according to the schedule, will include Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Fargo, N. D.; Bismarck, N. D.; Billings and Helena, Mont.; Spokane and Seattle, Portland, Eugene, Or., and Redding, Sacramento and San Francisco.

IRISH VICTORY DANCE RAIDED BY MILITARY

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BELFAST, Sept. 3.—A "victory dance" in Dundalk to celebrate the election to the Dail Eireann of Frank Aitkin, Republican chief of staff, was raided by the military in the early hours this morning and all the male participants, numbering fifty-five, and including Phillip Dally, county councillor, were arrested. Authorities asserted that some of the men had previously fired on a party including two army officers.

PERAZA NOW HEADS LEAGUE OF NATIONS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENEVA, Sept. 3.—Dr. Cosme de la Torriento Peraza of Cuba was today elected President of the Assembly of the League of Nations. Dr. Peraza received twenty-four votes and Dr. Giuseppe Motta, former President of Switzerland, received nineteen. Forty-five nations voted.

The new President in his salutary address dwelt upon the great honor that was paid to Cuba by his election and in turn paid warm tribute to the strength and altruism of the League.

It had been expected that Dr. Motta would be elected President, but the South American and Central American states combined their influence and used their preliminary canvassing and organization to good advantage.

The election of the Cuban is regarded as proving that the American nations, members of the League, intend to maintain an active role in its work and to insist upon recognition of their membership. It is also generally accepted that France and Spain backed the Latin Americans in their plans and that the Scandinavian countries led the movement in behalf of Dr. Motta, who constantly has labored for the admission of Germany on the ground that the League, being universal, should include all countries.

LABOR DAY IS OBSERVED

Workers in Office, Store and Factory Make Merry at Southland Beaches and Parks

The men and women of Los Angeles who in office, factory and store contribute their efforts toward the task of making the wheels of industry hum yesterday celebrated Labor Day. By the tens of thousands they flocked to the beaches, pleasure resorts and parks, there proceeding to convert the annual holiday into a day of recreation.

The day was widely observed. Virtually every store, factory and office building remained closed. Public buildings also closed their doors for the entire day.

NUMEROUS PICNICS

The day was enlivened by numerous picnics and outings arranged by various State societies and other organizations. At Rose Hill Park an all day picnic was had. Buck Jones, cinema cowboy and a troupe of his fellow-performers, appeared at the park in an old-fashioned round-up. Band concerts, speeches and dancing were other features of the program. City employees gathered for their annual outing at Sycamore Grove. There they heard municipal affairs discussed by Boyle Workman, president of the City Council, W. C. Mushet, Miles Gregory, Marion Tracie and a number of others. The speechmaking gave place to music later in the afternoon.

FESTIVAL USHERED IN

At Redondo Beach a three-day festival was ushered in with appropriate entertainment features and at Brookside Park a goodly portion of men, women and children who comprise the population of Pasadena, gathered.

Celebrations of various sorts also were conducted in the Bay district, Eagle Rock Park, Long Beach and Exposition Park.

GOSSIP IN WASHINGTON

BY THE OBSERVER
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—All who have occasion to visit the executive offices will welcome the end of the renovation that have been in progress since the late President Harding left for Alaska on June 20. For more than two weeks the holystoning of the new marble floor in the lobby of the offices has been in progress. The President himself, Cabinet members, Senators, all who passed through were forced to wade through the soap stone muck left by the rotating machine that made the place sound like a boiler factory.

But the modern process of holystoning proved a failure, leaving deep scratches. The two Italian workmen who have been dubbed "Mutt" and "Jeff" by the White House correspondents, are doing the job all over again with the old time hand holystones that are the bane of sailors' existences. A constant and irritating squeak has replaced the rumble of the machine.

Added to that some plumbers came in to adjust the new silvered radiators. Of course, the holes drilled through the floor did not fit. Therefore, the plumbers took sledge and driller and proceeded to make life hideous for everybody in the place for half a day.

Members of Congress, who believe their salaries should be increased but, who lack the nerve to vote themselves a raise in pay will gaze in envy at one Senator when the new Congress meets. For the Senator elected president pro tempore of the Senate will have $4500 tacked onto his yearly stipend.

So rules J. R. McCarl, Comptroller-General of the United States. The little czar of Federal finance, who looks like a small addition of Senator Borah of Idaho, and lays down his decisions with the emphasis of the late Speaker Tom Reed of Maine, has ruled that the President pro tempore of the Senate is entitled to everything that a Vice-President gets when there is no Vice-President to receive the emoluments and prerequisites of the office. This will not only include a boost from $7500 to $12,000 a year in salary, but the use of an automobile and the clerical force that goes with the Vice-Presidential job.

The Senate will be reorganized when it meets in December and all officers from President pro tempore and committee chairman down to the minor functionaries around the Senate will be elected by the vote of the Senators. While being President pro tempore is a honor, it is usually an empty honor if the Vice-President happens to be one who sticks as close to his job as did Calvin Coolidge. But with a 60 per cent pay increase attached to the job, the contest for the place is likely to be enlivened.

Senator Cummins of Iowa is the present holder of the place. His term lasts until the Senate meets. It had been rumored some many months that Mr. Cummins, who has not been in good health, wishes to be relieved of the place in order to devote all his time to railroad legislation, which will come before the Interstate Commerce Committee, of which he is chairman. Senator Curtis of Kansas, one of the best parliamentarians in the Senate, was generally regarded as the logical successor. Bue Senator Cummins has returned from Iowa in greatly improved health and gives indication of being prepared to fight for the place, and the pay increase is not expected to cool his ardor.

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, physican for Woodrow Wilson, frenquently motors on the roads of his native State, Virginia, when the condition of those highways will permit, but he never takes chances in speeding no matter how urgent his trip may be. Dr. Grayson has little faith may be. Dr. Grayson has the theory that a doctor's car, like an ambulance can take liberties with the speed laws. His caution, according to the story, is based on the experience of a fellow-physician, who fractured all the traffic and speed regulation one night in getting to the house of patient.

"He was on an emergency call," said Dr. Grayson, "and he was run in for speeding. He explained the situation elaborately to the judge, expressing the opinion that he should be let off under the circumstances. He told the judge that he thought he ought to be allowed to hit it up a bit in the interest of the patient."

"'I can't fine you for thinking, but I will fine you for speeding,'" said the judge in his best country magistrate manner.

"My friend paid his fine ruefully and as he was leaving the magistrate's office delivered himself of this parting shot:

"'Well, since you can't fine me for thinking, I think you are a damn fool.'"

PLANES SEEK WORLD HONOR

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Sept. 3.—Much interest has been aroused in naval air circles by the arrival of American pilots and navy seaplanes which soon will be assembled at Cowes preparatory to the international race for the Schneider Cup on the 27th and 28th inst.

The fastest of these three American machines is considered by the British teams to be their most serious competitor. The preparedness of the Americans in arriving a month before the race is highly commended and taken as a sample of the thoroughness which has enabled the American Navy to dispute British supremacy in over-water flying. The result of the race will in a way decide this question.

The Schneider Cup for seaplanes has not been closely contested since the war. This year there will be eleven machines competing—three American, three British, three French, and two Italian. All are service seaplanes with engines varying from 240 to 650 horse-power. They will be required to pass a test of navigability by running on the water for half a mile at twelve miles an hour, and being moored with no one aboard for six hours.

The course is off Cowes to given points a distance of 37.2 nautical miles away, which must be covered five times, making a total of 186 miles for the course.

Yankee Fails in Attempt to Swim Channel

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DOVER (Eng.) Sept. 3.—Carbis Walker of Cleveland, was picked up three and one-half miles off the Dover coast a little after 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the cold forced him to discontinue his English Channel swim. He entered the water from this side at 1 o'clock, at the end of the first hour had covered more than two miles, and was apparently swimming strongly. Had it not been for the cold of the day, he would have undoubtedly covered a much greater distance.

Frank Perks of Birmingham, Eng., who hopped off at 8 o'clock last night, hoping to reach the French coast, was attacked by a cramp after eleven hours in the water and was forced to give up. He had covered eighteen miles when picked up.

Charles Toth of Boston, Mass., plans to enter the water at 5:30 this afternoon in an attempt to swim the channel.

FUNERAL FOR CHURCH ORGANIST TO BE TODAY

Funeral services for Harry Frederick Schennit, organist at Temple B'nai B'rith, Los Angeles, and the First Methodist Church, Pasadena, will be at 2 o'clock this afternoon at his home, 188 North Madison street. Mr. Schennit was born in Philadelphia fifty years ago. He died Saturday.

FAST CARD ON TAP AT VENICE TOMORROW

Matchmaker "Pop" Nealis has assembled a great card for the Venice American Legion fight show tomorrow night, one that promises to outshine last week's banner program. The main event for this week is one that will keep the fans on their feet during the contest—Jimmy Hackley, featherweight champ of the Pacific Fleet, takes on Jimmy Fitten of San Francisco, who is about the niftiest piece of machinery with the mitts that has been seen in this section for some time. The semi is liable to steal the glamor from the main go, as Jack Spencer, Venice idol, and Phil Mata of the Imperial Valley, are exceptionally good boys and will give the fans a good run for their money. The balance of the card is as follows:

Sammy Lee vs. "Dutch" Crawford, 115 pounds.
Nick Antonio vs. Eddie West, 135 pounds.
"Soldier" Brown vs. Mickey Rose, 133 pounds.
Ivan Unger vs. Billy Ray, 120 pounds.

MILK BOTTLE IN FIGHT

Pat Gorman, 22 years of age, a peddler residing at 737 Central avenue, visited the Receiving Hospital last night. He had several severe cuts on his head and arms. He said he had been in a fight and had been hit with a milk bottle. He refused to give the name of his assailant.

BROADCASTING SECRETS TOLD

Microphone Requires Help From Experts

Uncle John and Monitor Man Do Their Part

Musical Ear Required to Put Programs Across

BY BEN A. MARKSON

Visitors to The Times studio after glancing at the unimposing cylinder called a microphone are inclined to remark, affecting boredom, "How simple!" But broadcast is not so easy, after all. The mechanical phase is secondary to "an ear for music."

Of course, you enjoyed the excellent piano solos last night rendered by May Robison, and the violin offerings of young Lois Putlitz. They immersed themselves in the spell of the music. It devolved upon Uncle John to judge the changing distance of the microphone from the musical instruments, in order to effect perfect modulation and while he was momentarily shifting the position of the microphone, the operator in the monitor room had his fingers on a dial, turning it from numeral to numeral, as required, so that the volume might be properly graduated.

In short, the announcement of a piano solo might well read: "Rendition by May Robison, modulation by Uncle John, volume by E. G. Ormiston."

PLAYS CHOPIN WALTZ

Miss Robison, student of the piano with May MacDonald Hope, founder of the Los Angeles Trio, favored with the gay and charming Chopin "Waltz in G Flat Major," the brilliant "G Minor Ballad" by the same composer, and "Pompadour's Fan," by Cadman. The pianist is developing an irresistible style.

Lois Putlitz is one of the best young violinists we have heard. She is of virtuoso material, studying under Calmon Luboviski, violinist of the Los Angeles Trio. With a serious view of her art, this young woman has progressed admirably. Her selections last night were enjoyable.

Ballads and lyrics, stirring themes of love, songs of the British Isles, were sung by Dr. J. W. Wallace, baritone, whose first appearance at KHJ recently created a favorable niche for him in Radioland. His splendid numbers were accompanied by Carrie Preston Rittmeister.

Marshall Stedman, dramatic instructor of note, of the Egan School, appeared in a one-act play, "The Littlest Girl," by Richard Harding Davis. He was assisted by Harry Hilliard and Elbert Mid[illegible]. Mr. Stedman's fine, vigorous personality has aided in making short dramas a new feature of broadcast. Last night's little play was exceptionally good.

MYRA C. SCOTT READS

Myra C. Scott, reader, was so successful in appearances at WGY, Schenectady, N. Y., that KHJ booked her for Times' listeners-in. She gave Part 1 and 2 of "East is West," and an encore reading, entitled "At the Matinee."

Dr. Ernest Bryant Hoag, well-known university lecturer, gave another of his series of radio talks, his subject being "Crime, Abnormal Minds and the Law." Letters of appreciation for the value of Dr. Hoag's lectures have been received by The Times.

The noontide program included piano duets, vocal and violin offerings.

Hazel Richey and Ethel Jackman, pianists, pleased with "Zampa Overture," Quadrille — "Canary Birds," by Ricardo Linter, and "Qui Vive," by Ganz. They were harmoniously adequate in the duets.

Hildegard Benson, a clear-voiced soprano, gave sympathetic interpretation to "Cradle Song," by DeKoven; "Happy Song," by Del Riego, and "Do They Think of Me at Home." She was accompanied by Mrs. Rittmeister.

VIOLIN NUMBERS

The violinist was Eleanor Mehnert, who appeared through the courtesy of the Lasky Studios. Those who received pleasure from her skilled playing of "Song of India," by Rimsky-Korsakoff, and "Minuet," by Czerwonky, will be pleased to know that she is scheduled for another program at noon today. She is attractive and gifted.

The children's hour was happily melodious through the efforts of Estelle Kreck, pianist, 17 years of age, and Fay Marie Stiner, violinist, 9.

Miss Kreck, a pupil of Bonnie B. Hays, revealed talent in her playing of a gavotte, a Chopin valse, "Cachoncha Caprice," by Raff, and "Pasquinade," by Gottschalk.

MUSIC FIRM TO OPEN UP NEW HOUSE

Thousands of Guests to be Entertained Tomorrow in Broadway Home

Preparations are being made to entertain thousands of guests at the opening of the new eight-story Southern California Music Company's building at 805-808 South Broadway, beginning at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Business will not start until the following day, but all officials and employees of the company which has served Los Angeles musical needs for forty-three years will act as hosts. Musical attractions on each floor all afternoon and evening will include Abe Lyman's Ambassador Orchestra, and vocal and instrumental soloists.

The first store of the Southern California Music Company was opened in 1880. More than twenty years ago the company moved into the building at 332-334 South Broadway. Now it is moving into a building described as the last word in architectural construction for an edifice devoted entirely to music.

Assisting in the day's festivities will be the musicians who occupy studios in the building. These include teachers of note in almost every branch of the musical art.

The new building was designed, engineered, decorated and constructed by Meyer & Holler of Los Angeles, in close adherence to the Italian Renaissance style. The main salesroom is two stories in height, opening directly off the street. The walls are of Caen stone and the room has a vaulted ceiling, one of the most beautiful examples of painted decoration in Southern California.

Flanking this salesroom are many smaller rooms for the display and sale of phonographs. The second, third and fourth floors are occupied by sales and display rooms for various types of musical instruments. The executive offices of the company are on the fifth floor. The next three floors are given over to studios and the top floor contains a large auditorium to be used for concerts and recitals.

Frank J. Hart is president of the company, and G. S. Marygold is vice-president and general manager. The company has branch stores at 334 South Broadway, with H. J. Kitzelo in charge; Long Beach, with T. P. Du Bose as manager; Riverside, conducted by R. G. Smith, and San Diego, with R. J. Morse in control.

GOPHERS MEET FRIDAY

Former Minnesota residents will conduct their monthly reunion next Friday evening in Music Arts Hall, 233 South Broadway. There will be a special program of vocal and instrumental music, followed by dancing and refreshments. All former Gophers are invited.

MAN DENIES AGREEING TO MARRY GIRL

Romen Ernest Files His Reply to $15,000 Heart-Balm Suit

Filing an answer to the $15,000 heart-balm suit brought against him by Louise Patry, Romen Ernest yesterday entered an emphatic denial that he ever promised to marry her or that he invited her to his home and made love to her, as she contended.

Miss Patry in her complaint asserted that [illegible] an unsophisticated girl livi[illegible] at Huntington Park and [illegible] her own living. Then she me[illegible] Ernest on May 16, 1922, and he made love to her. Then, believing in his promises to be faithful to her and to marry her, she went to live with him, the plaintiff asserted.

Their life together was not very happy, the girl declared, and he not only failed to fulfill his promise to marry her but he failed to treat her with consideration and often beat her. With the filing of the answer the case is placed in a position to be set for an early trial.

Wonder what would happen if Harry Greb and Jack Dempsey were locked up in a room together? Would it be best to call for the cops or an ambulance?

SOMETHING ON FOOT

Measured by their various passionate colors and fancy flip-flaps, the shoes worn by many of the girls today look as if the wearers had gone to a millinery shop to be shod.

ROCKING THE BOAT

Italy is not behaving as a conscientious member of the League of Nations should. That appears to be one weakness of the League. It cannot carry enough ballast for windy weather.

PRINCELY PROBLEMS

Germany is willing that the Crown Prince should return to the soil of the Fatherland, but France may interpose some convincing objections. This is not exactly a matter of the self-determination of peoples.

SAME OLD STORY

Detroit went into the municipal ownership and operation of street-car lines in order to make certain of a 5-cent fare. Now the city has been compelled to raise the fare to 6 cents, with an additional charge of a penny for each transfer. Yet Detroit railways average the shortest haul of any large city in the country. Likewise, it appears that the book-keeping indulged in by the city in behalf of the railways does not make allowments for improvements, replacements, wear and tear or profit. It is on a par with all adventures in public ownership.

JOHNNY ON THE SPOT

An Assistant Postmaster-General is reported as having announced his candidacy as a Coolidge delegate from New Hampshire to the next Republican National Convention. It is all very well to be frank and open—it is also a fine thing to be first on the spot, but in this case too much speed and activity is noted. The people generally do not welcome the thought that it is the business of the Postoffice Department to look after the politics of the administration. President Coolidge doesn't need anything of the sort.

FAMILIARITY BREEDS CONTEMPT

According to some of the doctors the great open spaces do not always mean immunity from disease. At the training camps and in the army during the big war it was found that men from the congested sections of the big cities did not yield as readily to epidemics as those from the fields and farms. The country dweller is not as apt to be hit by disease, but when he gets it he goes quicker than the city man. There are enough germs in the New York subway to kill off the whole population of the Dakotas, but the New Yorkers, by long experience and familiarity, have not only learned to assimilate them, but to thrive upon them. The germs are weakening in their attacks upon the cities because the inhabitants are becoming hardened against them. They can absorb them without much danger. That is offered as one reason why consumption is lessening its grip on the cities.

IN OTHER TONGUES

There is still a loud call for the use of Latin, even in Uncle Sam's country. In a survey made of high schools in cities having more than 100,000 population it is found that 24 per cent of the pupils enrolled are studying Latin. It may be a dead language, but it has the call over most of the living ones for the student mind. Next in popularity are French and Spanish, which are taken by 21.2 and 21.1 per cent of the pupils respectively. Less than 2 per cent of the enrollment is studying German, which used to rank higher than Spanish. Greek has got lost in the shuffle during the past few decades and is now reserved for the colleges. Less than 1 per cent of the high-school students are indulging it. The slump in German was wholly because of the war and there is an increasing call for its return, although it will never be taken to its former extent. The fact that it has a modern literature and a definite daily use in the business world compels its larger consideration.

TREADING A MEASURE

The news columns convey the impression that the recent convention of dancing instructors in this city divided on jazz. In the first place the delegates could not agree in placing the blame. There were those who held the saxophones and drums responsible, while others blamed it on the salads and spiced foods that so many now indulge. Whether the jazz was instrumental or temperamental was undetermined. One expert argued that now that people diet themselves with scientific exactitude and deal themselves a full ration of vitamines each day they have to jazz until 3 o'clock in the morning to work off the extra pep. It was refreshing to note, however, that the dancing masters were agreed that the rough edges of the jazz were being polished off. Grace and poetry in motion are once more being sought. The ancient but rhythmic waltz is returning to larger favor and the new steps offered are more stately in their form. There is still some hope for the world.

WHAT OF CORFU?

Europe's troubles seem to have reached a chronic state. Whenever improvement is registered in one quarter it is more than discounted by violent disturbances in another. In fact, the very treaties of peace seem to be taken as signals for new wars.

The latest outbreak is in the Mediterranean, where the Italians have sequestered the island of Corfu from the rest of Greece, have bombarded the port of the city of Corfu and have detained all Greek vessels found in Italian ports.

Just what pretext supports this military movement on the part of the Italians is not yet clear. It seems to be the policy of the Mussolini government to act first and explain afterward.

Greece, being the weaker of the two, is broadcasting protests to other powers and asking that the League of Nations shall restrain the aggressive Italians. But Mussolini is not inclined to peaceful solutions. He has informed the Foreign Minister of Greece that he will not consent to a reference of the dispute to the League of Nations, insisting that Italian honor has been attacked and that an insult to honor cannot be wiped out by conversation.

There are also reports of an Italian ultimatum to Jugo-Slavia over one of the interminable boundary disputes in the Balkans. The Jugo-Slavian government has referred this ultimatum to the other members of the Little Entente in order that Jugo-Slavia, Rumania and Czecho-Slovakia may act in unison.

Three years ago the Little Entente was formed for the purpose of offering united resistance to anticipated Italian aggression. Greece is not a member of that bund; but it has been frequently stated in the news dispatches that the Little Entente states had joined in an agreement to protect Greece if the territory of that nation were to be invaded by Italian troops.

According to the dispatches, Greece is in no mood to fight, even though backed by the Little Entente powers. The Italian vessels in Greek ports have been permitted to depart in peace and the tone of the Greek government is conciliatory.

But there is no disguising the fact that sequestering the island of Corfu gives rise to apprehensions that the Italian government has its eyes acquisitively directed on that strategic spot at the entrance to the Adriatic Sea. With this island fortified the passage from the Ionian Sea to the Adriatic can be practically closed by the Greeks. The city of Corfu is one of the most prosperous in the Grecian kingdom. During the World War the island and port were occupied by the Allies. It was used as a strategic base for launching attacks against Austria on the eastern shore of the Adriatic.

Italy sought to secure a mandate over the island at the Versailles conference and there was considerable dissatisfaction among the Italians when this request was denied. That its acquisition would be of vast advantage to the Italians, both for offensive and defensive purposes, is undeniable But the question of right intervenes; provided abstract right can still be separated from national interest in Europe. Italy can only secure it by right of conquest; for it is traditional Greek territory and has but a small Italian population. The island has a normal population of about 100,000; but that number is now almost doubled by the refugees who fled there from Thrace and Asia Minor.

Whether the permanent occupation of Corfu is the objective of the Mussolini government cannot be determined from this distance, but the game of grab that has been in progress in Europe and Asia for the past two years furnishes ample precedent for any government to seize whatever it thinks it is strong enough to hold.

There was a time when the concert of great powers—England, France, Germany, Russia and Austria—could be counted upon to prevent predatory national expeditions; but that time has passed. No two of the five are working in unison; and it is possible that the Italian government has decided to take Corfu while the taking is good. All this, however, is only conjecture. So much has happened in Europe in the past three or four years that the rest of the world has reached a state of mind in which it regards national morality in Europe as a decadent virtue.

HANDS ACROSS THE SEA

Let those of the stricken districts of Japan but indicate the manner in which practical assistance may be best extended and it will be forthcoming to the full manpower of America. In the face of vast and overwhelming disaster all physical barriers are down. The greater brotherhood asserts itself. The people of America are eager and anxious to serve in the alleviation of suffering. Meanwhile the nation's purse is open and, so far as money may be of use, the stream will not be sluggish or stinted. The island empire is smitten sorely, but not beyond recall. Her spirit and ambitions are not to be quenched. The splendid position she has attained in the chronicles of national achievement is not even threatened. She will dry her tears and press forward.

PRISON PROBLEMS

It is alleged that almost 40 per cent of the work shirts worn by average Americans are manufactured by prison labor.

Representatives of the International Association of Garment Manufacturers admit that this is a competition that they cannot readily meet. Likewise there are other lines of industry in which the competition of convict labor has put numbers of independent manufacturers out of business.

It is admitted that employment must be found for the inmates of our prisons, but it is insisted that, as far as possible, this employment should not injure the claims of free labor.

Some of the leaders in the garment industry assert that it would be fair to all if prison-made shirts were so marked. They assert that a man has at least a right to know where his shirt is made.

From a sanitary viewpoint the average prison far surpasses some of the New York sweat shops, but a man who has a definite objection to wearing a convict-made garment on his back might feel entitled to the information that would reflect his choice. If it were known as a prison shirt he could be permitted to decline it.

The garment-makers are recommending that, as far as possible, prison labor should be utilized in the production of supplies used by the States themselves. There might well be an interchange of prison-made products between States and for the public use. In this way there could be a larger training of prisoners in definite and useful trades at which they could find profitable employment following their release. It is said that in various State prisons upward of 10,000 inmates are contracted to outside manufacturers so far as their labor is concerned. A heavy proportion of this industry goes into the making of shirts for men.

Until the result can be reached in another way the independent leaders in the garment industry will issue to manufacturers entitled to it a license permitting them to guarantee their products as not being of prison manufacture either in whole or part. This may appear as a label on individual garments if so preferred. But the end it is actually desired to attain is the centralization of prison labor upon public work—on highway construction where possible and otherwise upon the creation of articles that are essential to the States themselves. The people themselves would wish that prison should not directly compete with free labor, but there are certain channels in which it might be directed for the public good as well as for the lasting advantage of the erring one.

BOOZE PROPAGANDA

Bonnie Scotland is again in the throes of a bitter campaign over the burning question of the demon rum. This time the situation is slightly reversed and the liquor interests are taking the offensive and have thrown down their gauntlet to the reformers. This is almost as novel as the mouse chasing the cat, as the protagonists of the class that cheers usually engage solely in defensive warfare against the steady encroachments of the drys.

The once-thriving liquor trade sees itself faced with extinction. In recent years 1214 areas prohibited the selling of any form of intoxicants, and as a result of recent elections these will be greatly augmented, wiping out the licenses of great numbers of bars. The great manufacturers of Scotland's famous whiskies have become alarmed, as they see the time approaching when the country will be quite dry and their institutions wiped out. Accordingly, they have organized and are opening a campaign of propaganda to revive the public thirst.

The public camp seems to be about evenly divided in the remaining districts between wets and drys. These latter have organized also along the lines of the temperance party in America. Their antagonists are using as their chief argument the alleged failure of prohibition in the United States and covering the law with ridicule. They also call attention to the health-giving qualities of their brew, claiming that it was what made the many past generations of husky Scotchmen so brawny and brave, while the drys produce statistics of almshouses and public hospitals to prove that for one person who thrived on whisky 100 were made human wrecks. The outcome in the contested districts is uncertain, with the dry element uncertain of victory for some time to come. Nevertheless, it is rumored that the ghost of Johnnie Walker walks abroad most nervously at night, in anticipation of the time when he will be banished from the land of the heather.

POOR OLD NEW YAWK

Ole Hanson, the pugnacious former Mayor of Seattle, has recently returned from a visit to New York and he is overwhelmed with pity for the inhabitants of that metropolis. They work so pitifully hard, he maintains, trying to have a good time, whereas the westerner knows how to amuse himself without effort. However, he has a word of exentuation for them, saying, "I suppose the poor things have to live at such a pitch and scramble so hard for the dollars all day that when the whistle blows and they rush forth at night they are blinded by the lights."

Time was when the New Yorker sniffed with disdain at the visitor from the open spaces of the West, but now the guest in the swirling city gives a snort of contempt himself and hies him back to his home. For there he has learned to combine the charms of city life with a love of the great outdoors and consequently does not have to betake himself to a cafe every evening as his sole means of diversion.

For the children of the largest city in the United States the ex-Mayor has the greatest pity. "Such crowds of little children raised between brick walls and in dark rooms away from God's sunlight," he ejaculates. "Their playground the sweating asphalt instead of green grass—no ponies, cows, no swimming hole or childhood." Those misguided natives who sometimes sign for a sojourn in the sweltering cities of the effete East, where they can immerse themselves in the superior culture abounding there, should hear Mr. Hanson dilate upon the advantages of New York. People whose one amusement is night life haven't half the amount of culture appertaining to those who reside west of the Rockies, according to him.

HOW IT STARTED

BY JEAN NEWTON

"Mrs. Grundy"

Traditional foe of the conventional—Mrs. Grundy. As the personification of propriety and strict convention, of extreme censorship, she is familiar to every schoolboy. But Mrs. Grundy has a literary origin.

A character in Morton's old comedy of "Speed the Plough," Mrs. Grundy did not, however, appear on the stage. She became famous by the constant reference to her by Dame Ashfield, one of the leading characters in the play, who was always remarking, "What will Mrs. Grundy say?"

Like some other famous characters in literature, "Mrs. Grundy" so well described a type that is frequently met with in life that she came to be accepted as the embodiment of it.

So she has long survived the play that gave her being and is daily mentioned by people who never heard of its more important and active characters.

RIPPLING RHYMES

OLD FRIENDS

Beside the long Pacific tides I have my hut of stone; here everlasting spring abides, fierce weather is unknown. The land in winter is not raked by storms of snow and sleet; and people's whiskers are not baked by sizzling summer heat. So here come many gents and dames for comfort and repose; they're weary and their ancient frames can't stand the heat or snows. And at my door there oft appears some guy I haven't seen for maybe fifty-seven years, since I was sweet sixteen. Old spavined ladies seek my door, with trumpets in their ears, to talk of brave old days of yore when they were blooming dears. Oh, all the folks I ever knew in childhood's happy day come hither to the ocean blue to dream gray years away. And it's a bitter thing to meet the friends of long ago, with wooden teeth and crippled feet and hair as white as snow. I have remembered them as boys and girls supremely gay, their minds engaged with priceless toys and games we used to play. I recollect them in their youth and now they're gray and bleak, and they come toiling to my booth on legs that bend and creak. They're all patched up with store-made parts, false teeth and legs and hair; but still they have the same old hearts, though seamed by years of care. Of all sad stories ever told the saddest is the tale of twilight meeting of the old who once were young and hale.

RELAXES THE GRIP

With Mr. Coolidge in the White House, Mr. Gillett in the Speakership, Senator Lodge the titular party leader in the Senate, Mr. Weeks as the head of the War Department and Justices Holmes and Brandeis on the Supreme Court, it must be admitted that the three co-ordinate branches have something of a Massachusetts tinge. This may have been one of the President's reasons for selecting his official secretary and representative from another State.—[Springfield Republican.

There is this to be said about prohibition. There are fewer people who think it funny to rock the boat. And it is getting better right along.

Here is our bid for that $100,000 prize offered for a universal peace plan: Eliminate human nature and the Balkans. That ought to be easy enough.

If Wilbur Glenn Voliva, Zion City's go-getter of publicity, should claim that he invented Eskimo pie there would be a lot of papers run the yarn on the first page.

What the farm bloc really wants is a law enacted by Congress making it obligatory for the demand to equal the supply of everything, or, better still, to exceed it.

Back in Kalamazoo, Mich., by action of the City Commission, dancing partners are not allowed to look into each other's eyes. But there are other reasons for not wanting to go to Kalamazoo.

Wizards of various sorts are experimenting on what is to be known as the radioscope that will be able to reproduce by wireless distant events within ten or fifteen seconds after they happen. But some poor, unknown youngster may be the one to succeed. You never can tell.

The average farmer is getting along very well and he knows it. His real complaint is that his crop prices are out of line with what he pays when he buys. That is the fundamental of the whole farm situation. There is not much for Congress to do about it, nor for President Coolidge.

But always there is a wreath hanging by some door, a wreath of flowers bound about with ribbon, white or purple or black. And we still wonder why death must come and take away our beloved, why come to summon us to that land from whose bourne no traveler has yet returned.

It is now claimed that but few women with bobbed hair get into the divorce court. What is the reason? Samson's strength was in his locks as Delilah learned to his cost and loss. Has woman's crowning glory become a liability instead of an asset? Does a woman's hair carry quarrelsome, divorce-breeding dispositions?

The pony-express ride between St. Joseph, Mo., and San Francisco is now on. But we fail to note the presence of Bill Cody, Johnny Fry and Bob Haslam among the riders. The best ride over the trail was the delivery of Lincoln's first inaugural message that was carried across the Rockies in seven days and seventeen hours. That time has never been beaten.

BY EUGENE J. YOUNG

Chiefly because the United States insisted the "open-door" policy should be applied to Turkey and the "freedom-of-the-seas" doctrine to the Turkish straits and the Black Sea, the troops of the Allies are being withdrawn from Constantinople and near-by areas and soon they are gone all except a few of the warships of the western powers will also leave. For the first time since the end of the World War Asia Minor and the Balkans are to be freed from the presence of forces that have held them like play-fellows in check and they will be at liberty to indulge in their old sports in their old way.

What will they do with their freedom; and what will we, who have so decisively insisted they shall have it, do if they abuse it and fall to fighting again?

We took a hand in European complications when we insisted that the imperial powers of Europe should not parcel out Turkey among themselves and keep a firm hand on the neighboring nations. We took responsibility also. And, unless I miss my guess, we are soon to be called upon to face some fresh tests of our diplomatic skill and power. I have not the slightest fear that the Balkans are going to start any great conflagration (as some prophesy) because none of the big nations will let itself be drawn into one for a long time to come. But firebrands are being thrown about just at present into territory which contains much tinder and we shall be lucky, indeed, if we escape some bad fires.

Factors Making for Trouble

(1.) When the Allied troops are all gone from the region of the straits Kemal Pasha will be at liberty to concentrate his army in Europe, despite his pledges at Lausanne. In fact, a great many of his soldiers are already around Adrianople facing the Greeks. The Turks still insist they should have Eastern Thrace and they will be bound to help stir up trouble for the Greeks in that territory, with its badly mixed population.

(2.) Bulgaria promised an outlet to the Aegean, but, receiving only an unprotected "corridor" to Dedeagatch, which is left to the Greeks, is controlled by a Cabinet which was put into office by the Macedonian agitators. These conspirators insist that Saloniki is the proper Aegean outlet for Bulgaria and one of the first acts of the new Cabinet was to demand of the Lausanne conference that Western Thrace and Eastern Macedonia should be taken from Greece and given to Bulgaria. Bulgarian bands are stirring up trouble in this territory and Jugo-Slavia and Greece insist they are receiving arms and other assistance from their homeland.

Serbia Feels She Is Menaced

(3.) Jugo-Slavia took the June revolution in Bulgaria as a menace to herself so serious that she concentrated troops on the Bulgarian frontier and was kept from sending an ultimatum to Sofia only by a polite warning from Rome that Italy would not permit interference. The reason Jugo-Slavia is fearful is because her leaders believe Bulgaria and Turkey will act together (supported by Italy and Hungary) and will join in dismemberment of Greece and the Jugo-Slavian (or Serbian) possessions.

(4.) Italy shows she thinks the time is ripe to move against Jugo-Slavia, for she has sharply raised the question of the future of territory adjacent to Fiume. That very ticklish question has been permitted to lie quiescent for months, but with Jugo-Slavia intensely preoccupied with affairs on her eastern frontier it is suddenly revived.

(5.) At the same time there is a renewal of the agitation among the Croatians for separation from Jugo-Slavia. These people were formerly under Hungary and the Croats are mostly Catholics, while the Serbs recognize the Eastern or Greek Church; and their economic interests tie in with Hungary and Italy rather than with old Serbia, which now is trying to absorb them. Hungary has been prompting the movement for separation, for she needs Croatian territory in order to regain an open outlet to the sea.

French Control Is Upset

Three months ago conditions in the Balkans gave assurance that some sort of stabilization might be expected for a few years at least. It was not believed the Allies would wholly give up their grip on Constantinople and the straits and so it could be reckoned that the Turks would be prevented from making any serious trouble in Europe. The Balkan nations themselves were dominated by the Little Entente (Rumania, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia.

This combination was under the special protection of France. The three smaller nations were bound to act together in case of danger. With Greece beaten down, torn by revolution and overrun by refugees; with Bulgaria in the hands of an ignorant Cabinet which was trying to make an agrarian Utopia; with Hungary held down by Allied pressure, and with Italy concerned almost wholly with domestic concerns, the combination laid down the law for the Balkans and Paris practically uttered the law.

The June revolution in Bulgaria, however, resulted in a severe upset of this control; and the retirement of the Allies from Turkey has emphasized the upset. Not only did the revolution offer Italy and Hungary a chance to make a new combination to offset France and the Little Entente, but it sadly shook that Entente. Rumania has been made a lukewarm member of the combination, if not completely detached.

Queen Marie a Dominant Figure

Queen Marie has taken a dominating part in bringing about this shift. She is half English, in the first place, and has gravitated against the French as Paris and London have quarreled. She is the mother-in-law of King Boris of Bulgaria in the second place, and she used all her influence to strengthen his position after his friends had overthrown the peasant Cabinet which was planning to take his throne away from him and make Bulgaria a republic.

IN EUROPE

NE J. YOUNG

France attempted to restore her cracked position by a new deal. Her diplomats at Athens became very busy. Here also a Rumanian Princess was the Queen and it was proposed that recognition of Paris should be given to the dynasty if Greece would throw in her lot with the Little Entente and Rumania should agree that Poland (the eastern ally of France) should also be taken in.

That was the most important question taken up at a meeting of the premiers of the Little Entente countries held in Sinaia in August. Rumania, using the resources of her astute diplomacy, raised questions and suggested that delay would not harm the project and it was not put through, despite all the pressure that France, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia could bring to bear.

So at this moment there is no dominant element in the whole Eastern Europe situation. Everything is thrown open to intrigue; and every one of the small powers and the big powers will be heavily engaged in this fascinating game until some new combination arises that will be powerful enough to insure stability—if such a combination can arise. The statesmen of the Balkans always try to trade off the possessions of other nations in order to gain something for themselves and there will be lively trading.

Mussolini a Dangerous Player

In this game Mussolini, the dictator of Italy, is likely to prove a dangerous player because of his great ambitions. He has pledged himself to make Italy safe on the Adriatic and, in common with all Italian Nationalists, he holds that safety means Italian control of the eastern shore of that sea with its fine harbors. To get such control he would have to upset Jugo-Slavia and dominate Greece.

He has the means at hand for such a consummation. The Croats have never liked the domination of Belgrade. Not only does religion divide these Slav peoples, but the Croats feel they have a higher culture; and they know they would be far better off if they could trade freely with Italy and Hungary than if compelled to rely on old Serbia for their prosperity.

As I have told my readers before Italy and Hungary have had a close understanding ever since Mussolini put his policies into effect. They were driven to unity to balance the Little Entente and France, but they are also bound by religious ties and parallel economic interests. Mussolini champions Catholics everywhere and Hungary is very close to the heart of the Vatican. In material matters Italy would be greatly helped if Fiume and Trieste could once more be made the outlets of the trade of the Danube basin; while Hungary must have access to the sea if she is to recover. It is highly probable that a deal has been made already to give Hungary her outlet at the expense of Jugo-Slavia, while Italy would get her security on the eastern shore of the Adriatic, also at the expense of Jugo-Slavia.

What Could America Do?

Out of these and other conflicting interests are bound to come some very critical situations within the next few months, particularly if the German situation becomes so bad that the western powers have to center their attention wholly on it. If crises do arise, what will America do about them?

Will we keep hands off, as we did in Turkey, and let the little fellows fight it out and then deal with the victors; or will we insist that the intriguers shall listen to our counsel before they go to war? Sooner or later we shall have to take a hand, as was shown in the case of the Turkish-Greek conflict which we did so much to avoid.

Mr. Hughes is in for severe tests of his skill. The best statesmen in the world have been baffled by the Balkans. Will he be able to bring some new idea to bear and make it work?

Will Gland Discovery Make Us a Race of Wonder Men?

Recent wonders that have been worked by gland "magic" lead Science to believe we shall soon become a race of wonder men. Recent press dispatches tell of one scientist who has observed great benefits in 1500 cases under treatment; of another leading physician who reports success in nine cases out of ten, with records kept of over 1000 patients taking the glandular treatment. Men from 35 to 73 years of age have regained youthful vigor, strength and "pep" to such an extent that they can perform athletic feats that would put to shame many a young man of twenty.

Through the recent scientific discovery, Glandogen, it is now a simple matter to take glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient, compact tablet form, and combines the important elements of vital glands of healthy young animals with other efficacious ingredients. It is prepared in two different forms—one for women and one for men. Glandogen is obtainable at the Henderson-Chambers Drug Co., 3rd and Main; Chambers Drug Co., 1st and Broadway; Blaney-Chambers Drug Co., 5th and Los Angeles. Throat Trouble Caused By Indigestion Relieved By Alvita

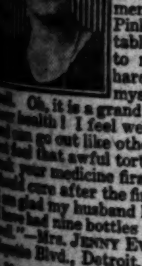
After being troubled for 50 years by a throat trouble caused by poor digestion, C. A. Mott, 1131 Bush St., Oakland, California, was quickly relieved by Alvita.

"Having heard of your Alvita Tablets, I came to your Long Beach store two weeks ago and bought a box of 60 tablets for $1.00 and within one week was absolutely relieved of a long standing trouble with my kidneys or prostate which necessitated my being up from four to six times during the night.

"I can hardly express my appreciation for the good these tablets have done for me in this regard and I want to say further that the tablets have assisted materially in clearing my throat of a mucus condition of 50 years' standing caused from poor digestion. I am a man of mature age but feel like a young man today—I am buying one-half dozen boxes of Alvita Tablets to give to my friends."

Alvita is the recent scientific discovery which brings lime, iron and phosphates to you in a vegetable form which can be assimilated. Alvita is prepared in convenient, highly concentrated tablet form from the deep-rooted alfalfa plant which Science discovered is a rich storehouse of the vital mineral salts. No matter if you have tried many remedies, try this tonic of Nature now. A dollar buys a box of Alvita tablets at any drug store. —[Advertisement.



JOY OF HEALTH WOMAN'S RIGHT

Mrs. Evans Freed from Female Weakness by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Detroit, Michigan.—"I had female weakness with pains in my back, and I could not stand on my feet for any length of time. I was working in a factory but had to quit as I was too much on my feet. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and I can hardly believe it myself that I am well. Oh, it is a grand thing to have good health! I feel well all the time and can go out like other women and not feel that awful torture. When I took your medicine first I thought it would cure after the first bottle, but I am glad my husband kept me at it. I have had nine bottles and now I am well."—Mrs. JENNY EVANS, 1604 Lafayette Blvd., Detroit, Michigan.

If you are suffering from displacement, irregularities, backache, nervousness or other forms of female weakness, you should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The reason is given in letters like this, and we have published thousands of them. You may expect that a medicine that has helped other women will help you. Try it.

TRY THIS ON YOUR CATARRH

Ordinary methods of treating catarrh are failures, simply because they do not reach the affected areas. You've got to heal those raw, tender surfaces that are hidden away where salves and sprays never touch them. The best and most effective method is to inhale the fumes of "Deo" each night and morning.

Gently heat a spoonful of "Deo" in a tin plate and draw in deep breaths of the pleasant, soothing vapor. This penetrates every nook and corner, destroying germs and gradually healing inflamed membranes. Right away you will begin to feel better. Hawking and spitting will cease and your head will be clearer. "Deo" is the trade name of Dennis' Eucalyptus Ointment—composed entirely of antiseptic, healing oils. MANY FACULTY CHANGES HERE

Prominent Educators Are Brought to Colleges

Already Famous Staffs to Have Additions

Men From All Over World Are on Lists

Los Angeles colleges, already famous for their teaching staffs and the splendid results achieved through the practical systems established by these educators, promise to become still better advertised because of the scores of new faculty members who have been obtained for the coming term.

Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, yesterday announced several new faculty members for the fall term. Seventeen new professors, in addition to eight teaching fellowships, will strengthen the present faculty of more than 300 members.

Prominent among the new faculty will be Dr. Karl T. Waugh, who will occupy the newly created position of dean of the college of liberal arts, as well as professor of psychology. Dr. Waugh was connected with the government in psychological work during the war, having conducted mental tests for 120,000 men. He comes here from the Berea College, having served as dean of that institution.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEER

Dr. Philip S. Biegler, who has served as associate professor of electrical engineering at the Washington State College, will be professor of that subject at the University of Southern California. He has had practical experience in electrical engineering, in addition to his academic studies, and he also served as associate editor of the Electrical World in New York City.

Dr. Clarence M. Case has given up his position as head of the department of sociology at the University of Iowa to accept the same position at the U.S.C. He is the author of the book, "Nonviolent Coercion," which has attracted wide attention. The Spanish department will have as an additional faculty member Prof. Arthur T. Connell, A.M., who comes from the Montana State College.

The college of commerce will have as an additional faculty member Prof. Carl Naether as assistant professor of English. Prof. Naether will come from the University of Michigan, at which institution he was associated with the school of journalism. He is the author of "The Business Letter, Its Principles and Problems," which is used as a text-book.

OTHER ADDITIONS

Dr. A. S. Raubenheimer, who was a research assistant at Stanford University last year, will become assistant professor in the department of education. Prof. Rolland Vandegrift will become instructor in history, and Glen E. Turner, whose work in the Iowa Y.M.C.A. has become well known, will become Y.M.C.A. campus secretary.

Others will be Elmer D. Fagan, A.M., assistant in economics; Rosalie Keen, A.M., instructor in physical education; Frances Lucas, instructor in sociology; Julia M. McCorkle, instructor in English; Agnes L. Melgaarde, instructor in fine arts; Mary G. Peabody, instructor in religious education; Sumner N. Spaulding, assistant professor in architecture; Mildred G. Struble, instructor in English language and literature; Max L. Swarthout, head of the piano department, college of music.

The fellowship will include J. Catherine Tilden, biology; W. J. Klopp, education; Paul Edmonson, education; Mary Jane Collins, English; Lucy E. Manning, English; Charles Mayer, Harold Mason and Victor Vaughn, chemistry.

SOUTHERN BRANCH

Dr. E. C. Moore, director of the University of California, Southern Branch, announces the expansion of many departments of the institution and the coming of renowned educators to take over the new departments and to assist in the management of the regular courses of instruction.

The education department will be in charge of Dr. J. Harold Williams, noted author, lecturer and editor, whose scholarship is recognized not only throughout the United States but in South America. The librarian this year will be Prof. J. E. Goodwin, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and of the New York State Library School.

The department of commerce will be augmented by the services of Dr. Herman Hilmer, author of "The Origin of Language," and who formerly acted as professor of German at Stanford, instructor in economics at Cornell and acting professor of economics at Trinity.

An additional member of the department of Spanish will be Senor Adolfo Jorda, a Spaniard by birth, who has taught in some of the greatest institutions of learning in Germany and France. He comes here from Madrid, Spain, having taught in that city since 1919.

Howard Scott Noble, chairman of the accounting department of the Southern Branch, will be director of extension in Los Angeles during the coming term.

The following persons will also be added to the faculty of the Southern Branch, University of California:

Miss Ruth V. Atkinson of Columbia University will be director of physical education for women; Dr. Helen B. Thompson is coming to the university as chairman of the department of home economics; Miss Caroline I. Townsend is coming to the department of English to take the place of Mrs. Alice O. Hunnewell, who is away on a year's leave of absence on a trip through Europe and the Orient.

Benjamin W. Johnson will come to the department of education as a lecturer in vocational education and supervisor of trade and industrial classes in the vocational educational department. Mr. Johnson has been connected with the University of California in a similar capacity for several years and is considered an authority in this line of work.

Leslie B. Simpson will assist in the department of Spanish. He is a graduate of the University of California. C. L. Barrett, who is a graduate of Occidental College and a post-graduate of the University of California, comes to the department of philosophy. Charles H. Paxton, a graduate of Stanford University, comes to the department of mechanical engineering. W. T. McGrath, a graduate of the University of California, comes to the department of commerce from the faculty at Occidental College.

OCCIDENTAL COLLEGE

Expansion of many departments and an increase in faculty membership of Occidental College was announced yesterday by Dr. Remsen D. Bird, president of the institution.

The beginning of the next term, the 17th inst., will show an enlarged department of psychology, headed by Prof. S. L. Crawley. New courses will be added both in experimental and applied psychology.

Prof. George M. Day, for eight years secretary of the international committee of the Y.M.C.A. in Russia, and who also has acted as Pacific Coast secretary of the committee on friendly relations among students, will this year take charge of the department of economics.

Prof. Osgood Hardy has been secured to take the position of professor of history left vacant by Dr. R. G. Cleland, who has been granted a leave of absence for a year in order to study the history and present conditions of Mexico.

Prof. Charles F. Lindsley will come from the University of Minnesota to teach rhetoric and spoken England and Prof. Raymond M. Selle, an alumnus of Occidental, will assist in the zo-ology department. Dr. William Chislett, who received his Ph. D. at Stanford, will be in charge of the English department.

Miss Helen Cutting of Chicago, an expert in preparing delicate dishes, will arrive in Los Angeles within a few days to manage the Commons Cafeteria.

Officials of the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena announced yesterday that Alfred Noyes, English poet, has cabled from London his acceptance of the appointment as a member of the institute staff for the third term of the coming year. Between March 1 and June 24 next Mr. Noyes will give a course of lectures and readings in English literature before the entire student body, and during his stay in the South land will also give several public lectures.

The appointment of Mr. Noyes was made pursuant to the plan of the California Institute of Technology to bring to the institute and to Southern California men of distinction not alone in the field of science and technology, but in the field of humanities as well.

Alfred Noyes was a member of the institute staff for a semester during 1917-1918 and his lectures and readings were very popular at that time. In addition to his work as a poet, Mr. Noyes has been a contributor to the Spectator, Blackwoods Magazine, the Fortnightly Review, the Atlantic Monthly and many other periodicals. He is also a writer of short stories. For several years he was a member of the staff of Princeton University for a part of each year, and in 1913 he was given an honorary degree of doctor of letters by Yale University.

The departments of humanities at the institute will also be strengthened during the coming year by the return of Capt. Paul Perigord, professor of economics and European history, after a year's leave of absence spent in study at the Sorbonne and as an observer of the League of Nations at Geneva. He will arrive in Pasadena at the opening of the college year the latter part of Septemebr.

Important appointments have also been made in the department of physics. Dr. Paul Ehrenfest of the University of Leiden, where he succeeded Dr. H. A. Lorentz, is to be a member of the staff of the Norman Bridge Laboratory, and he will be associated with Dr. Robert A. Millikan, director of the laboratory, in the work of the department during the coming year. Dr. Charles G. Darwin, who was a member of the staff last year, has returned to England and will this fall assume the duties of professor of physics of the University of Edinburgh.

Prof. Roswell C. Gibbs of the department of physics of Cornell University will spend the coming year at the California Institute as research associate, having been granted a year's leave of absence for this purpose. Dr. S. R. Williams, professor of physics at Oberlin College, who has been at the institute on a similar leave during the past year, returns this fall to take up his duties at Oberlin.

Dr. Stanislaw Loria of the John Casimir University, Lwow, Poland, is also to be a member of the staff of the Norman Bridge Laboratory during the coming year. A large group of graduate students in physics and chemistry, consisting of representatives not only of American universities, but of universities in England, Belgium and Sweden, will conduct researches in the Norman Bridge Laboratory of Physics and in the Gates Chemical Laboratory.

NAMES MACK IN TALE OF WOE

Leonore Masso and Willard Mack

The name of Willard Mack, known to all Los Angeles for his work in motion pictures and nationally known as playwright and actor, figured in the story told New York police by Lenore Masso, now in hospital recovering from the effects of self-administered poison.

Miss Masso, an actress and former leading woman in "The Bootleggers," a play which ran last season in New York, related a tale of adversity and disappointment with an attempt at suicide as the climax.

She said that Mack at one time had been her fiance and had granted her the use of his expensive automobile. This was in the days of her affluence. Later they disagreed. Then came a lean period during which all her friends deserted her. Friendless, jobless and disheartened, she tried to kill herself, but failed at that, too. She is now convalescing.

Clubs Will be Gamut's Guests for Reopening

Members of the Wa Wan and Lyric Clubs yesterday were invited to attend the reopening of the Gamut Club Wednesday night, when an elaborate program of entertainment will be put on under the direction of W. Francis Gates. The banquet starting the evening will be open to wives and women friends of members.

A musical program will be presented in the dining-room, after which adjourment will be taken to the auditorium, where Melbourn MacDowell, Virginia Ainsworth and Jack Weatherby will present Willard Mack's one-act play, "Second Sight.' Following this will come dancing in the ballroom.

The musical program will be offered by a Philharmonic trio, Jules Lepske, Alfred Kastner and Earl Bright. Melba French Barr and Lora May Lamport, sopranos, will sing. Esther Fricke Green will render piano selections. Otto Lederer, prominent film player, will give a humorous monologue.

Nine Policemen Greet Suspect With Gem Box

"This is sure hard luck," said Franz Padgorschek, 26 years of age, last night as he ran into the arms of nine policemen, composing the "crime-crusher" squad. According to the officers, Padgorschek was found to be carrying a heavily laden jewel box in one hand and a large caliber revolver in the other.

Investigation disclosed that the building at 1022½ Santee street, from which Padgorschek emerged, had been thoroughly ransacked. Tenants are said to have identified their jewelry at police headquarters and to have identified the prisoner as a man seen loitering in the vicinity.

Padgorschek admitted that he had served a term in the Texas penitentiary on a similar charge, according to the officers. "I sure ran into a bunch of hard luck," said the prisoner, "and every one of them was six feet tall."

ELKS TO ENTERTAIN BRYAN

William Jennings Bryan will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be given at the Elks' Clubhouse Wednesday evening, and following the dinner will speak to the members of the order.

Girl Declares She Is Dupe in Fake Wedding

Investigation of a story said to have been told by Miss Marie Yehrt, 20 years of age, began yesterday following the arrest of Louis E. Gottlob, 23, a chiropractor, on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Miss Yehrt declared, the police say, she accompanied Gottlob here from Missouri after she had been tricked by a fake marriage ceremony.

A quarrel between the couple at 1512½ South Westmoreland avenue, of which neighbors complained brought police under command of Sergeant Hodges, who made the arrest.

Mrs. Georgina S. Townsend, head of the short-story section of the Southern California Woman's Press Club, has been appointed press chairman of the district federation by Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the district.

COMES AS CHALLENGE

The notice of the council comes as the first direct challenge from the federation to a return to club matters after the quiet of the summer, and presidents throughout the district are looking forward to the meeting with interest.

A reception at the Gamut Club, 1044 South Hope street, today from 2 to 5 p.m. will open the season of 1923-24 for the Woman's Lyric Club.

The members of the club will have the pleasure of meeting a number of the city's guests who are prominent in the musical world in other cities, as well as some of the local composers and musicians.

PORT FILM PREMIERE TOMORROW

Growth of Harbor Will be Shown Over This Country and Europe

"The Port of Opportunity," a 7000-foot film depicting the growth of Los Angeles Harbor, will be shown for the first time tomorrow night at Philharmonic Auditorium with addresses by President Bishop of the Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Cryer.

The introductory portion of the picture covers the city's development, showing harbor activities, industries, agricultural background, residences and the like. The beginning of civilization at Memphis, Egypt, will then be pictured and the march of progress westward, with its climax at Los Angeles, which is shown as the center of the civilization of the future.

The film was conceived by the World Traders of Los Angeles and made in co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce, Transportation Club, Rotary Club, City Club, Jonathan Club, Advertising Club, National Credit Men's Association, Associated Jobbers of Los Angeles, Retail Dry Goods Association and other organizations. It was produced by the Standard Film Company and required five months to complete.

The film will be shown, it is planned, in the leading cities of the country and in Europe. Admission to the initial showing is by invitation only and only 1500 tickets have been issued, though there were requests for more than 2000, according to Maurice Carasso, president of the World Traders.

R. G. Sheffler, Fence Company Chief, Is Dead

Robert G. Sheffler, 48 years of age, vice-president and general manager of the Standard Fence Company, died here yesterday after a brief illness. Mr. Sheffler was widely known throughout California and the Southwest. He came to Los Angeles two years ago to organize the local branch of the company and had made his home at 3918 Orchard avenue.

At one time Mr. Sheffler was salesmanager of the Cyclone Fence Company, with headquarters at Fort Worth, Tex. He was a member of Medina Temple of the Shrine at Chicago and of the Waukegan (Ill.) Commandery. He leaves a widow, Sadie B. Sheffler.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. today from Garrett Brothers' chapel, Rev. Hugh Walker officiating. The body will be taken to Pekin, Ill., for interment in the family plot.

PASADENA MAN WILL HEAD DANCE TEACHERS

TANGO TO BE MOST POPULAR FOR COMING SEASON, SAYS DEMONSTRATOR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Mark C. S. Hall of Pasadena was elected president of the California State Association of Teachers of Dancing, which has just closed its convention at the Whitcomb Hotel here. Miss Rose Moore of San Francisco was named principal, Miss Mabel Hasse of Stockton and Mr. Streib of Berkeley and George Henry of San Francisco directors.

The tango is to be the most popular dance of the coming season, in the opinion of Miss Hulda Hanker of San Diego, who was re-elected demonstrator. "If you don't tango this year, you don't dance," she said.

Some of the new dances introduced were the wave, the waltz tango, the pendulum fox trot, the tango trot, the nugo and the bambalina fox trot.

Another Thought

A wire tumbler holder screwed in the wall close to the kitchen sink is a suitable holder for the can of cleanser. This can, while an absolute necessity and comfort, has a disagreeable habit of leaving a rim of rust wherever it is put down, and the tumbler holder eliminates this unpleasantness.

DAILY DOT PUZZLE

Complete the drawing by tracing from figure one to two and so on to the end. Then use your crayons or water-colors and see how nicely you can color it.

In My Garden

By Jesse A. Currey

The pansies in your garden which have been flowering since early spring are now beginning to get small and the plants appear to be getting rather straggly. You, of course, will regret this for the bright little flowers have given your garden a most cheerful tone and you would like them to continue in their glory and their size throughout the summer. You can have your wish fulfilled if you will cut off all the old shoots close to the ground and cultivate about the plants, stirring in at the same time a little fertilizer, such as bone meal, old poultry manure or some of the commercial preparations. I have found the poultry manure the most satisfactory, for it is rather quick in acting and by using it I am never without pansies of a good size throughout the summer.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Lobster Buying

To be certain that the lobster you are buying is strictly fresh, see that the tail is curled tightly to the body. Then it is quite fresh.

Tender Cabbage

Place the cabbage or cauliflower in a bowl of salted cold water for a half hour before cooking and it will be much more tender and delicate when done.

Those Obstinate Feathers

The best way to remove the feathers from wild ducks is to dip them in boiling water and then wrap in a heavy cloth. The steam will soon loosen the feathers and the "pins" are very little trouble.

Plain Sponge Cake

When baking plain sponge cake sprinkle a little granulated sugar on the top of the batter just before placing it in the oven. It will form a lovely brown crust and practically take the place of frosting.

A Clean Bathroom

There is nothing that is quite so damaging to the housekeeper as a poorly kept bathroom. It should be washed always with diluted disinfectant and at least once a week disinfectant should be poured down the pipes. The bathroom is one place where careful work and care show very plainly.

Best for Baby

Rubber toys are the only suitable playthings for the tiny baby as they can be sterilized frequently and can do no harm if he should put them in his mouth.

When Buying Silken Hose

It is sometimes wise to buy silk hosiery a half size larger than cotton or lisle; then the wear on the toes and heels is not so great.

Short Cuts

A steel bodkin is a good thing for joining the seams of a sweater.

Wash hosiery after each wearing so the perspiration will not have a chance to rot the fabric.

Use confectioners' sugar for uncooked icings, as it will make a much smoother frosting than powdered sugar.

New linoleum should be cut and laid at least three weeks before it is nailed to the floor, so as to prevent bulging. Only places that are apt to be kicked or loosened should then be tacked.

Will Stay in Place

SWOBDI'S STYLE SHOW BRILLIANT

European Capitals' Fashions to be Featured

Promenade to Open Today at Flower-Street Store

Peggy Hamilton Will Direct Model Beauties

BY OLIVE GRAY

Gowns that seem to have taken for their fabrication rare embroideries from Chinese temples; wraps weighty with the precious metals; hats iridescent with brilliants; handbags, purses, vanities, enriched by enamels and fine beadery; garments negligee, garments intime, fashioned from finest textures and enhanced by hand artistry in needlework; the latest tale of Mamade la Mode for feminine delectation. Such, in brief, are high lights to be seen when, this afternoon, the opening fashion promenade takes place at Swobdi's.

Under direction of Peggy Hamilton, twelve cinema beauties will join in a promenade, each clad according to her especial style, in those enthralling creations selected by Mme. Swobdi during a tour of European capitals. The new Swobdi location at 720 South Flower street will be aglow with flowers and light, an orchestra will regale the listeners while eyes sparkling with enthusiasm will view the pageant's unfolding.

DISCRIMINATION RARE

Rare discrimination has been employed in the selection of sartorial treasures to be shown, supreme eclat will be brought to bear in their display.

Among entrancing exhibits are the hostess gown, a confection composed from floating draperies of filmy texture in tones of mountain mist and honey dew, concerted with a sumptuous brocade in melting floral shades, agleam with gold and silver. An evening gown of black chiffon velvet, owning to the butterfly back as bodice, and depending for color on a blazon of coral-toned semiprecious gems, holding in place the full drapery at the front. A simple, straight-line frock of black velvet, enlivened by Sudanese embroidery in green and brown. A stunning dress for country club wear, solidly hand worked of French jewels in Florentine patterns. A brocaded dinner gown that seems to have been carven from newly coined silver. A theater dress fashioned by Drecoll from mandarin embroidery, such as one seldom finds save among museum treasures. An unusual trimming formed from real Valenciennes lace, appliqued to velvet adorning a distinguished frock. A wrap of gold-printed velvet, sounding a new season's note. A smoking suit with jacket of pomegranate and gold brocade in Chinese effect, worn above black satin trousers, drawn on clever lines.

HATS FOR SPORT

Hats for sports, for afternoon, for evening—many of these black, some ablaze with brilliants, all exquisite. Many Parisian models will be shown and a number of Swobdi originals. The chapter of hats will form a fascinating feature of the program. The feather [illegible], a unique interpretation by Little Lillian Gunther, will pay tribute to the ostrich plume in its many developments related to milady's toilettes. The reinstated willow plume, in the season's wonderful colorings, will form an interesting feature.

Bijouterie—examples of the many little things forming so large a part of feminine attire and feminine surroundings, will be shown—handbags in the new Pointe Boucle, enameled vanities, swagger sticks, quaint beads, bracelets and other ornaments bearing the imprint of Paris; garments intime, of finest silken fabrics, embroidered and belaced, all will be shown in proper conjunction with modish attire. Promenades will take place from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening.

Little Hope for William Golindo, Injured by Shot

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Sept. 3.—Practically no hope was held out today at Seaside Hospital for the recovery of William Golindo, Los Angeles salesman, shot in the abdomen at Seal Beach last night. Surgeons at the hospital performed an operation and found the man's intestines punctured in several places by the single bullet. Golindo lives at the Euston Apartments in Los Angeles. E. J. Clark, 35 years of age, proprietor of a rooming house in Seal Beach, is being held by Orange county authorities in connection with the shooting. J. W. Kimball, of 1136 West Seventh street, Los Angeles, an eyewitness in the shooting, is also being held.

SANTA MONICA MAN, IN ILL HEALTH, GONE

WIFE FEARS DISAPPEARANCE IS DUE TO WORRYING OVER HIMSELF

Fear that H. Stevenson, 1125 Eleventh street, Santa Monica, has wandered away while worrying over his health was expressed yesterday by his wife in a report to the Sheriff's office. It was said Mr. Stevenson left his home Sunday afternoon to attend religious services at Lakeshore and Echo Park avenues, and has not been heard from since.

Mrs. Stevenson declares her husband has been in ill health for some time and she fears he has wandered away. He is 31 years of age, five feet six inches tall, and weighs 145 pounds, and has brown hair and blue eyes. He wore a blue shirt and a brown suit.

THE LAST WORD.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

THE BREAD-WINNING JOB

A man is suing his wife in the local courts on a charge of nonsupport. He says his wife has a good job, but that he himself has been unable to work for more than a year, so his wife just turned him out.

We have heard a great deal about the wife's right to alimony after hubby had tired of the exactions of connubial bliss, and about a wife's right to work and the privileges of being self-supporting, while still a wife, and about the woman's party demands for absolute equality.

But this husband is trying the shoe on the other foot. He is being unpleasantly logical. He seems to believe in absolute equality—especially when it comes to responsibilities.

Of course the idea is quite horrid. Fancy being compelled by law to support a man who can't support himself. Why, even doing it for love proves quite shocking to some wives. But to have to do it, after one has ceased to love the fellow—well, really.

But, of course, that is exactly what men have had to do for women since time immemorial. They probably did not like it any better than we shall.

When we had been good wives and housekeepers and mothers and all that, it was sort of reasonable to feel that we had earned the alimony. But just so long as we are not actually a thoroughly bad wife, hubby had to come through just the same.

We are not informed whether this particular husband was a good husband until he got sick, or if he tried to do the housekeeping and be "mother" when he could not go out to work, or even just how sick he really was, and while that knowledge might affect our sympathies, it really should not affect the law and justice of the case. Not any more so than if the case were reversed as regards the sexes. The one outstanding question is whether, since he is unable to suport himself, his wife can be compelled to suport him? And if not, why not?

If the poor devil has done nothing worse than get sick, I think she should. If he is able and willing to shoulder some of the duties of a "wife" at home, she should, of course, do it gladly, generously. Or if he is really too sick to do anything, she should also step handsomely into the breach and make the best of it. Husbands have always been expected to do that for wives—were, in fact, regarded as outrageous creatures if they didn't.

But, of course, any husband who can work ought to be made to do so. He usually has been.

So far, this ruling has, however, not applied to wives. Being nice creatures, wives usually have earned their salt. Under normal conditions, homes and babies have a way of exacting that. But quite a lot of wives have been just plain parasites—when conditions permitted. It was even considered rather a desirable condition. Especially in America.

Wives that go out to work are usually spoken of as "self-supporting," "independent"—but only quit rarely as "bread-winners." They are usually, however, fairly gallant about being "bread-winners."—for almost any kind of a human but an able-bodied man. Then they balk. The circumstances has to be quite exceptional for them to consider supporting a man at all—but to support an able-bodied man in leisure, ye gods, how appalling! The bottom seemed to be dropping out of civilization.

Yet men have cheerfully done just that for us—very, very often. The nicest of them preferred it to be that way—couldn't bear to see us soil our precious hands, were quite chagrined that we should have to even do the pesky housekeeping, gave us servants as soon as the income would permit.

And now it may be our turn to be gallant, just like that. Especially if the Woman's Party gets its way — absolute equality and all that. I am afraid we shall fail them. We could live down almost any other tradition but that. Able-bodied women may be parasites, but men never!

Theoretically, women were thus privileged because they had the babies. Now, maybe they have 'em and maybe they don't. But to discard a wife just because she doesn't have babies—only a Napoleon can get away with that. Even then he paid alimony. And even now he pays alimony. So even our old argument about the babies won't help us much. When hubby can't have babies and wifie doesn't, who is then the legal bread-winner? And who is to support who when the other is incapacitated?

For the life of me I cannot see any loop-hole for us to crawl through. When wives are capable bread-winners and husbands are not, it will have to work just the same as t'other way about. And the best we can do is just exactly what the men have always had to do—hope and pray for a good healthy, capable able-bodied spouse, and gallantly make the best of it and see it through when he isn't. And, when we simply can't stand living with him any longer, shed him and pay alimony just as he has to.

If he is able-bodied, she should not pay alimony. And neither should he when she is able-bodied and is not handicapped with children. It is about time we women recognized that it is just as ignominious for an able-bodied woman, without children, to receive alimony as for a man in like circumstances. Especially when the community property laws protect capital interests.

But I do think that where the wife is the more capable bread-winner it will be a most satisfactory idea for the husband to take over the house-keeping. Half the time he would do it infinitely better anyway. Men can become very efficient house-keepers when they set their mind to it. And that would solve the home problem—the home which isn't a home unless a parent is always in it. It is merely an attitude of mind, as the psychologists say. Men who are business failures must get used to the idea that there is nothing especially infra. dig. about housekeeping. And it is only good sportsmanship that they should do that when they cannot do the other. The best cooks are men, the best sewing is done by men-tailors, and the best house-cleaning is that performed by men sailors on board their ships.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Diet in Fevers—No. II

Yesterday I told you the old-fashioned idea that in illness—especially if prolonged—we must eat to "keep up the strength" is really the right idea, but that the foods must be of such a nature that there is no tax upon the vital organs. I told you that we must have—

First: Energy food in the most easily digestible form. If the fever is prolonged we must also think of the protein needs.

Second: Vitamins.

Third: Mineral salts in good proportions, for there is a great loss of these in fevers—iron and calcium particularly. These are really the same things that are needed in health, you see, but in fevers we have to give more thought to the form in which these foods are given.

The energy foods are fats and carbohydrates, particularly. Protein also can be used as an energy food, but fats and protein are not well cared for when the system is deranged. So the fats and proteins must be strictly limited, and the simple, easily digested carbohydrates given. The best forms of carbohydrates are—

First: Fruit juices, fruit purees, fruit soups.

Second: Vegetable purees (especially of spinach, for its iron and calcium,) and vegetable broths.

Third: Gruels, sweetened with malt sugar (it contains iron, calcium and vitamins) or milk sugar.

Fourth: Milk, butter milk, koumis, and other fermentative milks and wheys.

The fruit juices and vegetables should be given for the short fevers. Then, because of the needs for more protein, the gruels and milk should be added.

How much should our fever patients have of these? As many calories as though he were well and engaged in moderate activity!

Kellogg says this and there is no physician in the United States who has had a longer and more extensive experience in treating disease than he has had. Many other experts agree with him.

Fruit juices are very important in feeding the sick for many reasons—

First: They are well liked usually.

Second: They contain a large amount of water.

Third: They contain the necessary vitamins.

Fourth: Though acid, they are oxidized to the alkaline salts and thus keep down acidosis.

Fifth: They have energy value in the fruit sugar, dextrose. It is easily assimilated.

Sixth: They have antiseptic properties.

Seventh: They are laxative.

The concentrated vegetable broths and purees give vitamins, mineral salts, carbohydrates and some protein, and a little combined fat.

Milk should be added to the fever patient's diet as soon as possible, for its complete protein and its mineral salts. Perhaps at first it had better be taken skimmed and boiled. The cream can be added gradually. Boiling the milk makes it more easily digested because the curds of boiled milk are soft and flaky, while the curds of fresh milk are larger and more solid. The vitamins will be supplied by the fruit juices and vegetables.

CEREALS

The dextrinized cereals—those in which the starch has been changed to easily digested dextrose—may be used at first. Wheat flakes, corn flakes or shredded wheat, zweiback gruels, or even toast thoroughly browned in the oven till crisp clear through, and later oatmeal, rice and other cereals may be used.

CLOTHIERS TO MOVE

Scott Brothers to Occupy New Quarter on Hill Street

Scott Brothers, for many years clothiers at 425-427 South Spring street, announced yesterday their intended removal to a new location at 719-721 South Hill street, where extensive alterations and improvements will be made to the building.

In announcing the change, Fred Scott of the firm, said the new store would open with a completely new stock and new fittings.

"We will move nothing but our name and reputation," he said, "and we will establish what we believe will be one of the most popular men's stores in Los Angeles."

The change is being made, Mr. Scott said, because he feels the trend of retail business is toward the southwestern part of the city. The stock of the present store will be closed out as rapidly as possible, it was said.

NEW PHOTOPLAY UNIT

Marshall and Kerr to Head Firm of Producers of Pictures

Announcement was made yesterday of the formation of a new producing unit in Hollywood headed by George E. Marshall and Robert Kerr, both well-known directors. Marshall has been with the Universal and Fox for the past eleven years, having directed Tom Mix, Harry Carey, Ruth Rowland and other screen celebrities. Kerr is well known for his work with Mack Sennett and Jack White, for whom, at various times, he has directed Ben Turpin, Lloyd Hamilton and others.

With an extensive program for a fall production schedule the new unit will shortly commence activities on "The Yellow Trail," a novel by E. Manchester Boddy, published by the Times-Mirror Press last winter, according to W. Lloyd Hess, manager of the Marshall-Kerr Company.

IN the straw vote among students at 17 prominent universities and colleges, the classic Parker led all other pens on the question, "What Pen will you buy next?" Parker was preferred by 97% more students than the second choice pen.

It seems that even large numbers of those who have tried other pens first are eager now to get the Parker. For now more than ever they appreciate Parker's liberal ink capacity and its super-smooth point—as smooth as a polished jewel. An Ideal

When a man deliberately declines many millions of dollars and the time and freedom to enjoy himself in ways that he might wish, there must be a powerful thought behind his action.

This is the power of an ideal—the calm resolve of a man to carry on a service to his fellow men.

CLEAN-UP BEGUN ON LOAN SHARKS

Indictments Are Returned by County Grand Jury

Gabe Nathan Facing Charges of Fraudulent Work

Total of $10,500 Commissions Basis of Counts

A wholesale clean-up of shady loan dealers operating in the city was forecast yesterday as a result of the continued investigation by the county grand jury, which already has resulted in the return of a number of indictments.

The latest loan operator to be indicted by the grand jury is Gabe Nathan, head of G. Nathan & Co. Nathan is held in the County Jail under $25,000 bail on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses. He will be arraigned before Judge Avery of the Superior Court today.

The indictment against Nathan contains four counts and is one of several to be returned by the grand jury since the investigation into the operations of local loan dealers was started. It is asserted in the indictment that Nathan obtained a total of $10,500 in advance commissions from prospective borrowers after promising that he would arrange their loans. The loans were never effected, it is charged.

From Edward D. Young, Jr., Nathan is said to have obtained $4000 after promising to arrange a $200,000 loan on a lot and apartment. P. A. Weegar paid Nathan $3500 in advance commissions for a $200,000 loan which never materialized, it is asserted, and H. Gorelnik and Isadore Globe are said to have lost $500 in the same manner. Park Cowan also paid Nathan $2500 for arranging a loan which he never received, the indictment sets forth.

Investigation into the activities of Nathan and other loan operators is still in progress, it was stated by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stafford, and will continue for several weeks until all suspected loan men are under arrest.

STARS OF FILMDOM ON STAGE

Morosco Players Are All Graduates of Pictures; Rehearse "Gold Digger"

Although "The Broken Wing" at the Morosco Theater is still going strong with every indication of a continued run through the early autumn, Augustin J. Glassmire, stage director of Morosco productions, has started rehearsals for "The Gold Diggers," the Avery Hopwood hit that kept New York laughing for more than two years.

"The Gold Diggers" is scheduled to follow "The Broken Wing" and a cast of exceptional talent, charm and good looks has been assembled.

With the exception of Charlotte Treadway, who plays the star role, Gayne Whitman, popular Morosco leading man and Ruth Long, the ingenue lead in the production, every member of the cast of the "Gold Diggers" has been in pictures.

Harland Tucker, who plays the fascinating role of "Uncle Steve," has had an interesting picture career, having played opposite Constance Talmadge, Pauline Fredericks and various other stars and having been starred in his own right in two pictures.

Grace Gordon, who plays an interesting role in "The Gold Diggers" will at the same time play a role on the screen, having just finished a character part in "A Lady of Quality."

Lloyd Corrigan, who has the role of a very young lover, has appeared at various times in pictures and will probably shortly play a juvenile lead in an Ince production.

Iva Shepard, who has the character role in "The Gold Diggers" was a famous Selig contemporary of Kathyine Williams and has played opposite Herbert Rawlinson and many other stars.

WANTS VARIED ROLES

Lewis Dayton, film actor, has a dread of becoming marked for type. The public becomes accustomed to seeing a certain player in a particular style of portrayal, then the producers are afraid to offer him in any other way. Dayton has the aristocratic bearing and air of refinement which places him in the society leading man class, but he states that he would rather play villains and character roles than to become stereotyped. He played a near-villain in "Cordelia the Magnificent," with Clara Kimball Young, which contrasted with her later picture "A Wife's Romance," wherein he appears opposite the star.

FAR-FAMED PAIR WILL APPEAR

Mr. and Mrs. John Bull

THE sun never sets on their progeny in far lands across the sea, but Mr. and Mrs. John Bull, that internationally illustrious pair, are to be found right here in Los Angeles.

They will make a public appearance here on the evening of the 8th inst., when "The Wayfarer," colossal municipal pageant, opens at the Coliseum.

Yes, you've guessed it! They are characters in the pageant, and in private life they are Grace Wright, who takes the part of Britannia, and Herbert Joy, who portrays the jovial John Bull.

'WAYFARER' ROUTES SHOWN

Transportation Committee Outlines Best Ways to Get to Coliseum by Trolley System

The transportation committee of the Wayfarer Society and the railroad and railway officials' transportation committee have worked out a comprehensive system of transportation that will eliminate as far as possible all inconvenience for the public attending the performances of "The Wayfarer," the 8th to 15th inst. at the Coliseum.

This includes not only the actual feat of handling the traffic to and from the Coliseum, but also directions on how to reach the Coliseum from any part of the city, and the best means of approach and transfer from suburban points, either by railroad or automobile.

Hollywood patrons take Pacific Electric cars, transfer to Western-avenue line, get off at Santa Monica, take "S" line to Vermont and Third and transfer to "V" line, which goes directly to the Coliseum.

Downtown patrons take either the "E" or "F" cars southbound on Broadway and Main, respectively, going to the Santa Barbara avenue and Figueroa street entrances to the Coliseum; also Broadway cars marked "M" direct to the Coliseum. On Figueroa street take "U" cars southbound to the Coliseum.

Patrons coming from Long Beach transfer at Vernon and Long Beach avenue and take crosstown car line to the Thirty-ninth street entrance to the Coliseum. Patrons arriving from out of town at the Pacific Electric station, Sixth and Main, take southbound cars on Main marked "F" direct to Coliseum. Patrons living in East Los Angeles can use the "I" cars or any line to Broadway and transfer to southbound "M" cars.

Passengers arriving at the Hill-street Pacific Electric station, will take westbound "U" car at Fifth and Hill direct to the Coliseum. All persons arriving on interurban lines from the West and from beach cities will transfer at Sixteenth street and Vermont to the tiest street and Vermont to the yellow car marked "V" which goes direct to the Coliseum.

Director Montgomery Lynch is busy making preparations for the dress rehearsals which will be held Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. He hopes to run right through the play without interruption.

Electricians are working night and day in three eight-hour shifts installing the great amount of electrical equipment that will be necessary, workmen are rushing the stage to completion and the seven carloads of scenery are waiting in a near-by tent to be moved upon the huge platform.

Dress rehearsals start at 7:30 o'clock and are scheduled to end about 11. Every person connected in any way with the staging of the production is required to be present on each occasion and the play will be acted just as though the audience were seated. Lynch yesterday notified out-of-town delegations to the "March of Nations" that they must be at the Coliseum with the other units of the processional both Thursday and Friday nights.

The War on Crime

By Geo. C. Henderson

A "Fence" is a professional handler of stolen goods. John W. Worthington, said to be the "brains" of an eastern robbery trust, organized a great securities corporation and even bought out a bank for the purpose of disposing of bonds and other securities stolen by Chicago and New York train and mail robbers. Worthington was a "fence" and a frenzied finance artist at the same time. He dealt in millions instead of in thousands of dollars. There was nothing petty about Worthington.

Like J. Rufus Wallingford of fiction fame, Worthington did nothing in a small way. In 1898 he was sentenced to Sing Sing prison but was released in 1902 and soon was back at his swindle business again. Bombastic titles which gave the appearance of great importance to his projects appealed to him. He became vice-president of a Kansas City bank and changed its name to the National Bank of the Republic. The Chicago Clearing-house Association ousted him from the presidency of a banking institution there. He started a big dry goods store, went bankrupt and was charged with disposing of property wrongfully. This man is said to have bribed a national bank examiner and taken this examiner into his "robbery trust" as a partner.

Whether Worthington found out what mail cars were carrying money and sent his thugs out on the job, is not known. At any rate all bandits in the East and Middle West knew that this man was the best and safest "fence," that he paid the highest prices for stolen property and that he would furnish bail and fenfense money for them when they were caught. During the mail, bank and train robbery epidemic, literally millions of dollars' worth of securities poured in on this "fence." Liberty Bonds worth $100 on the street were bought by the wholesale at $25 each. The train robbers were glad to sell them all at such a price because it relieved them of the dangerous alternative of peddling them about one at a time.

Fences like Worthington are scattered all over the United States. Just as this man did, they camouflage their illicit operations under the guise of a legitimate business.

Many clothing dealers, jewelers and automobile tire and accessory men deal almost entirely in stolen goods. Every large city in the United States has a big and respectable jeweler who buys stolen property almost exclusively, getting it at a quarter of its value and retailing at regular prices.

"It's not my business to ask where these men get the stuff," is his plausible explanation to the police. "They come to my store with something to sell. They offer it very cheap. I buy it. If I stopped to inquire from each drummer where he got each particular piece of jewelry that I bought, I would do nothing but police work."

Of course, in his heart the big jeweler knows that he is nothing more than a "fence" but he manages to "buffalo" the police and thwart justice.

Pawnshops and second-hand stores establish a reputation for handling "hot stuff" and there are very few such establishments that will refuse to buy from a known thief. These places are required to keep a record of everything they buy, but when a thief sells them stolen property they forget about this record.

Pawn shops have a separate store, sometimes the proprietor's residence, where they secrete stolen property that is bought. Others hide the contraband in cellars and behind secret panels Once a pawnshop has established a reputation for treating crooks squarely and protecting their interests, the loot of the underworld flows through its doors.

There are hundreds of "street buyers" or "chippy fences." The more clever of these establish themselves as legitimate dealers in old clothes or stuff which they actually buy. Then if the police nab them with the goods, they have the alibi that they are in this business and that they did not know the stuff was stolen.

Some women fences make a specialty of buying fancy work, silks and jewelry.

A yegg told about a "fence" who ran a big department store in a western city and who would order his goods from crooks, just as legitimate business men order from a wholesale-house. If he wanted men's clothing, he would send out the word: "Bring me men's suits," and he would be deluged with all kinds and sizes of new and old clothing, stolen from stores and rooms. If he was out of hats he would order hats. Of course, he paid only a small price for this stuff and made an exorbitant profit, even underselling his competitors.

War Veterans Play Selves in Lasky Film

Disabled war veterans from the Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle, Cal., nurses and "hospital atmosphere" recently were transferred bodily to the Paramount studio.

Nurses moved about, orderlies tidied up the room while the war heroes continued to read, weave baskets or chat with one another just as they had been doing at the home a few hours before.

The scene showing a corner of the big hospital is said to be one of the most appealing in the picture. It shows Lois Wilson as a New York society girl, awakened to her sense of duty to her soldier-lover by meeting some of the heroes of the Argonne forest while she was on a visit to the hospital.

While none of the veterans have ever appeared in pictures before, the atmosphere of the scene will be absolutely true to life.

Vanderbilt's New Paper Is Issued Here

The first issue of the Daily Illustrated News, a tabloid publication, made its appearance yesterday. Its publisher is Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., who has associated a number of local men with him in the enterprise.

The first issue consisted of thirty-two pages of tabloid (half a regular newspaper) size. Four of these pages were given to photographs and the rest to news and feature text with occasional illustrations.

FEW FREE FROM FEAR FOR FORM

Film Fascinators Fast for Fear of Freakish Figure; Flee Fat-Forming Foods

Breakfast, the first fueling station of the day, plays a varying importance in the lives of the picture people. There is one item, however, that gets a vote from everybody—coffee. Whatever is eliminated from the menu, coffee always remains. The gentler sex shows scant self-indulgence, no matter what is on the program, for apparently the proposition of "fuel" means possible "taking on." It is fatal, say the girls "to take on."

Louise Fazenda fears that first meal of the day and so partakes only of two cups of coffee and two unbuttered slices of toast. She has made hundreds of comedies with the motive power of this frugal menu. George O'Hara, the star of "Fighting Blood," leaves untouched his mother's tempting breakfast of three courses and saunters to the studios and about 10 o'clock flies across the street for a sandwich and a mug of coffee. When scheduled for a fight in a picture, he eats nothing at all. Carmelita Geraghty is another subscriber to toast and coffee plus orange juice. She says that is positively enough for any mortal. But Carmelita keeps a close tab on the scales: Her dad, Tom Geraghty, production editor for the Thomas Meighan and James Cruz units, can write just as well at any old weight, so fruit and bacon, or ham and, or whatever the culinary goddesses offer are not upstaged.

Theodor Von Eltz wants to get fatter—not fat—and so eats three eggs, one of 'em raw, melon in summer, grapefruit in winter, lots of toast and coffee and can "trim" a villain with perfect ease as he did last week in "Tiger Rose." Creighton Hale isn't afraid of Gen. Obesity, so he starts his day with eating fruit from the trees in his yard, then saunters in to eggs, bacon, waffles and coffee. He takes on no more "fuel" until night, for he thinks it interferes with his work. Carl Miller, who is now playing in "Jealous Fools" after his record engagement in the Chaplin picture, gets the first breakfast at the Monmartre with a strip of bacon, scrambled eggs, toast, coffee and orange is "set" until lunch time.

Ethel Wales, character who has accomplished work in William De Mille's Magic," now called "The Maker," wistfully looks kitchen stove in the the cook making Mah! More jongg!" If you the world is one large She is suffering to eat at But she doesn't. She "put on." So her meal of coffee, unbuttered sometimes, melon.

Grace Carlyle, former star and new screen had a leading role in to Answer" and has signed to play Dexter in "The Man gave," is another one "p. o." Grace is original her day with an orange —about half an orange thin slices of bread coffee.

Ethel Wales, character actress, who has accomplished brilliant work in William De Mille's "Spring Magic," now called "The Marriage Maker," wistfully looks at the kitchen stove in the morning and the cook making pancakes. All "Mah! More jongg!" If you put the world is one large pancake. She is suffering to eat at least two, but she doesn't. She will "put on." "THE WHITE ROSE"

GRIFFITH HITS NEW NOTE IN SCHEME OF LATEST

By Edwin Schallert

This time there are no villains; no mobs; no wild careening to a finish. There is, instead, in "The White Rose" a story of human feeling and human appeal in which motives that are perhaps deep and from the heart find their way ultimately to a surface of light amid the flowers and the willow trees of the Bayou Teche in the vicinity of old New Orleans. D. W. Griffith has found a new way, seemingly, to garland his tokens of sentiment on the screen.

"The White Rose" was shown here for the first time yesterday afternoon at the Grauman theater of memories on Third street. It was like a resuscitation for the once-favored film theater. I have seldom seen such throngs there since the major interest of its controller was transferred elsewhere.

You sensed the presence of even that public that used to attend the Griffith premieres, when they were given with lavish investiture. Doubtless seizing the opportunity afforded by a holiday, many yielded to the enticement of Mae Marsh acting once again under the direction of the formerly acclaimed master.

"The White Rose" seemed singularly appropriate for this occasion. It offered so much to stimulate recollections of Griffith's successes of other days, and at the same time gave a possible glimpse of something new. Despite its fault, I feel it stands as the most important contribution to the screen that "D. W." has made since "Way Down East" and possibly even since "Broken Blossoms."

The beauty of the natural settings and the work of the principals under the Griffith guidance are what make the picture—this and a story simply told. While the director may exhibit in bold relief all his most familiar sentimental failings in "The White Rose," he has kept his plot free. He has not sought any wild climaxes, nor has he labeled his people in his conventional way.

There is, to be sure, a certain endlessness to the manner in which the story is told. In fact, there is not enough story really for so long a play. One vital sequence of happenings only and the rest merely recriminations and remorse. But the romance of the student minister for the little orphan girl of the bayou resort holds that spell which always belongs to an impossible and sympathetic love.

The situation in the picture reminds one just a little of "The Scarlet Letter." The woman is, in a sense, branded for her apparent fault, while the man goes through much the same pangs of conscience as the minister in the Hawthorne story.

I find much fauld with the style of the Griffith subtitles. I see their purpose in that he has sought to chop out dialogue by adopting a sort of narrative vein. At the same time his titles could have shown far more imagination, and could be cut down to half their present number. As they now stand they are stilled, academic and even stupid.

Ivor Novello is the first matinee-idol type that has been seen in some moons. There is not always conviction to his acting which is curious in view of the general sensibility of Griffith performers, but there is serenity and poise to his presence and his personality.

Carol Dempster seems to add far more to this picture in a secondary role than she has added to peared on the lead. There is outstanding charm to her work.

Most of all though, after certain scenes of Miss Marsh herself, one must credit the characterizations—the humor offered by the colored folks portrayed by Lucille La Verne and the late Porter Strong. The landlord of Joseph Burke and the landlady of Mary Foy are perhaps quite typical, while the cigar-stand girl portrayed by Jane Thomas is a piquant little hit. Neil Hamilton should also be mentioned for a sincere portrayal.

This time, Griffith has had no doors battered down. He has sought to relate a simple story with sentiment. He has adorned it with the beauties of a new locale, and he has brought some real heart-throbs to the silversheet through his theme and the work of his players. If you can stand to see a picture that is longer in the telling than it should be you will appreciate the charm of "The White Rose."

"SPOILERS" GOING STRONG IN THIRD

The new film version of Rex Beach's epic novel of the Alaskan gold rush, "The Spoilers," is in its third week at the Miller Theater. A remarkable cast is seen in this picture with Milton Sills as the hero: Anna Q. Nilsson as Cherry Malotte, Barbara Bedford as Helen Chester and Noah Beery as the crooked politician, MacNamara. Others are Wallace MacDonald, Ford Sterling, Louise Fazenda, Mitchell Lewis, Robert Edeson, Robert McKim and Rockcliffe Fellowes. But it isn't the superb cast that makes "The Spoilers." It's the story. Beach crammed his novel with romance, conflict, suspense and Lambert Hillyer, the director, has skillfully transferred this on the silver sheet.

Remedy for Color Blindness

According to a medical contemporary, Dr. A. E. Wright states it to be a fact that total color blindness is very rare; also that yellow-blue color blindness is very rare. The common form is the green-red blindness. It so happens that in the establishment of signals green and red lights form the most commonly-used colors; hence from 3 to 5 per cent of men otherwise capable of doing work as pilots or engineers are kept out of such employments, often with results that are almost cruel. Most color-blind men can readily distinguish yellows and blues, and the doctor proposes that the red lights should have a distinctly yellowish tinge and the green lights a distinctly bluish tinge. In this way the difference between signals could be readily made out by almost all the color-blind.

DOMINOES DOUBLE-CROSSED

Ben Turpin, who is featured in "Where is My Wandering Boy This Evening?" at the Mission Theater, gives the following rules for playing mah jongg:

"In the spring a jongg man's fancy lightly turns to chow and chop suey, which is perfectly natural, since this spring everyone is going in for everything Chinesy. These long evenings have been very interesting to me since I have mastered mah jongg.

"It is played with 144 ivory pieces. The kids will lose any one of them very easily. The game was invented about 4000 years ago and King Tut hasn't a thing to do with it. Chu Chin Chow was the greatest mah-jongger of his day, and the Chinese official mah jongg board is still making rules at its official headquarters in Shanghai.

"In playing it is well to have a Chinese band near by. This will provide good atmosphere. The tune goes something like this:

"'Mah jongg! Mah jongg! Mah! inflection on the ong you get a very gongy effect.

"After each player has stacked his pile of ivories it is best to refresh with a cup of Oolong.

"If you discover that you have too many pieces you can slyly drop one or more on the floor, where the kids will soon discover and annihilate them.

"After a while you speak of the pieces with familiarity. There are sprouts, bamboos, dragons, jozzes, pungs, punks, squabs, asparagus, bams, bums and hams.

"Speak in husky whispers and Oolong. This will add intenseness to the game.

"When you have dropped all your ivories on the floor you win the silk-lined chop suey bowl."

Tandler Will Lead Orchestra at Criterion

An event in musical circles locally is the announcement of the engagement of Adolf Tandler, former Los Angeles Symphony conductor, for the directorship of the concert orchestra of the new Criterion Theater.

Tandler was recalled from New York by Harry C. Arthur, general manager of West Coast Theaters, Inc., and offered the important post. Formerly director and conductor of the old Los Angeles Symphony Concert Orchestra, from 1913 to 1920, Tandler built up an enviable reputation. He has the distinction of being one of the few American conductors who led the orchestra during the famous International Mozart Music Festival in Salzburg two years ago and during the last year occupied the position of musical editor and advisor with the publishing firm of Braitkopf and Hartel in New York, a position formerly occupied by Stransky, conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. Even his position as conductor of the orchestra at the new Criterion will not sever the tie which Mr. Tandler still holds with this famous musical publishing house and he will continue to act as an advisor for this company.

RETURNS FROM STAGE WORK IN THE EAST

Mary Beth Milford has returned from New York after successful dramatic engagements in the great metropolis. She used to attend the oLs Angeles High School. Four years ago she went to New York and soon blossomed forth as one of the most prominent beauties in Irving Berlin's Music Box Revue.

She remained with that organization for two seasons and then offers to star in motion pictures began to pour in upon her. Contracts, however, compelled her to stay in New York until a few months ago when she came to Hollywood to play an important role with George O'Hara in the H. C. Witwer "Fighting Blood" series now being filmed at the Powers studios.

"I owe much to Mr. Berlin and Hazard Short who has produced all editions of the Music Box Revue with such high skill," commented Miss Milford yesterday, "but I much prefer Hollywood and its manifold beauties to the cold sophistication of Broadway. I shall remain in pictures from now on."

FATE PURSUES A FAMILY

A sister of Miss Esther Maritzky, sweet and dainty Louisiana girl, was killed in a motor crash while returning from a picnic. Her father died on the operating table in a New York hospital, her aunt was crushed by a passenger train in Louisiana. Last week, Esther entered a swimming pool at a forbidden spot. The lifeguard started in after her, Esther laughed and dived out of reach. T few minutes later the guard found her lifeless body on the bottom of the pool, dealth having resulted from heart failure. Life on this earth is no waclo sed book for the Maritzky family.

Jazz Revue Offers Neatly Muffled Tunes

Hillstreet headlines Billy Sharp and his Twentieth Century Revue, and they are most correctly headlined. The boys play their different instruments with pep. Pianissimo jazz has a charm all its own and offers a suggestion which is much better than the real thing. Indeed, charming jazz, this!

Marrionne—is that her name?—does some graceful steps and displays attractive extremities with about as much excellence as anything on the bill. The Darling Little Sisters are clever, only didn't they sing off pitch just now and then?

The program as a whole is not extraordinary, but spots here and there bring hearty laughs and well-deserved applause. Lew Brice entertains in a way all his own and as such he is as indescribable as his act itself is characteristic. His burlesque "Spring Dance" is a wiz.

Fifer brother and sister do some good dancing, beginning with an Indian dance, then a Russian, toe, characteristic burlesque and ballroom. The tendency in these seems to take from the foreign dances that which gives them character and to add to them much that is purely acrobatic. The result is pleasing, however. They do all the old steps and shake a wicked ankle that is quite new.

"The Tale of a Shirt," by Erwin and Jane Connelly, is a skit about as uninteresting as its title; in fact, it is drab, and drugs likewise. Ben Nee One, the Chinese Mandarin Minstrel, isn't tremendous, but he brings a few laughs, anyway. His humor lies in subtleties, and this is always more than acceptable. The Browne sisters do some very nice accordion work; to be sure, their first potpourri of everything we never want to hear again is tedious, but the rest is good.

Alice Brady stears in a photoplay, "The Leopardess." This is quite worth seeing and is splendid entertainment. One has to sit through two reels of a serial to see the rest of the show. This is an intriguing affair—the hero and heroine are left dangling over a ciff or something—so what's the use!

FIGHT STORIES AT MET.

H. C. Witwer's popular "Fighting Blood" series which has been showing at Grauman's Million Dollar Theater have been switched to Grauman's Metropolitan Theater. The latest of these fast-moving comedies featuring George O'Hara is proving one of the hits of the bill this week.

MARKING TIME

A negro called upon an old friend, who received him in a rocking chair and continued to rock himself to and fro in a most curious way.

"Yo' ain't sick, is yo', Harrison?" asked the caller, anxiously.

"No, I ain't sick, Mose," said Harrison.

"Den," continued Mose, "why does yo' rock yo'self dat way all de time?"

Harrison explained.

"Yo' know Bill Blott? Well, he sold me a silver watch cheap, an' if I stops moving like this, dat watch don't go!"—[Tid-Bits.

FLASHES

HIGH-BROW WEEK

STAGE STAR AND MUSICAL AT THE ORPHEUM

By Grace Kingsley

If you are one of hose high art devotees who must have an excuse in order to go to the Orpheum, you have it this week. In fact, you have both reason and excuse. You can walk right in at the front door, undisguised and unashamed. For are not Ethel Barrymore and the Duci de Kerekjarto, "Royal Violinist Virtuoso"—with the responsibility for the capitals laid entirely on the management—both entertaining down there?

The wonderful J. M. Barrie wrote that clever playlet, "The Twelve-Pound Look," which has served Miss Barrymore for the last twelve years, every time she took a dip into the two-a-day.

Barrie's uncanny understanding of women is subtly illustrated. The playlet is rich in humor and satire, with the dull, rich, pompous husband bewildered that any woman should possibly want to leave him. He is given a severe shock when his former wife visits him and his current wife in the business capacity of an ordinary typist. But probably you remember the story.

It is a very amusing playlet. At the same time we do wish Miss Barrymore had brought us something new. And as always the fair Ethel is a bit inarticulate in the rendering of her lines. She is as charming as ever, however.

The duke fiddles delectably, everything from the "Witch's Dance" to "Home Sweet Home." This latter he plays in a manner to wring tears even from the never-homes of the apartment-houses. His tone is rich, exquisite. I think I'll have a rubber stamp prepared to use every time he appears here. "He will be another Ysaye some day"—that is, until he actually is.

Frances White, who had blisters on her little heels last week, so that she couldn't do much stepping, is dancing more this week, much to our delight. The tiny artiste is making a big hit.

Harry Hines calls himself the "Fifty-eighth Variety," whatever that means. Maybe it means "pickled nut." He has some good stories and songs. These he puts over well.

When Lillian Ziegler locked herself into her twenty-foot stilts and began to raise herself even higher with some conraption, Trixie Friganza, who was in the audience, whispered over to me, "That's my new stunt!" putting a laugh over with a lot of us. The act is fresh and novel in its balancing stunts.

Not too plump, but a bit of a relief from the slivery ladies who often entertain us, is Fern Redmond, with H. Wells, in "The Gyp," which title is short for gypsy fortune teller. She is beautiful, and the long, slim Wells has a line of comedy that is great.

One is very tall and thin, the other very short and stocky, in the team of Joe Rome and Lou Gaut, and in the contrast lies the basis of much of their comedy. The little one dances extremely well. Both boys kept the folks in their seats at the end of the show.

Remaining over in addition to Frances White are John T. Murray and Vivian Oakland, whom I am sure are welcome not only as flowers in spring, but as hot-house flowers in winter time.

Patsy Ruth Miller Ill

Pasty Ruth Miller is holding up Douglas MacLean's current picture while she goes into escrow at home with the influenza. She has been ill during the past three days, but was reported better yesterday.

Aileen Pringle Leaves

Aileen Pringle, who plays the role of the heroine in Elinor Glyn's story, "Three Weeks," has been called to San Francisco owing to the illness of her mother, who is to undergo a slight operation.

The actress left last night for the northern city, where she will remain until her mother is completely on the mend.

Cheerful Line of Sketches at Pantages

Wholly frivolous is the outstanding entertainment offered at Pantages Theater this week, even including the sketch presented by Dudley Ayres and Company, which under the title of "Chums" headlines the bill. This is pleasant farce-comedy, genially played by Mr. Ayres, with Virginia Thornton, Emmet Vogan and Winona Wilson in the support. The plot deals lightly with a domestic theme, neatly complicated, and the lines brought a continual ripple of laughs from the audience.

Nut stuff of the slapstick type is breezily purveyed by Dobbs, Clarke and Dare. Their specialty, "Vaudeville Remnants," is. But some of their handsprings stop the show.

The high-art standard is upheld by the Alexandria Opera Company, who sing familiar numbers from "Il Trovatore," "Rigoletto" etc. with more or less harmony, and Dorothy Nielson, the Norwegian violinist, who plays rather charmingly, with Otis Francis accompanying.

Jack Hedley and Company in "Moonlight" and Arthur Renzetti and Ethel Gray in "When Help Needs Help" provide entertainment.

"Loyal Lives," the photoplay, is a human interest story, telling of the fortunes and misfortunes of a family whose father and son are employed in the postal service. The climax is a thrill, and Brandon Tynan, Mary Carr and Willie Collier, Jr., share principal honors in the acting, with Faire Binney playing the girl.

[Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing Los Angeles Times Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and inclose 2 cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.]

Question: Has a United States mail truck the right of way over other vehicles? L. B. P.

Answer: The Postoffice Department says that a United States mail truck is subject to the local traffic regulations of the city in question.

Q.: How many packing processes does cotton go through and to what density is it compressed? W. W. S.

A.: Usually two packing processes are employed, but in a few cases only one is used. Ordinarily the cotton is first put through the cotton baling press at the gin; this packs the bale to a density of about twelve to fourteen pounds per cubic foot. It is then sent to the railroad compress where it is compressed to a density of about twenty-eight to thirty-three pounds per cubic foot. It is then ready for railroad shipment or export. Sometimes a special compress is used in connection with the baling process, with which the cotton is packed at the gin to a density of about thirty to thirty-two pounds per cubic foot. No further compression is required even for export.

Q.: Will turtles eat in the winter? J. J. J.

A.: The Bureau of Fisheries says that if turtles are kept in a warm place they will eat during the winter; but if placed in a cellar in a box of mud, they will sleep all winter and need no food.

Q.: Who was Martin Marprelate? N. L.

A.: Martin Marprelate was the name under which a number of tracts were published in England—1588-89. They were directed against what the writer conceived to be abuses in church and state, and against certain bishops in particular. The publisher and chief instigator was John Penry or Ap-Henry, a Puritan preacher. Great efforts were made to discover and apprehend the authors. Finally Penry was executed in 1593.

Q.: When and where was the first asphalt road laid in this country? G. W. T.

A.: The American Highway Engineers' Handbook says that the asphalt road which was built in 1870 in front of the City Hall, Newark, N. J., might easily be called the first asphalt road. However, asphalt is a developed type of pavement and in 1867 one of the earliest roads was built with a tar binder which was the beginning of the type now called asphalt. This road was built at Prospect Park, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Q.: What is a holystone? W. A. M.

A.: A holystone is a piece of soft stone, usually sandstone, used in scrubbing decks. To holystone a deck is to scrub it, using holystones. These are smooth on one side at least and have a small depression on the other to receive the end of a handle or stick by which they are pushed back and forth. To increase the scrubbing power of the stones, the decks are wetted and sand is sprinkled over them prior to holystoning. The derivation of the term is supposed to be from the fact that holystoning used chiefly to be done on Saturday as a preparation for Sunday inspection, church, etc.

Q.: How many books are there in the great library in Paris? W. S. H.

A.: The Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris is the most extensive library in the world, having over 5,000,000 volumes. This is one of the oldest of the still existing libraries, having been founded in 1368.

Q.: How long is the summer day in Sweden? A. S.

A.: The Naval Observatory says at the northernmost point in Sweden, the sun does not set between May 23 and July 23; or in a period of two months.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES

When East Comes West

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31. [To the Editor of The Times:] Three months ago I came to California, to find out whether the glowing reports which reached us in Washington, D. C., were true or not. If these were true, a number of Washingtonians, perhaps twenty or more, decided that we would spend part of our time in this city. I was requested to let the others know through the pages of The Times what special advantages Southern California possessed and what parts of this city were most favored.

After a most delightful time, spent in visiting the places of greatest interest, I declare, most heartily, that the reports of this region, which reached us in the East, were only faint echoes of Nature's grand and joyous charms here.

Southern California is a revelation to me. If one might order a climate to suit him, how could he improve on this? All the features of natural beauty, hills, vales, ocean, flowers, fruits, wide plains and deep, cool canyons, are here, not for a season, but all the time.

California is a vast garden, planned on a scale so grand and combining vivid beauty with rugged picturesqueness in so startling a manner, that here, one rests content, wondering at the lavishness of Nature and growing, subconsciously, in tune with all her varied loveliness.

As to the most favored part of this region, of course, Los Angeles, the miracle city, is the center of interest. The beaches are all lovely. I like Long Beach immensely, but when I go out to Santa Monica and view the ocean from the Palisade gardens, I find there, an added charm.

The place which surprised me most of all is Brentwood. Do you know that here, close to the city, and only five minutes from the beach, tropical fruits grow to perfection? The delicious papaya and the passion fruit grow here.

I do not know of any other place where one can find them, nearer than the tropics. Of course, we need not have tropical fruits; one can live without them; but what impresses me, is that the extraordinary combination of atmospheric qualities which make this kind of growth possible, must have rare energy-imparting power. This fact proves that a unique condition exists here. There must be, surely, a greater energy-inspiring, growth-inciting, life-awakening power here, than elsewhere, even in California. The rare combination of dry winds from the canyons with the ozone-laden, but fogless ocean air, may account for it.

Whatever the cause may be, I breathe more freely here.

In Brentwood, we met Mr. R. P. Shea, member of a well-known Washington family. Mr. Shea has, in Brentwood a most beautiful estate. If you Washington people could spend one summer day in his lovely sunken garden, breathing the invigorating air, where the ocean breezes mingle with the mountain zephyrs, where the music of the cataract plays an accompaniment for all the joyous chorus of the tree tops, and the distant mountains rise, majestic, range by range, mysteriously beautiful in their trailing robes of grey and purple haze, you would realize that the strong appeal of California is its power over the mind and heart.

I cannot describe the beauty of this spot. To understand it, you must see and feel what one experiences here.

The marvel is, that there should still be room for more people. One would think that all the world would come in eager haste to dwell where the forces of nature are strong, not to destroy, but to save mankind.

ADELAIDE KNIGHT.

La Fayette Hotel, Washington, D. C.

For a Good Cause

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The thousands of music lovers who attended the symphony concerts at the Hollywood Bowl last year naturally hoped that these entertainments would become a permanent feature in Los Angeles. The increased attendance this year has dispelled all doubts regarding the demand for this phase of the cultural development of this city and the Southland. Many improvements have recently been added but much remains to be done. The Chamber of Commerce and the Realty Board have great opportunity for publicity in referring to these summer season concerts, given in the open air under the light of the stars.

Additional funds are needed for the beautification of the Bowl and the comfort of the people who gather there. The present entrance to the Bowl is required exclusively for automobiles and there is a growing demand for another entrance for pedestrians, which could be supplied by a tunnel from Odin street. A recent survey shows that such entrance is practical and that the cost would not be prohibitive. This tunnel plan would not only add to the convenience of entrance and exit but would enable a more rapid exit—an important item for those who live distant from the Bowl.

The Bowl itself should be beautified by the planting of more shrubs and trees indigenous to this section. The installation of fountains and searchlights would also add to the charm of the place. A casino at which meals could be served before and after the concert would prove another valuable attraction. I am sure the Bowl committee would appreciate checks, however small, that would help add to the attractiveness of this already most attractive spot in the community.

ALVIN M. WEST.

Why Discriminate?

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have no particular love for Japs, but it seems to me that there is something rotten in Denmark back of the continual fight made against them by the Record and the Examiner. Those two sheets don't rail against several other kinds of foreigners who are below the Japs as desirable citizens. Frankly, I don't think either sheet, anyway, is much interested in good citizenship. Japs are producers, and that is more than can be said of many of the people sicking those two money-mad sheets on. Why not turn their guns on a few million of their foreign friends who never become Americans? Everybody knows that the Japs haven't grown rich corrupting private, business, political, and social life like another foreign race those sheets toady to.

Of course Japs shouldn't overrun our country, but why let others overrun and swamp and corrupt things and keep mum about it? If given plenty of rope hypocrisy will unmask and hogtie itself.

JOHN SEE.

Natures Weapon

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30—[To the Editor of The Times:] A woman's scream is her best weapon. The example of the two Hollywood ladies, who routed an intruder by screaming, and thereby enlisting their neighbors in their defense, is worthy of more than passing mention. Dreadful disasters in this city to girls and women might have been prevented if the victims had promtply and vigorously used their vocal alarm with which the Creator endowed them. The wonderful completeness of the Bible as a directory for conduct at all times and in all emergencies, is illustrated in the instructions for self-protection recorded in Deuteronomy 22:24.

DISAPPEARANCE LAID TO ATTACK

Evelyn Eisenauer

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Sept. 3.—No trace of Evelyn Eisenauer, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Eisenauer, 374 North Fair Oaks avenue, who disappeared from her home early Sunday morning after being attacked by a Mexican a few nights before, could be found today.

It was late Tuesday evening near Johnson's Lake that the assault took place. Robert Moline, 20 years of age, is being held by the police as the girl's attacker. Moline lives at 177 Annandale avenue.

Supplied with two extra dresses, two pairs of shoes and $1.50, the girl, believed by her parents to be distressed and mortified by the assault, left home. Southern California police are aiding in the search.

The prisoner, police declare, met the girl at Brookside Park and induced her to enter his machine. He later drove to a desolate spot near the lake where the attack occurred.

The girl was described as weighing 108 pounds, is five feet, three inches tall and has dark auburn hair and blue eyes.

MOTHER BELIEVES SON WAS MURDERED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
FRESNO, Sept. 3.—Mrs. Minnie C. Carson of Los Angeles today told police that she believed her son, T. D. Carson, killed by a revolver shot here Saturday night, was murdered. Officers believe he was killed by the accidental discharge of the weapon while he was cleaning it. He was found dying in bed in his room at 2336 Kern street. Mrs. Carson, her two daughters and Carson's uncle, R. A. Burke of Pomona, arrived here yesterday. They advanced nothing to support a murder theory, except an apparent absence of motive for suicide.

ANGELENO DEAD ON HUNTING TRIP

Joe Popevif Succumbs to Bullet Wound

Tragedy Laid to Mistake of Another Nimrod

Wife Had Implored Mate to Remain at Camp

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
SANTA PAULA, Sept. 3.—With his rifle with which he had been hunting in the Sulfur Mountain hills at his side, loaded and on safety catch, Joe Popevif of 390 Moneta avenue, Los Angeles, was found dead this morning near the top of Sulfur Mountain, six miles from here, shot through the neck.

Popevif, with his wife and three children, had come to the hills on a hunting and camping trip for the Labor Day week-end. The family is Russian and the wife with Slavonic superstition has been interviewing fortune tellers lately, all of which she says have predicted an impending fate for her husband.

Popevif went out yesterday afternoon with his rifle in spite of the fervent protestations of his wife. He did not return last night and when he failed to appear this morning the alarm was given.

Men from the Pan-American oil lease started the search under the leadership of Herbert Phelps, forest ranger. A call for a posse was sent to Santa Paula and several men quickly formed a party to join the search, but before they could reach Sulfur Mountain Springs at the foot of the mountain the news came that the man had been found dead. The body was found by Merrill McFadden of the Pan-American Petroleum Company.

The rifle was in such a position loaded and on safety catch that suicide was impossible. The fatal mistake of some other hunter is blamed for the tragedy. Sheriff Clark and Coroner Reardon hurried from Ventura to take charge of the body.

Emory Chow, 12 Kearney Boulevard, reported his house was entered by thieves, but nothing was taken.

John Dunn, 843 Tulare street, is at the County General Hospital suffering from concussion of the brain and a possible fracture of the skull, the result of an automobile collision last night. His car crashed with one driven by four Japanese on the State highway, near here. The Japanese were questioned by the Sheriff and released.

FORGIVES HUSBAND

Wife Pleads That Statutory Charge be Dismissed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
POMONA, Sept. 3. — Declaring that never before had he been unfaithful to her, and stating that he had always been a good husband and father, Mrs. J. L. Stacy of Long Beach, in a letter to Chief of Police Lyter today, pleaded for the dismissal of the case against her husband, who is now in the Los Angeles County Jail pending preliminary hearing on a statutory charge following his arrest at a local rooming-house with Hazel Wilson, 18 years of age, of Yorba Linda, several days ago. Mrs. Stacy stated that she and Stacy were married in August, 1921, and have lived happily together.

She says she has visited her husband in jail and he has begged her to forgive him and to give him another chance for the sake of their year-old baby. At his arraignment here Stacy was committed to the County Jail in lieu of $1000 bail. The girl was taken to the psychopathic ward at the County Hospital for observation. Preliminary hearing of the couple will be held before Judge White in the local court Friday morning.

Makes Short Work of Walkout

Lilian Rice,
Who led volunteer girl strikebreakers

MAKE QUICK END OF STRIKE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
DEL MAR, Sept. 3.—Miss Lillian Rice of San Diego deserves a prize for versatility. She can draw pictures, boss building construction, plan flower gardens, drive a truck or operate a steam shovel, and do all those things well enough to earn good pay. She has just gained new laurels here by organizing a volunteer corps of girl truck drivers and making a bunch of striking truck drivers so ashamed of themselves that they quickly returned to work.

Miss Rice is resident architectural designer at Rancho Santa Fe, "the most perfectly planned land project in the world." Every visitor to the guest house on this project exclaims in admiration at the uniqueness of specially designed draperies and furnishings in every room. People planning handsome country homes consult her. The Spanish garden which transforms the garage in the civic center into a place of artistic beauty was her idea. She is familiar with every bit of construction work in the twenty square miles of the project.

The other day trucks hauling materials to the concrete camp were ordered to detour while a road they were using was surfaced. The drivers declared the detour road impracticable for heavily loaded trucks. A strike resulted, which threatened to completely tie up the concrete camp, with pipe needed at once for the irrigation of 5000 acres of avocados and citrus fruits.

While a hasty, but ineffectual conference was going on in the office of L. G. Sinnard, manager of the project, Miss Rice called a confidential conference of the girl employees who could drive cars. They disappeared with giggles, but soon came back in hiking togs, looking serious.

When Miss Rice, in boyish attire, climbed into the largest of the trucks and started away with it, followed by three other trucks driven by girls, the concrete workers laughed. But all day the girls drove over the road the strikers had declared impracticable—and even a striking truck driver couldn't argue after that. The strike lasted just five hours.

WOMAN IS VICTIM OF BRUTAL ASSAULT

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Sept. 3.—With her sick baby cuddled in her arms while rushing to a drug store, Mrs. Pauline Ramirez, 27 years of age, was brutally beaten by an unidentified person at an early hour this morning. Following the assault the woman was rushed to the emergency hospital where she was treated for cuts over her eyes and both lips. Today a warrant for the arrest of her husband was issued by the local police. Mrs. Ramirez, who has not lived with her husband for a number of years, resides at 1439 Forest avenue. Residents near where the attack took place called the police. When officers arrived the injured woman and child were found lying in the street but their assailant had made good his escape. Police are searching for the husband today.

DYSPEPTIC ARGUMENT

Two dyspeptic persons were discussing the diet that had made them what they were.

"You ought to eat more eggs," said one. "Eggs are the most nutritious food you can get. The egg is what becomes the chicken, and in addition it supplies the chicken's food up to the time it is hatched."

"I dunno," observed the other sourly. "Did you ever see a fresh-hatched chicken that looked strong and rugged and capable of a hard day's work?"—[Exchange.

Bumblebee Causes Collision

A bumblebee caused a collision at Taunton, Mass., when it stung Henry Styree, who was driving a car. Styree lost control of his auto which crashed into another machine.—[Exchange.

Green Grapes Kill Boy; Girl Also May Die

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Sept. 3.—With one child already dead, parents and physicians at the Pasadena Hospital are using every effort to save the life of Madeline Des Jardins, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene J. Des Jardins, 121 South Vermont avenue. She is seriously ill as a result of eating green grapes. Eugene, 2½-year-old brother, died from the same cause.

According to the parents, the children ate the grapes found on a vine in the rear of the Des Jardins home.

A physician was called and the children taken to the Pasadena Hospital where every known treatment was given.

The little girl is in a very serious condition, but doctors believe she has a slight chance for recovery. Funeral services for Eugene were conducted this afternoon at the chapel of Reynolds and Eberle. Interment was made in Calvary Cemetery.

FIRE PERILS SANTA YNEZ WATERSHED

Lake With Santa Barbara Water Supply in Path of Flames

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 3.—That all the south slope of San Rafael Mountains, on the upper reaches of the Santa Ynez watershed, is virtually doomed by the forest fire which started Friday morning near Los Prieto ranger station, is the belief of fire fighters tonight.

The fire is sweeping over the higher mountain slopes, and for hours has been rapidly carried forward by a stiff wind. All the watershed above Gibraltar Lake, from which Santa Barbara gets its water supply is now in the path of the flames.

Brush alone is being burned. There are no improvements in the section. With the flames taking a northeasterly direction they are being carried from the Santa Ynez River, and lessening the danger of crossing the river and endangering the mountain lodges of wealthy ranchers.

Fifty men are now fighting the fire. Forest Supervisor Chester Jordan of the Santa Barbara Forest Reserve departed this afternoon for the scene of the fire to make a personal survey before ordering more forces out.

HOLIDAY SETS RECORD

Autoists in San Bernardino Hills in Vast Number

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
REDLANDS, Sept. 3. — The greatest number of automobiles handled in the San Bernardino Mountains this year was that for the double holiday ending tonight when all controls coming out of the mountains were filled with machines bound for home after two or three days of mountain life.

The outgoing crowd was spread out somewhat by heavy rains yesterday, rains that drove those unprepared for them out of the hills with camping equipment soaked and their dispositions not a little ruined.

There was but one accident on mountain roads despite the heavy traffic. The automobile of J. W. Fall of this city was crowded from the road near Kill Care and slipped down into a ditch, turning over. Mr. and Mrs. Fall were not injured but the car was badly damaged.

Some of the controls Saturday and coming out today had as many as 150 machines in them. The roads were in fine shape due to heavy rains two weeks ago. Every resort was crowded and all camping sites thickly populated.

GIRL BRIDE SUICIDE TO BE BURIED AT POMONA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
FRESNO, Sept. 3.—The body of Mrs. Jewell May Trinkle, Clovis girl bride, who died Saturday night of a self-inflicted bullet wound, will be buried at Pomona. Mrs. Trinkle, according to witnesses, fired at her husband, Gilbert Trinkle, employee of a laundry, as he was leaving their home after a quarrel, and then turned the gun on herself. She died at a Clovis hospital. Trinkle was questioned at the Sheriff's office and released.

OUT OF HOSPITAL INTO JAIL CELL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
RIVERSIDE, Sept. 3.—George N. Masvedo, West Riverside rancher, who was brought here Saturday from San Bernardino by Jailer George Swanson and locked in the County Jail on a charge of violating the Wright Act, is today at liberty under $500 bail. His case will come to trail early next week.

Masvedo recently was released from the Ramona Hospital at San Bernardino, where he was treated for injuries said to have resulted from the explosion of a still which was located under his hen house. The explosion occurred nearly a month ago. He was dismissed from the hospital a few days ago and subsequently arrested by San Bernardino officers, who held him for the Riverside officers.

GLENDALE, Sept. 3. — Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Franklin of 246 North Central avenue, who were married at Richmond, Mo., September 2, 1873, will celebrate their golden marriage anniversary tomorrow evening with a dinner party at the Egyptian village. HE ADVERTISED IT

Last Saturday evening a small boy came to the front door of his home and yelled to his mother who was standing in the front yard. "Hey, ma! what are you talking about? There ain't a cent in the house." He had evidently been sent to find some money by his mother, and failed to locate it. He yelled it loud enough for everyone around to hear. — [Capper's Weekly.

ALHAMBRA HAS BRIGHT FUTURE

Growing Generation Proves Almost Perfect

Two Hundred Babies Are Given High Score

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]
ALHAMBRA, Sept. 3.—If the high physical and mental standard of local babies is any criterion, the future of Alhambra is perfectly safe, judging from the almost perfect scores made by dozens of little tots at the baby show which was held in connection with the Business Men's Carnival.

A remarkable record was made in the contest which closed last night when the awards were announced. There were entered in the event 200 babies, from six months to 2½ years of age, and more than 250 babies were examined. Of the 200 babies eligible to compete in the show, only ten scored less than 90 per cent and only twenty-three less than 95 per cent. Of the 250 examined only four had foreign born parents. There were twenty-five babies in addition to the four highest who scored 93½ per cent or better.

ARE AWARDED CUPS

Silver cups were given to the most perfect boy and girl, and suitable prizes to the two next in standing, the presentation being made by Miss Aileen Crown, the Queen of the Carnival.

Robert Borden, eight and a half months of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Borden, 607 North Electric avenue, was judged the most perfect boy, and also received the highest score, 99 7-10 per cent. The best baby girl was Winifred Eleanor Brown, eleven and a half months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brown of 16 North First street, with a score of 99 4-10 per cent.

SECOND PRIZE WINNERS

The second highest score for boys was made by Russell Allen Cooper, Jr., six-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Cooper, 200 Grand avenue, with a mark of 99 4-10 per cent. The second girl was Jean Ellen Bachle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bachle, 309 West Alhambra avenue, with a score of 99 3-10 per cent.

The committee in charge of the event, of which Mrs. A. A. Watson was chairman, had the co-operation of the Alhambra Hospital staff and Dr. Newell Jones, baby specialist, in conducting the affair. The most modern and thorough methods were used in examining and scoring the babies, and free advice and instructions were given the mothers in each case where needed.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Breaking of a tailshaft on a recent trial trip has necessitated postponement of the sailing of the steamer Jacob Luckenbach from New York for the Pacific Coast in the intercoastal trade, it was announced here. The vessel, formerly the steamer Honolulu, was purchased from the government by the Luckenbach Steamship Company.

The steamer Mahukona on its arrival here from Honolulu today brought several samples of lava which recently flowed from the volcano Kilauea. The samples will be placed on exhibition in the Matson Steamship Company's offices. The ship's cargo included 50,550 bags of sugar. The Matson company announced that its steamer Manukai will leave here September 12 for Seattle, taking the triangle run of the steamer Manulani.

Taxes collected during August from vessels arriving direct from foreign ports were greater than those of the previous month, Collector of Customs Hamilton announced. Fifty-one foreign ships arrived with an aggregate tonnage of 104,471 tons and paid taxes totaling $7663.

The Ocean Fruit Express Company of San Francisco, the General Steamship Company, and the Associated Terminals are reported to be negotiating for the purchase from the government of five Army transports built during the war but never placed in service. The company's plan to remodel the vessels and place them in the fruit and vegetable carrying service from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic Coast and possibly to European ports.

VICTORIA, Sept. 3.—The Protesilaus, which docked here today from Hong Kong and Yokohama, reported an uneventful voyage.

ANACORTES, Sept. 3.—The Andrea F. Luckenbach, which sailed today for San Francisco to complete cargo for the Atlantic Coast, took 750,000 feet of lumber and 12,840 cases of salmon from Anacortes.

The City of Angels after tomorrow will be taken off the ferry run from here to Victoria, and turned back to the Puget Sound Navigation Company, while the Mt. Vernon will remain on the route until spring. The Anacortes-Victoria Ferry Company, which has been operating these two boats, is expected to build a boat this winter for the run.

The Steamship A. F. Luckenbach left here today for San Francisco.

BELLINGHAM, Sept. 3.—Holiday arrivals of vessels here numbered two, the Adelaide from Victoria with excursionists and the Salano from Los Angeles to load cross-ties.

PORTLAND, Sept. 3.—A shipment of 76,000 cases of canned pineapple was an item in the cargo of the steamer Makaweli, which arrived here today from the islands. The shipment is for distribution as far east as Nebraska.

On account of the holiday, about 350 longshoremen were at work on the docks and vessels here today at overtime rates. Necessity of prompt dispatch for six vessels being loaded or discharged caused the unwonted holiday scene.

The General Petroleum Company's steamer Tejon, until recently the City of Reno, arrived here on her first visit to this port today. Capt. William Sorensen brought the vessel here.

TACOMA, Sept. 3.—Labor Day proved a quiet one along Tacoma's water front, only two vessels making port and none departing.

The two vessels which arrived were the Antioch and the Mogul, both of the Griffin & Sen Line. The former brought 1500 tons of ore for the smelter, and the Mogul brought 2600 tons, all from Britannia Beach, B. C.

SEATTLE, Sept. 3.—The Eastern Knight, which arrived tonight from New York and intermediate ports with 100 tons of general merchandise for discharge here, is to shift to Tacoma and other Puget Sound ports to load for return to the Atlantic.

The Protesilaus of the Blue Funnel Line arrived from the Orient tonight with more than 2800 bales of silk in her cargo.

ASTORIA, Sept. 3.—The Norwegian steamer Storviken, with flour from Astoria and Portland, sailed last night for the Orient and Australia.

The Norwegian steamer Romus, with 200,000 feet of lumber from Astoria and general freight from Portland, sailed this morning for Antofagasta.

The steam schooner George L. Olsen arrived this morning from San Francisco and went to Westport to load lumber.

SHIPPING AGENTS FOOL IMMIGRANTS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 3.—Buenos Aires has become a crossroads station for immigrants from all parts of the world seeking entrance to the United States. The police have been called several times recently to keep order among hundreds of men, women and children overflowing the shipping offices and the American Consulate, standing in long lines in the street fighting for entrance.

Shipping agents in several European countries are shipping human freight to Buenos Aires, making them believe they can reach the United States from here without further difficulty. One Russian woman with several children was stranded here after buying a ticket to Buenos Aires on representation that she could reach New York by train in three hours from Buenos Aires. Shipping agents in Russia and other countries collect a commission on each ticket thus sold.

The Italian government has ordered the Consulate here not to vise passports for Italians desiring to go to the United States until they have been here five years. This measure was taken to prevent Italian immigrants in South America from exhausting the Italian quota to the detriment of persons desiring to sail direct from Italy.

NEAR EAST RELIEF DEMANDS PROTEST

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ATHENS, Sept. 3. — The Near East Relief in Greece today telegraphed the New York headquarters protesting against the death of fifteen refugees, including women and children, during the bombardment of Corfu, demanding that the American government make representations to Italy in the interests of American humanitarian work in the Near East, which is endangered by further Italian agressions.

DUBLIN RAIL STATION AND PRISON ATTACKED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUBLIN, Sept. 3.—The Amiens street railway station, the Central Telegraph office in Amiens street and the Mountjoy prison were attacked during the night. The guards successfully repelled the attacking party, which withdrew after an exchange of shots lasting forty minutes. No casualties are reported.

SCHOOL SEEN AS BEST DRUG CURE

Capt. Hobson Says Education Most Effective Remedy

Addicts Held Incurable by Association Officer

Warns That Brain Cells Can't be Restored

Education, especially for the young, is the permanent remedy for the narcotic evil, in the opinion of Capt. Richmond P. Hobson, president of the International Narcotic Education Association.

"If we can impress on the young people of the nation the menace of drug addiction," Capt. Hobson said, "we will save our country and, in saving it, save humanity.

"No normal person will associate with a leper or a viper, and narcotic addiction is as incurable as leprosy or cancer. If we can make the people of our country, and especially its youth, believe that the effects of morphine, heroin and cocaine are as deadly as if they were distilled from the venom of a viper we will rid the world of this menace forever.

NOT A CRUSADE

"The International Narcotic Education Association is not a crusade," Capt. Hobson said. "It is an institution."

By this remark Capt. Hobson pointed out one of the differences between the organization which he heads and the American Narcotic Crusade, headed by Angela C. Kaufman. The two organizations are not associated.

"We have no plan for the reclamation or the salvage of narcotic addicts," Capt. Hobson asserted. "Addiction we believe to be incurable. Our research department has found that not one in 100 addicts who take hospital treatment are permanently cured."

There is a scientific explanation for the fact that so-called cured addicts fail to remain cured, Capt. Hobson points out. The use of narcotics leads to the destruction of certain brain cells, physicians have discovered, and, once destroyed, these cells cannot be replaced.

It is these cells that make the difference between the brute and the man, scientist assert, and with the cells destroyed the man becomes antisocial and a menace to humanity.

"With addicts beyond redemption and the secretive methods in the drug traffic defying legal control," Capt. Hobson continued, "our only hope for a permanent remedy lies in education."

TRUTH IS SOUGHT

The International Narcotic Education Association is taking no part in the making or enforcing of laws or in the salvage of addicts. It undertakes to get the truth about narcotic drugs through the best channels of research and experimentation. It has organized research activities in Europe, America and Asia and now has the co-operation of leading universities on these continents. It has this truth prepared by the best educational experts and its bulletins are used as reference manuals in schools and as guides to teachers in instructing.

Since incorporation the association has built up a Citizens Committee on Narcotic Education in Los Angeles of about 100 members, representing the leadership of important groups and organizations. Under auspices of this committee the association conducted in May a narcotic Education Week in the schools of Los Angeles and adjacent cities, reaching children whose enrollment totalled more than 175,000.

At present the association which Capt. Hobson heads is preparing a method whereby the truth of its investigations concerning the narcotic menace is to be conveyed to 7000 superintendents of public schools in the United States. Through these superintendents it is expected to reach the 24,000,000 school children and it is believed that it will be possible to institute a narcotic education week for each month of the school year.

NOT AFTER MEMBERS

The International Narcotic Education Association is making no effort to obtain additional members at this time.

"The agencies of organized society as they already exist are sufficient for the present in carrying these truths," Capt. Hobson said.

"Shortly these agencies are to be drafted for an effort we are to make to put in every home in America our pamphlets concerning the narcotic curse."

The following is the Los Angeles Citizens' Committee on Narcotic Education:

REAL VAMPING IS CHARGED NOW

Nita Naldi Named in Divorce Suit

[P. & A. Photo]

Nita Naldi

AND here is naughty Nita Naldi! Naughty on the screen, at least, where she appears as one of the slinkiest vampires who ever slithered into a close-up.

Her name, says a New York dispatch, has been mentioned in connection with the rift in the domestic lute of J. Sarle Barclay, millionaire New York sportsman. Mrs. Barclay before her quiet marriage in 1907 was the well-known Mrs. Isabel Hunnewell Harriman.

Miss Naldi and Mr. Barclay have been friends for the last five years, before the days of the actress's screen success, when she was a chorine in a Broadway revue.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ATHENS, Sept. 3.—Authorities at Janina telegraphed the Greek government today that the Italians were proceeding to debark troops at Santi Quaranta, on the mainland of Epirus.

The seriousness of this report, if true, cannot be exaggerated, according to Greek officials. There is no further information or confirmation of the report but Athens is thoroughly alarmed.

It is reported that the first British warship arrived at Corfu this morning.

CYCLIST IS RECOVERING

Pomona Man Injured When Hit by Auto, May Get Well

George Ware, 820 East Holt street, Pomona, who was seriously injured Sunday when his motorcycle was run down by an automobile, may recover, it was stated yesterday at the Los Angeles General Hospital.

In a report to the Sheriff's office it was said that H. Hamner, 889 Clark street, Sherman, swerved his car to avoid striking a dog and crashed into Ware's motorcycle. Ware suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and several broken ribs and it was also feared he might have a skull fracture. He was reported, however, as on the way to recovery.

"BUTCHER" IS COMING FROM SPAIN

Gen. Weyler to Study American Army Methods and Organization

BY RAYMOND FENDRICK

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MADRID, Sept. 3.—Gen. Weyler, who organized the Cuban concentration camp in 1897, is plantning to visit America after his Moroccan campaign. "The A. E. F. in France and the German army before the war were the two best armies of my time," declared the 84-year-old soldier. "I want to find out first hand how that marvelous American army was organized, trained and equipped in such a short time."

Gen. Weyler prides himself on his threadbare, patched spotted uniform. He is so feeble he must be lifted to his horse. Cartoons always show his horse as well as himself covered with patches and decrepit with age. He is a catalan from the Island of Majorca, is 4 feet, six inches tall, his mind sharp as a whip, his voice deep, and his long sidewhiskers almost crackle like lighting when he is angered. He is in command of the Spanish army today, and has the complete confidence of King Alfonso, the army, and people.

The Origin of the Mustache

It is Spain that is credited with the origin of the mustache. At a period after the Moorish invasion, when the Christian and Moslem populations became so mixed that it was hard to say which were Moors and which were Spaniards, the pious Spaniards hit upon the mustache as a means of identification. They permitted the hair on the upper lip to grow, and also a tuft on the upper lip, an outline of the cross being thus formed.

SECURITY MART IS OPTIMISTIC

Some Window Dressing Seen for New Financing

Firming Price Tendency is Evidenced in Trade

Dividend Talk Reflects the Commodity Situation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Optimism is once more replacing the blue feeling which Wall street has had of late, but the process is somewhat slow, although in this respect it is considered of far greater importance that the transition be accomplished on a permanent basis rather than a more abrupt change which might prove but temporary. Business straws are beginning to blow right again, and these are finding reflection in the securities markets, wherein an increasing interest is shown, although actual participation still is at low ebb.

For the immediate future the outlook for stock values appears better than for some time, as Wall street is counting upon past performances to repeat in that "window dressing" may be considered in sight as a forerunner to large financing, all of a governmental character. Acceptance of a syndicate bid of $60,000,000 bonds is to be followed by an offering here of a large block of Argentine bonds, while negotiations now are said to be going on between the Brazilian government and the American bankers for the floating of a loan of at least $25,000,000. Thus bond men have before them the proximity of close to $500,000,000 new securities; and if precedent counts, the stock market is to pave the way for their successful sale to investors.

A firming tendency to prices is being evidenced in trade, and increased buying also is revealed in bookings. A sign of stability is indicated in absence of competitive bidding up of labor, in which there still is heard an occasional word of shortage. Record figures for the automobile industry are expected to continue. The oil industry still is unsettled, but there is good banking opinion that the worst has been seen and improvement now must follow. The price trend in western territory already has begun to react favorably for the producers.

There can be no reference to the business and financial future of the country without mention of Europe, for the Ruhr still is occupying world-wide attention. Yet Wall street is letting no more than occasional foreign sentiment affect stock price action, as domestic developments, such as the threatened coal strike, are of sufficient importance for the more than relatively few bankers to have their minds diverted by happenings abroad.

The big shrinkage in brokerage loans continues to tell a mute story of the comparatively small demand for funds in Wall street, and, furthermore, would seem to indicate a freedom of money available for crop moving at harvest time. A new era is indicated in Wall street's granting a big loan to cotton growers and bankers believe, now that the ball has started rolling in the right direction, that other rural communities may be expected to come to what they long have considered an archenemy for assistance when and if needed.

A traffic rate war is seen by Wall street as a result of the flood of applications to the Interstate Commerce Commission, in which a number of railroads are seeking to lower their tariffs on coast-to-coast business. Railroad executives long have known and have so informed their intimates of the seriousness of competition afforded by the Panama Canal, but it is only within recent months that Wall street as a whole has awakened to this situation.

Dividend talk, one way or another, is rampant, and against the rather dubious outlook for some of the oil shares there is the more optimistic sentiment held out toward industrials in which increases or resumptions are anticipated. Among the more certain of the latter grouping may be cited National Biscuit and American Can, similarly dominated, and at whose helm, invisible though it be, is one of the street's acknowledged leaders. Republic Iron and Steel common is thought to be near enough resumption for comment, as but $8 of the accumulation remains to be paid on the preferred stock, which, bankers aver, may be due in Noverber. This leaves the junior issue free for dividend consideration at that time.

There is scarcely an oil stock on the list which is not suspected of being in line for dividend reduction or omission. Sinclair common dividend is thought to be in danger, yet officials point out the financial strength in a surplus item said to approximate $25,000,000. On the other hand, the street reasons that the company's 8 per ment preferred stock is far too low at a price yielding 10 per cent on the investment. The Standard group is mentioned as likely to make known new financing plans in the not distant future, but the conservatism of the management may carry these concerns through the present crisis of the industry without resort to new financing.

Steel manufacturing operations are slower than a week ago, and from reports sifting into banking offices further let down is not likely before demand requires more facilities be utilized. The eight-hour shifts are rapidly being put into effect, but it will require some three months at least before the Steel Corporation will know just how much costs of manufacture are affected. It is not unreasonable, therefore, to expect higher steel prices before the end of the year, as these extra charges, due to elimination of the twelve-hour day, Wall street believes are to be passed along to the consumer.

Less is heard of what dollar wheat means to the West as against what seemed in the East to be propaganda for the farmers. Statistics soon proved that the welfare of the nation is not entirely dependent on that crop. Cotton is in a strong statistical position, say experts in that commodity, and once more Wall street is being treated to predictions of 30 cents a pound before Christmas.

FALL ACTIVITY TRADE MOTIF

Business Preparing for Era of Renewed Prosperity

October Generally the Best Month of Year

Commercial Factors Indicate Definite Stabilization

BY ARTHUR D. WELTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—In the matter of manufacturing output October is the best all-around month in the year. It is in that month that the total output of manufactured goods reaches its peak. Basic materials reach a point about as high as in March and May, pig-iron production is only a little less than in those two months, and consumption of goods registers the greatest volume.

To reach the high point that works seasonal variation there must be preparation and advance work. The pick-up, according to all obtainable information, has begun. Lagging confidence and flagging interest have undergone reversals.

A chart showing the curves of speculation, money rates and business brought the lines near coincidence early in August. Those curves have not traveled the same courses at the same speed or with the variations similarly timed, but they have reached approximately the same destination. They have not been so close together since early in 1920.

This coincidence of the curves has no significance except to show that stock-market quotations are low in relation to money rates and the volume of business. If business is in the condition the statistical information indicates the market recently was out of position.

There is a definite indication of both the stabilization of commodity prices and of business activity. There are some uncertainties and, in this seasonally dull period, some conflicting testimony, but the evidence of stability is strong enough to outweigh everything else.

RAILROAD EFFICIENCY

Perhaps the railroads have been instrumental in checking the continued rise of commodity prices. It is an outcropping of railroad efficiency that is likely to pass unnoticed. It is well enough known that railroad inefficiency and consequent freight congestion cause fear of delayed arrival of goods and therefore duplication of orders. There have been times when the latter was the great cause of increased prices and the uncertainties that accompany unstable prices.

So far as they have been instrumental in preventing this form of unsettlement the railroads have contributed to good order in business, even if their prompt deliveries have caused curtailment of output in same cases and price cutting in others. The interesting point is that inadequate transportation facilities have not interposed any artificial barriers to orderly business progress. So far as the railroads are concerned reduced output and lowered prices were of their making only, because they are meeting all demands on them. There will be no corresponding glut later. It is a negative situation in this respect, but not the less actual.

Business is coming out of its summer decline, but there are lines of trade that has dull periods at other seasons. It is to be remembered, for instance, that pig-iron production is usually at its high point in spring and has a high level thereafter only in October, that cotton textiles drop from May to a low level in September, increase a little, and then decline in November and December. But October always is relatively a month of activity and this business cycle may reach a point then which will determine its future continuation and, perhaps, duration.

STOCK MARKET

The stock market is showing a disposition to get in step with its fellow barometers. For nearly three months it has been off in the corner doing penance, but lately it has been getting sociable and renewing acquaintance with old friends. It apparently is convalescing from a bad attack of psychology. The stock market is a mass movement, and it has many idiosyncrasies. The idea that political economy has some kind of an admixture of psychology is comparatively new. It isn't going to change, either, to find out it is mixed up with the other, but it may change the method of considering them both.

It would be a real contribution if the psychologists would turn their attention to the problem of wheat acreage for next year. It is already announced that the farmers are going to reduce it 15 per cent, but the experts think that they should make a reduction of 20 per cent. Some bugs and a visitation of rust cut the wheat crop in two, but these are chance affairs. Good growing weather might produce more wheat from 15 per cent less acreage or less wheat from 15 per cent more. Acreage is, however, of great importance. The farmer is of greater importance.

If the psychologists get after him they might find that he is a shrewd performer who knows that a reduction in the wheat crop will bring an increase in the wheat price. He may calculate that if he has more wheat at an increased price he will get more money. The advocates of reduced acreage ought to secure a good, tame psychologist and consult him.

Girl Smothers to Death Under Caved-in Sand

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 3. — Jessie Davis, 10 years of age, was smothered to death under two tons of sand at Maspeth, Queens, while Anna Donnelly, another child, 8, was buried under the fall of earth but escaped alive. Anna struggled out of the piled-up stand and told the police to dig for her companion.

The children had gone to play in the sand bank, and were standing under a bank twenty-five feet high. Without warning, the bank caved in and both were buried. Anna, not quite covered, fought her way to the air almost instantly. She managed to get her head free and then dug her way out.
